Hello again! We suppose that we should make some excuse for falling down on the job last week. Well here it is. We had a bad cold and were not in any condition to write a suitable column. At last it looks like the warm weather is here to stay. All over Georgetown one can see the trees pushing forth their tiny leaves and the flowers poking their little green heads up through the warm brown earth. (Sound!) Way out west around Winnipeg it seems that they are having trouble with a surplus of water. It's funny isn't it, one part of the country is complaining they haven't got enough water while another part is complaining because they got too much. Incidentally any of you who have fears of a Hydrogen bomb, here is a little tip we picked up in one of the Toronto papers last night. "DON'T DRINK WATER". For your information H₂O (water) is composed of hydrogen and oxygen. Hydrogen, my boy, hydrogen. Don't drink water unless you happen to become radioactive (if you happen to become radioactive make sure you get tuned into a good station) or you might become a little old H-Bomb all by your little odd (oops we mean old) self.

Old GHS finally had a dance of merit worth mentioning on Friday. The hall at Stewarttown began to show signs of activity at nine o'clock when the first bus disgorged its load of passengers. Things picked up more at ten o'clock however, because that's when we arrived. (ahem.) The orchestra was hot (one of the trumpets melted) and the crowd was trying to dance on a slightly crowded floor. At eleven the music stopped and everybody queued up (that should really be spelled "queued up") for sandwiches and pop. The sandwiches were excellent, we ought to know because we ate lots of them. Thanks to the fourth form girls who made them. Then around a quarter to one the dance ended, which was too dang soon. The buses loaded up and once again quiet prevailed upon the sleepy vista of Stewarttown. At this point we wish to make a sincere apology to anyone in the vicinity who couldn't get to sleep whilst the dance was on. If you couldn't get to sleep after that, we suggest that you stop drinking so much coffee.

The elimination dance was won by Eleanor Spitzer and Crawford Douglas. The Spot Dance was won by Julia DeVries and Douglas Crawford. (We wrote his name backward this time so people won't think it's the same guy.) By the way, the student council has issued a petition to Crawford to make him give one of the prizes back. Seriously though, we were really glad to see so many students from other schools in attendance and that all the prizes didn't go to local people.

Bag news is upon us, exams, you guessed it. Third and fourth form starts theirs on June first and end somewhere around June ninth, but fifth form, the lucky dogs have a set in between May 22nd and May 31st. Then a final set between June 12th and June 21st. Then FINIS.

LADY BOWLERS' HOLD SECOND ANNUAL BANQUET

Trophies for high team for the season with a score of 101 points and high team in the playoffs with total pinfall of 7508 were awarded to the Meteors at the second annual banquet of the Ladies Afternoon Bowling league which was held in the Legion Hall Monday evening.

Mrs. Herb Hancock had high average of 191, Mrs. Trevor Williams high single of 298 and Pauline Norton high triple of 739. Other prizes awarded went to Mrs. Jack Saunders, most improved bowler; Mrs. George Walker, high single in play offs, 302; and Mrs. Earl Johnston, high triple in playoffs, 757.

Irwin Noble of Georgetown Dairy and Al Norton presented their trophies which they had donated to the league and Mrs. Herb Hancock presented the McClure trophy for Harold McClure who was unable to attend.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Robert Harris to the executive, Mrs. Hancock, Mrs. Cyril Brandford and Mrs. Lovell Puckerling, who were presented with bouquets in appreciation of their work during the season.

Mrs. E. B. Tyers conducted the election of officers for next year, the following being elected:

President—Mrs. Herb Hancock
 Vice Pres.—Mrs. Lewis Tracey
 Secretary—Mrs. Cyril Brandford
 Assistant—Pauline Norton
 Treasurer—Mrs. Lovell Puckerling
