Whoop! Just think you lowes and middle school students (if you can) that youse only have twelve days (excluding the 24th of course) of school left before your are turned loose on the necks of your respective parents or summer bosses (Heaven help them). Pardon us, we shouldn't really sound so gay because we also have the poor fifth formers to think about. These mis-treated souls don't escape until the 21st of June. Well such is life and what we suggest to end it, is suicide. Incidentally the fifth formers are worrying so much about their exams that when we entered their room the other day at noon hour to console and sooth their edgy nerves, we found the whole bunch of them engaged in a game of Russian Roulette. Only one lost, Gray Merriam, which explains the hole in his head. Fiddle! Whilst glancing out the window at a hubba-hubba walking down the street we also became aware of the fact that it was raining outside (where else would it be raining). Averting our eyes from following the pleasant swaying motion down the street we turned to a soaked and extremely damp (which means the same thing) fellow member of the class and said "It's raining." The student having finished wringing out his shirt turned to us and spoke in most restrained terms "Oh No don't tell me!"

In honour of the spring that we have been so long awaiting we have composed a poem. Pardon us, it's not for the spring at all. We're sort of disgusted with her starting that rain business all over again! The poem is in recognition of GHS.

GONE!

In reverence the stately trees
Nod gently in the summer breeze.
Bow to the edifice whose portals
Are closed to all youthful mortals.
When day dies and night is set,
Some see a light burning yet.
High up the wall, a single light
Producing more the forsaken sight.
No joyous shout, no carefree
mouth,
Adorns the halls once gay with youth.

Why are these doors closed and why
Is no life, once plenteous nearby.
We shall answer now the questions
posed,
And solve the mystery of the building closed.
Tis old GHS, forlorn, forgot,
Two months of freedom have the students got.

Hello, Acton! Yes, we uns here have received your kind invitation

Baseball Round-up

(From Behind Third Base)

In addition to the line-up of players which appeared in this column last week, we have Ivan "PeeWee" Huffman who played a few innings in Saturday's game and "Hank" Chaplin. . . . Although Hal Gibson won't be seeing action during the regular season, he has signed on the dotted line, and if he is home from Quebec in time, may prove a valuable addition to the Raiders when playoffs time rolls around. Hal as you know is playing fastball along with Kent Storey in the North Bay loop.

Free admission to boys and girls under 14 proved quite a drawing card on Saturday and helped to swell the opening day crowd. It will be nice to see more paying customers for the next game. A team can't finance on buttons and this year one of the best teams fielded in recent years deserves top support.

Thanks to fifteen local merchants and business firms, the Raiders are equipped in brand new uniforms. Those providing them, each of whom has their firm name stamped on the back of the shirt are: McClure's Home Furnishings, Hutch's Smoke Shop, Brill's, MacCormack's Drugs, Goldham's Meat Market, Silver's, McNally & Lane, Georgetown Plumbing and Heating, Barrager's Cleaners, Bowers Motor Sales, Maple Leaf Dairy, Elmer C. Thompson Insurance Service, B. F. Murfin Sheet Metal Works, Ted Bludd and the Georgetown Herald.

Coach "Fat" Walters made the Fergus pitcher look sick when he stepped to the plate as a pinch hitter and showed that he still had the old magic with the bat. First a long drive over 3rd, then a long drive over 1st, both just in the foul line, and then a short drive to centre field. He was robbed of a sure hit when the Fergus short stop made an acrobatic catch and held the ball as he rolled to the ground.

The grounds committee had the ball field in good shape for opening day. Bases are all new and the diamond was smooth. We're still hoping to see permanent benches for the home and visiting teams before the season gets too far advanced.

to your Cadet Dance on May 29th, nine o'clock in the Arena. It is very nice of you to invite us down here, but we don't think anyone will be going unless you keep Crawford Douglas for us. It Douglas Crawford away and give someone else a chance to win a dance. However we have heard several people say "I'd sure like to go." So maybe the old GHS will have representation, after all.

SILVER'S ADD TWO TO STORE STAFF

Ross Thompson and Jack Whitney have recently joined the staff of Silver's Store. Mr. Thompson formerly operated his own shoe store, selling out this spring to Maher Shoes and Jack who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Whitney Market Street, has been attending Georgetown High School.

NATURE UNSPOILED

YOURS TO PROTECT

The MAGNOLIA WARBLE is known by his bright yellow breast streaked with black, and his black back and wings, with striking white and yellow markings. Feeding on small worms and insects, he is a very beneficial bird, and should be protected. He lives in northern evergreens.
