Penicillin Value Studied In Many Animal Diseases

Famous though penicillin may be, it will still have to prove its worth the hard way—like any other drug—in order to win acclaim in the fight on animal diseases. Up to now, bovine mastitis caused by streptococcus organisms is the "only" animal disease for which the effectiveness of penicillin is established by adequate scientific experiments. Dr. John H. Collins of Washington, D. C., told the District of Columbia Veterinary Medical association at a recent meeting: It is a promising treatment for at least 18 other animal diseases, but its real value against these conditions will not be proved until extensive controlled experiments have been carried out, the speaker said. While repeated tests have proved the value of this drug in treating streptococcal mastitis, it is likely to give disappointing results in bovine mastitis caused by other types of organisms. Dr. Collins told the veterinary organization in emphasizing the need for accurate diagnosis prior to attempting mastitis treatment. Equine and calf pneumonia, canine leptospirosis, blackleg, eye infections, and certain skin disorders were listed among the diseases for which penicillin offers promise. This drug also is reported to be effective in swine erysipelas of turkeys, Dr. Collins added, but there are "conflicting opinions" as to its value against that infection in hogs.

Turkey Roasting Technique Outlined by Nutritionist

That old housewife custom of pricking the skin of a cooking turkey with a fork's tines is not a reliable test and it allows savory cooking juices to escape, Oregon State College extension nutrition specialist, Miss Agnes Kolsborn, says a much better test is to press the thickest part of a drumstick between the fingers, being careful to protect the hand with a cloth or paper. The bird is done, she adds, when the meat is soft to the touch. A second test to use on the cooking turkey is to move a drumstick up and down with the fingers. If the leg joint moves or breaks readily, the bird is ready for the table. Correct turkey roasting technique, according to Miss Kolsborn, involves slow cooking with dry heat. For birds that weigh up to 14 pounds, a roasting time of three and one-half hours is recommended at an oven temperature of 300 degrees. Larger birds will require up to six hours to roast at the same oven heat. A home handy to remember in preparing dressing, Miss Kolsborn points out, is one cup of dressing for each pound of turkey. Do not stuff the bird tightly, as the dressing will expand in cooking, she adds. Extra dressing may be baked in a separate pan.

Miniature Cars Popular

Miniature automobile business is booming to such an extent that miniature makers are turning out replicas of real automobiles by the thousands on assembly lines similar to those of automobile manufacturers. It is reported that some automobile dealers, who cannot get enough real cars to meet demands, are buying miniature cars and handing them out to customers on their waiting list to remind the latter that they haven't been forgotten. The little cars with the dealer's name stamped on the roof also serve another good will use as toys for youngsters.

Foxes Spread Rabies

In several of the southern states and in New York state, foxes have become a serious threat to rabies control, due to the fact that many of them have this disease. Dr. Raymond Fagan, veterinarian for the Indiana state board of health, reports that considerable progress is being made in eliminating this menace by shooting and trapping foxes. If the fox population is kept down by continuous hunting and trapping, rabies from this source will be a less serious problem to human beings, dogs, and pastured animals, Dr. Fagan says.

Employee Benefits

More and more business firms of all types are providing some sort of employee benefits. It is expected that soon firms that fail to do so will be rare. Today, more than 1,250,000 workers are covered by some type of health-benefit plan, an increase of some 600,000 since 1945. Health, welfare or retirement benefit plans now cover 3,000,000 workers and the current trend is to liberalize and increase the number of benefits.

New Ring Idea

"Companion bracelet-rings," two rings worn on different fingers but linked with decorative chains, is a new idea created by British jewelry craftsmen. One of the designs is a twin-linked little-finger ring. Another creation is a delicate gold finger sheath for the first finger studded with blue stones and brilliant chains to an even more elaborate band worn on the second finger.

Chatting... with M.H.B.

ONE OF THE Christmas customs most enjoyed by adults is the sending and receiving of Christmas cards. Wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year coming from one's friends far and near are a heartwarming thing, whether the greeting card be large or small, elaborate or simple. It gets its message across just the same. However, every year there are a few cards which stand out as being more original than some others. This year, among our cards, the one we received from the "Herald Weatherman" and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Batkin, of Wildwood, was easily the most original. A double piece of pale green note paper was cut to Xmas card size. On the front section a Christmas tree was cut out, to reveal underneath a beautiful bit of hand-weaving in diagonal stripes of black, red, blue and silver. This made the "cut-out" look exactly like a brightly decorated Xmas tree. Below it, a small skein of red thread was wound on a miniature bobbin, attached to the card, with the end of the thread looping out into the signature of the Batkins in red ink. Hand-drawn lettering at the top bearing "Christmas Greetings" also in red ink, completed the attractive card. Oh yes, we mustn't forget to mention the envelope matched the card.

THE CECIL DAVIDSONS always have an interesting card, usually making use of Cec's hobby, photography. This year they have combined two "loves", photography and boating, with a photo of their auto-top boat "Bambina" moored to the shores of Boskung Lake in the Haliburton district. It is a lovely shot of the lake with its picturesque islands. Lois tells us the name "Bambina" means "little girl" in Italian. Her husband got the idea from the Italian he learned while serving with the Signal Corps in Italy during the last war. We were curious as to where Boskung Lake was exactly, and found that it is located just north of Minden.

An artist friend visiting with Mrs. W. E. Nodwell, Edith Street, sketched her lovely stone fireplace and Mrs. Nodwell has used the sketch on her cards to illustrate her Merry Christmas and Happy New Year wishes. Jordanus van der Vliet, well-known artist who has a home and studio at Terra Cotta, has used, as usual, one of his own paintings to make a very beautiful Christmas card.

MR AND MRS. SAM Curry, of the Tweed News, have an original card too. On the front are two photos of Tweed Main Street, one knee-deep in snow, and the other basking in the strong sun of a summer day. They have captioned the pictures "Scenes Change with The Seasons, here in Tweed, but..." Inside the card some very cute pen and ink sketches illustrate the end of the sentence "The Christmas Scene Always Remains the same".

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Templin of the Fergus News-Record reflect their interest in local history by choosing for their Christmas card this year an historic view of the Elora Rocks. It was originally one part of a stereoscopic view taken by the late John Connor and his son, photographers of Elora. The photograph now belongs to Frank Mann Harris, well-known writer, who is a native of Elora.

ALL THE CARDS were beautiful this year. The large scenic ones sent by various paper companies are well worth framing. We always resolve to frame a couple but so far haven't got round to the actual doing. One of the most striking of the smaller reproductions we received was entitled "Sugar-ings", from an original painting by Grandma Moses. She is that remarkable lady from New England, who began painting in 1938 at the age of 76 and today is recognized as an outstanding primitive artist.

AN ENVELOPE post-marked San Diego, Calif., had us puzzled for a moment, until we remembered that Mrs. Mary Bedell and family would have reached there by now. You will recall they left town a few weeks ago to make their home in the Southern States. Mrs. Bedell has penned a note on the card saying "weather is simply grand, low 55, high 78. Haven't seen rain since we left St. Louis. The flowers, Mary, would take a whole page to describe. They're just everywhere, and the poinsettias. It's hard to believe nearly every one grows them. Just to give you some idea, have enclosed a cutting, which shows a lady standing beside a poinsettia plant which has a poinsettia 25 1/2 inches across, from a plant measuring 18 feet, 6 inches in height".

Mrs. Wilfrid Gill, John Street, called us the other day, to say she had received a Christmas card from Arnold Brill, Arnold Street, which commanded the RCAF station's attention. He is working there for the winter with the American government in connection with the American aid program. Arnold formerly lived in Georgetown, where his father owned and operated Brill's Department Store here.

CHATting WITH Mrs. Harold McClure on Lions' Ladies Night held last Thursday at Hilltop Lodge, Erin. We learned that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gorrington have moved to Long Island, New York. Mr. and Mrs. Gorrington and son Robert lived here while Mr. Gorrington was accountant at the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. He had just recently been made manager of the Bank of Montreal branch at Alvington.

INCIDENTALLY, WE learned a lesson the hard way, going to the said Lions Ladies night dinner. The car couldn't make the steep snow-covered hill just about a half mile from the lodge, so we backed down along the single tracks very carefully. But misfortune was "fogging our car wheels. Just a few feet from an intersection where we could have turned around and taken another road in — bingo, we were off the track and stuck. Nothing would budge us. So out we got, no hat, galoshes, gloves, or toes and heels in our shoes. And that was a bitter zero night, let us remind you. And in the darkness we slipped, slid, and puffed our way on foot to the Lodge. Neither of us was very happy when we arrived. But we did learn a lesson. Never again will we drive anywhere in the winter without full cold insulation gear on head, hands and feet.

THE YULETIDE Season is a time of much social gaiety. With the tree up and brightly lit and the pantry full of holiday fare, we feel the urge to have our friends in to help us enjoy it. It is the season too, when formal dances reach the peak of their popularity.

The Wednesday before Christmas, Wing Cmdr. and Mrs. H. R. Footitt, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Duncan, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. John Frost and Sqdn. Ldr. and Mrs. John Duncan attended the annual formal Christmas Ball, given by the RCAF Staff College in Toronto. The College made a lovely setting for the event. It is the Ellsworth Estate owned by the former president of the B.A. Oil Company, and the building itself is like an old English manor, with beautiful pagelling, rugs and paintings; set in 23 acres of landscaped gardens. The ballroom was gay with lighted Christmas trees, as two hundred dancers enjoyed the music and entertainment.

Sqdn. Ldr. Duncan and Wing Cmdr. Footitt are stationed at the RCAF Staff College, remaining there through the week and spending week-ends with their families in town.

Sqdn. Ldr. AND Mrs. Duncan, with their two sons John, 5 years, and Kenneth, 3 years, live in the upper apartment of the Queen Street duplex which was formerly the Watson home. They had received a Christmas card from Arnold Brill, Arnold Street, which commanded the RCAF station's attention.

HORNBY

The Annual Dance of the Hornby AYPA was held on December 21st in Trafalgar Hall with a goodly number in attendance. A number of tables of euchre were played but the major part of the evening was spent in dancing to music provided by the Modern Aires with Charlie Campbell as floor manager. On Thursday, Dec. 28th, St. Stephen's Church, Hornby, held their annual congregational supper and Sunday School Concert in the Orange Hall, Hornby. Following a very enjoyable supper prepared by the ladies a concert was held under the chairmanship of Mr. Mark Bussell. The programme was arranged by Miss Evelyn Course and Miss Mary Thompson with all the children of the Sunday School taking part. Carols were sung, with Mrs. Ernie Price at the piano. The Nativity Play was presented by members of the Sunday School and the boys of the AYPA staged a skit entitled "Young Lochinvar".
