Hydraulic Sorting Lifts Are First In Canada

Hydraulic sorting lifts, recently installed in the Georgetown mill of Provincial Paper, Ltd., are the first of their type in Canada according to an article in the current issue of The Barker, plant magazine.

Working on the same principle as service station lubrication lifts, they keep two skids, one sorted, the other unsorted, at a continuous level. This equalized platform reduces worker fatigue, is simple to operate and has little expense connected with its operation, once installed.

Old methods required much more handling: The sheets had to be unloaded from the skid onto the sorting table, sorted and returned to the skid. Now they are tracked onto the platform, an empty skid placed beside them, the platform is depressed and the operator is ready to sort.

As the empty skid is loaded it can be lowered and the unsorted one raised, so that the level of the two is kept constant. The floor space occupied by the two platforms takes up no more room than original equipment and headroom on the level below is not interfered with.

The Georgetown mill's maintenance superintendent, A. H. Feller, and engineer, John MacDonnell, had the shafts in place in February of this year and found, to their delight, that they proved its worth so well that other mills will be installed at Georgetown and some are planned for Toronto. The cost of the lift system is being covered by the mill's increased capacity to

Attends Vets Reunion During Western Visit

Thomas Goodlet returned home last week after a visit in the west where he attended the Calgary Stampede and a reunion of South Africa War veterans. Mr. Goodlet appeared with three other vets in a picture in the Calgary Herald, enjoying the festivities at the banquet which brought together 150 men who had served in different regiments of the British Army.

LIMEHOUSE

THE ANNUAL ROYAL VISIT
The Ladies of Knox Church, W.A. are invited to attend the Royal Tea, Thursday, July 27th, 8:00 p.m. Two refreshments for the congregation.

Ported these Ladies to the Royal Tea. Where to everyone's entire satisfaction. On chicken with "frills" they chose to dine.

When dinner was over to the theatre they hied them. It was the Royal as you might have guessed.

The name of the show I do not remember. But am quite convinced it was one of the best.

There were fat ladies, thin ladies, old ones and young ones. From the storekeeper maid to the damés old and grey. And I'm sure all enjoyed to the utmost the evening.

Then returned to their homes at the end of the day. Very glad they belong to the Women's Auxiliary. Who all the year 'round are kept busy as bees.

It surely takes money to run a church smoothly. So join them and keep yourself busy as these.

As homeward they journeyed in the peace of the evening. The quiet was broken by screeching of brakes.

One driver forgot he was near the home corner. And sped down the highway. My! What a mistake.

But at last it was over and the ladies, God bless 'em, Were all home and asleep for the rest of the night. Each dreaming of chicken, its frills, etc., And forgetting how much it would add to their weight.
