Chatting . . . With M.H.B.

THE ANCIENT custom of taking down all Yuletide decorations before Twelfth Night, lest bad luck befall during the ensuing year, is observed by almost everyone. If, not through superstition, then through common sense, for by twelve days after Christmas, most Christmas trees begin to look a trifle jaded, and falling needles start making it a nuisance instead of a pleasure. Personally, tho, we always feel a little sad to see the tree go out, shorn of all its glamour, to meet an ignominious end on the town garbage dump.

DURING CHRISTMAS week, we like to take a drive around town and enjoy looking at the brightly lit trees through the windows of homes. This year, too, there seemed to be more "outdoor Christmas trees" than usual, and they did look beautiful, all aglow with coloured lights. We may have missed some, but those we noticed were at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bradley, Main St. South; Mr. and Mrs. Ken MacDonald, Market Street; Mr. and Mrs. Blake Leslie, Market Street; Mr. and Mrs. George Glassford, Union Street; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Foulis, Charles Street; Mr. and Mrs. Trygve Wold, Maple Ave.; Brigadier and Mrs. F. C. Wallace, Maple Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chapman, Durham Street; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McClure, Maple Ave.; and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ford, just across from Willoughby's beyond Maple Ave. And of course, it wouldn't seem like Christmas downtown if we didn't have the large illuminated Lions Community Christmas tree.

ALSO DURING Christmas week, we had occasion to drive through Acton, and noticed that electrically operated "wig-wags" had been placed at the rail-ways crossing. Don't know how long they've been there, but certainly it's been a crying need for years. There are so many tracks, and the visibility is poor. Now we can keep our eyes peeled for the wig-wags and be absolutely certain that when we embark on the crossing, the coast is clear.

JUST BEFORE Christmas, a new apartment house built by Mrs. Alice Poits, on John Street, past the culvert, was completed, and three young couples moved into the apartments. Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe McMenemy, Jr. are occupying the two upstairs apartments, and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Duffy have the downstairs apartment.

The apartment in Mrs. W. McMillan's house on Emery Street, in which Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Bradbury lived before moving to their new home, is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. Morrow and their three months old son, Leslie David. Mr. Morrow is employed at Alliance Paper Mills Ltd.

When Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parry and family moved from Normandy Boulevard to their new home on Main Street North, their Normandy Boulevard house was rented by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Timbers and their two daughters, Wanda and Donna. Wanda is with Smith & Stone Ltd., and Donna is a pupil in Grade 8, in Public School.

Also another change on Normandy Boulevard which we intended to note some time ago, is that Mr. and Mrs. James Yates, Freddie and Ronnie moved into the house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barker and family.

Sorry to learn that Mrs. Dorrie Kidd is in Toronto General Hospital where she underwent an operation. We join with her friends in hoping that she'll soon be able to be home again with her husband and children.

Afraid we have an apology to make. The type gremlins stole into an item last week, and made it read that "Arnold Brill is in Paris, France working there for the winter with the American government in connection with the American aid program, when it should have read "in connection with their European aid program".

THE OTHER DAY in a local grocery store, we picked up a roll of tinfoil, and decided to try it out. In the container a myriad of uses are listed including using it as a cover for foods in the refrigerator. And that is where we made our big discovery. Perhaps you, like us, have always had trouble trying to keep cut cheese moist and fresh after having it in the house for a couple of days. We had tried everything, so we gave the tinfoil a try too, and wonder of wonders, it works. There's a tip for you, if you've been having that kind of a problem. Oh yes, and we had good luck using the foil Christmas Day to cover the top half of the turkey when we roasted it.

HAVEN'T HAD much time for reading lately, but when we do have an opportunity, we pick up a new one we've started — "Kon-Tiki," by Thor Heyerdahl. It's a fascinating story of a 101-day journey made by Heyerdahl and five companions on a primitive raft made of forty-foot balsa logs. The raft is named Kon-Tiki in honour of a legendary sun-god. These men deliberately risked their lives to show that the ancient Peruvians could have made the 2000-mile voyage to the Polynesian Islands on a similar craft. This was to support a theory that the South Sea Islands were peopled from Peru. As you can imagine, the tale is an exciting one, and exceedingly well-told.

WHEN WE HEARD of the death of Nancy Teeter it came with a sense of shock. Somehow, we just couldn't convince ourselves that Nancy, as everyone called her, was gone. She always looked and acted the same, even as we remember her from our childhood. She made herself an integral part of Georgetown during all the years she lived here, by being vitally interested in everybody. When meeting you on the street, she always greeted you with enthusiasm and stopped to chat and ask you about the various members of your family. Sometimes she would answer her questions herself, before you had a chance. The way she could keep track of families, children, their ages and whereabouts was truly amazing. Yes, Nancy was a very colourful personality, and we were sorry to learn of her death.

A NEW IDEA for women's organizations, as to hold small "auction sales" among the members in order to raise a little cash for various projects. Last Monday night, at the home of Miss Jean Mackenzie, the IOOE had a lot of fun with such an auction. Mrs. Harold Hutchingson made a wonderful auctioneer (Frank Petch had better look to his laurels.) The sale got off to a good merry start when the auctioneer dressed in a comical Scotch "kilt" costume, made a spirited entrance to the skirt of bagpipes (via a record player) and put everyone in a laughing, buying mood. The result was a tidy sum for the IOOE Queen Mary Carpet Fund.
