

Anniversary Marked by Toronto Holstein Breeders

To mark the first anniversary of the formation of the Toronto District Holstein Breeders Club, a twilight barn meeting was held at their fine new barn one mile west of Maple. Six hundred people were present to see the parade of sires, such as Roeland Rag Apple Markman, Glenaston Rag Apple Sterling, Roeland Rag Apple Supreme A, Spring Farm Fond Hope, Bond Haven Rag Apple Matchmaker, ABC Reflection Sovereign and other outstanding bulls.

Roy W. Ormiston, Holstein fieldman discussed the pedigree highlights of each bull as he was led out. George M. Clements, secretary-manager of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada spoke, congratulating the Toronto District club on their fine progress and the type of sires now in use. He introduced three spectators from Mexico who are in Canada purchasing purchased bulls to take to Mexico for artificial breeding purposes.

President Archibald Cameron of Woodbridge welcomed those present and introduced the twelve members of the club to which more will be added in the near future. Dr. C. R. Reeds of Maple, secretary-manager told of club progress. Service is now available in five counties, York, Simcoe, Ontario, Peel, and Halton. The number of active breeders using the club is over 700 with an average of 50 breeders being added each month. Ten technicians are employed, Murray O. Hayward of Milton being in charge in Halton.

Major Lex Mackenzie, Member of Parliament, congratulated the officers on their rapid progress and declared the club barns officially open. W. M. Cockburn, York County agricultural representative, outlined some of the good work artificial units are doing.

J. J. E. McCague, prominent Alliston Holstein breeder was guest speaker and spoke on the many aspects of breeding. He quoted authorities that certain cows should be mated to certain bulls and complimented the Toronto District Club for making available this practice of selective mating to outstanding sires.

Refreshments were served and entertainment provided by comedian Doug Romajne accompanied at the piano by Ivan Specht of King.

ATTENDED FUNERAL AT COLBORNE

Thomas Grieve attended the funeral of his cousin, Mrs. John Ruth-erford at Colborne recently. She was the mother of Capt. C. S. Ruth-erford, V.C. who has often been a visitor here.

Chatting . . .

With M.H.B.

WHEN WE FIRST acquired a car over three years ago, the head of the household being the driver, was even more thrilled than we were. However, we immediately visualized family week end jaunts to the near future . . . but alas, hopes were somewhat dashed when he blithely announced, "O.K. it'll be wonderful to have a car! Now, every Sunday we can go for a little drive and really tour Halton County!" He was only kidding of course, but actually bawled out a good bit of country farther afield, we have taken the opportunity "to tour Halton County" many a Sunday afternoon, and thoroughly enjoyed it.

Last Sunday we did something we have always wanted to do . . . drove to the top of Milton Heights, up that winding mountain road, to the summit, where we stopped and got out of the car, the better to appreciate a superb view of what looked like the whole of Halton County and then some. A wide strip of Lake Ontario was clearly visible and the countryside, stretching for miles, looking fertile and beautiful. Not having yet girdled our courage to the sticking point where we can enter an airplane, we comforted ourselves with the thought that the view from the top of the escarpment must be very like what one would see from the window of an airplane. If you haven't already done so, you should not miss that little drive. To get there, simply keep straight on going, instead of turning to the left to go into Milton, right past the brick yards, and up the steep stretch of red clay road . . . And, if you stick a day when the visibility is good, you will be well rewarded.

MRS. MYRTLE Rogivaldson, proprietress of Duffy's Grill, had a stroke of good fortune last week, when she won a Thor Gladiron in a lucky draw sponsored by the Milton Eye Brigade and Legion. Her husband had bought the ticket, and Mrs. Rogivaldson didn't know about the raffie, until she received the phone call telling her she had won the big prize.

A week ago Saturday, Fred Armstrong, McNab Street, retired from the Alliance Paper Mills, Ltd. Before he left, his fellow employees held a presentation for him at the mill, at which Mr. Armstrong received a mantle radio, ransom lighter and leather wallet, as concrete tokens of their friendship and good wishes.

NOTE THAT THE excavation has been made for Mr. and Mrs. George Muckar's new home on Young Street, beside the house in which they now live . . . On Durham Street, the excavation has been made for Mr. and Mrs. Ken Richardson's house . . . The Duke Burrows have already moved to Fenelon Falls, but Mr. and Mrs. Ross Thompson and family, who have purchased the house formerly tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. Burrows, do not expect to move from their Main Street apartment until July 1st. In the meantime, contractors McNally and Lane are making extensive alterations to the house . . . Mr. and Mrs. Ray Salter have purchased one of the Orr lots on the corner of Maple Avenue and Charles Street.

"YOU DON'T KNOW how a visit from Royalty makes you feel, unless you had lived in Europe in the old days of the Czarist feudal system, said Morris Saxe of the recent visit made him by the former Princess Olga of Russia and her husband. A sister of the late Czar Nicholas II, she and her husband came to Canada two years ago from Denmark, and bought a farm in the Speyside district. Perhaps you will recall reading about her in the Herald at the time they came out here . . . Mr. Saxe served as an N.C.O. in the Russian Army in 1900, in China. His birthplace is Tiflis in the Caucasian region of Russia, and it so happened that Princess Olga's husband was familiar with that particular part of Russia, so that there was quite a happy time spent in reminiscing. Mr. Saxe says it isn't often he has an opportunity to speak Russian, but the language does not leave him . . . It is forty eight years since Mr. Saxe left Russia. He spent a short time in England, then came to America, landing in the States, and coming to Canada. He lived for a time in Acton before moving to Georgetown to establish the Georgetown Creamery, which is now owned by his son Dave . . . The Saxe family held a dinner party for Mr. Saxe at Crofton Villa Sunday, on the occasion of Father's Day . . .

THERE HAVE BEEN quite a number of changes in store personnel along Main Street in the past couple of weeks. Doubtless you have noted many of them yourselves, but just in case we've jotted a few of them down . . . Jim Crawford is at Goldham's, replacing Duke Burrows . . . Replacing him at the Budget Groceries is Ross Hill . . . Pauline Tyers is cashier at the Dominion Store . . . Martin Armstrong and Bill Doherty are working for the summer in McCormack's Drug Store . . . and taking Bob Harris' place at Farnell's, is Charlie Alley . . .

Have you seen the new school at Glen Williams yet? It's very attractive and up to date in every way. It was unfortunate that the wall of the old school caved in, but after seeing the beautiful new building, we couldn't help but think of that old saying, "It's an ill wind . . .

And speaking of schools brings to mind the voters' list for Georgetown's school vote. Most noticeable thing about it was how many properties are listed in joint ownership . . . a sign of the times . . . and yes, the emancipation of women . . . years ago such a listing would probably have been the exception. . . Mr. and Mrs. John Ingles have moved from Mrs. Wm. Kirkwood's apartment on Main Street South to the farm owned by his brother, Jim Ingles. It is located two or three miles the other side of the Glen, and was formerly owned by Walter T. Evans . . .

JIM VALENTINE is a Latin American music fan, so last Saturday night he went to Toronto, to hear Xavier Cugat and his band at the Minsky Hall. Jim reports it was a wonderful show, with the band in their colourful costumes, and Xavier Cugat proving a relaxed and polished master of ceremonies, as well as a top-notch band leader in Latin rhythm. Practising what he preaches, Jim's travel business, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Jack Barber, accompanied by their son, from England, Colonel Frost, took their own much-advertised Great Lakes cruise on the SS Nor-ama last week . . . A Canadian Navy "buddy" of Frank Chavez's, ex-Chief P.O. John Gage, who has visited Frank at his home here, was pictured in the Telegram last week receiving his degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Toronto, while in Sunnybrook Hospital. John was unable to complete the final examinations because he contracted tuberculosis, so a one-man convocation was held around his hospital bed by the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, University Chancellor, Dr. Sidney Smith, University President, J. C. Evans the U. of T. registrar, and Dr. K. E. Hollis, Sunnybrook superintendent.

Former Moderator Dies Was Once Acton Minister

A former Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Very Reverend A. C. Stewart succumbed to a heart attack while attending the General Assembly in Montreal. During his term as Moderator, Dr. Stewart preached in Georgetown at Knox Church, one of the rare occasions on which the local church has been privileged to have a visit from one holding this high office. Dr. Stewart was minister at Knox Church, Acton, from 1921 to 1930. During his ministry a choir room was built and a fine pipe organ installed. He was a leader among Acton young people, and was scoutmaster of the Acton troop. Arrangements had been made to have him as speaker at the service next Sunday which will mark Acton's rise from village to town status. Since leaving Acton he had been minister of the church in Midland. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. E. M. Moles of Toronto and Grace at home and one son, William, of Pembroke. Following a service in Midland, interment was made in Fairview Cemetery, Acton, where a graveside service was conducted by Rev. R. H. Armstrong of Acton, Rev. James Jack of Stayner and Rev. C. J. Bentley of Thornbury. Pallbearers were Alex Mann, John Moore, A. M. McPherson, R. N. Brown, H. L. Ritchie and H. Mainprize.

NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL MOOTED FOR ACTON

Acton School Board is making plans for a new public school to replace the antiquated building at present being used. Preliminary discussions have been held between school board and council and an estimate of cost is to be secured. It is expected that the question will be submitted to the ratepayers later this year.

BANTAMS BEAT MILTON Georgetown Bantams won 9-4 in a hardball game with Milton last week. Ron Herrington and Jim Timleck were the Georgetown battery, Ron getting ten strike-outs.

NATURE UNSPOILED

YOURS TO PROTECT
The CRESTED FLYCATCHER is common in parks, orchards and woodlands. He's olive-grey, reddish-brown and sulphur-yellow in color. Look for his short, ragged crest. His loud, harsh cry is heard in tall trees everywhere. He lives on insects, and should be protected.
