STEWARTTOWN

DUTCH TREAT AT COMMUNITY HALL

Through the combined efforts of Esqueving Women's Institute and Mr. Cudman of Schneider's Meat Packing Plant, Kitchener, a very enjoyable evening was passed last Tuesday evening in the Community Hall. Mrs. Robert Harris was chairman for the evening. Mr. Tom Warnes of Georgetown sang two numbers accompanied by Miss Frank. Then Ruby Tennant and Evelyn Harris sang two duets. Mrs. Harris introduced Mr. Cudman, who showed two films. The first was the packing plant of the Schneider Co. showing all the details of the preparation and packing of the meat products. This film was interesting and educating in the way of preparing meat for Canadians. Before showing the second film which was a comic, Mr. Cudman said he would like to congratulate the community on their hall, its layout and sound value made ideal for showing pictures. Mr. Warnes then favoured with two more numbers. Mrs. Harris thanked Mr. Cudman, Mr. Warnes, Miss Frank, Ruby and Evelyn for a delightful evening and a Dutch treat lunch was served through the combined efforts of Schneiders' and the Women's Institute.

Junior W.A. met on Monday at Mrs. Bailly's home. Ruby Tennant chose the hymn and lead in the opening service. Busy time was trying a cot quilt.

The Guild meeting was held at Mrs. C. Blizard's home Thursday evening. Next meeting at Mrs. C. A. Grant's, Tuesday evening the 20th.

BALINAFAD

Lantern Slides Depict Mission Work in Africa

Lantern slides were shown Sunday morning during church service. They gave an interesting story of our mission work in Angola Africa and depicted the lives of John and Sarah, two African children who were rescued by the Mission from slavery, and educated in their schools. Eventually these two became Christians and were married. They devoted their lives to the homes enriching the lives of thirteen children grew up to be teachers and nurses thus carrying on the work so nobly begun.

Mrs. E. W. Briery of St. Thomas spent a few days last week at the manse.

Balinafad hockey team was defeated 3-2 in the first game of the play-offs with north Erin. Friday night. Goals were scored by F. Shortall and R. Shortall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Gibb attended the banquet at Emmanuel College in Toronto on Friday evening.

Despite the very cold weather, seventeen ladies of the community gathered at the manse to observe the World Day of Prayer. The programme was in charge of Mrs. C. McCluskey and prayers were taken by Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. R. McEhery, Mrs. McKay, Mrs. Jesse McEhery, and Mrs. Warnes. Mrs. W. Gibb sang "The Lord's Prayer" unaccompanied. Miss B. Hillis gave a short talk on the origin of the Day of Prayer and explained what was done with the money given in collections. Mrs. R. Warnes was elected Key woman for 1952.

CATERPILLARS MORE NUMEROUS SPREADING IN ONTARIO FORESTS

Bad news for vacationers in the northern sections of the province is the prediction by the Department of Lands and Forests that the forest tent caterpillar will be more widespread in Ontario during 1951. Reports are that egg clusters of the insect have been found on trees over a very much wider area in Ontario than last year.

The Department is deeply concerned with the situation in Ontario and is willing to cooperate with summer cottagers, tourist operators and other owners of forest land to consider control proposals which may be made by municipal organizations representing groups of these owners.

A bulletin is being prepared describing the life history of the forest tent caterpillar the situation to be expected in 1951 and possible means of control. "Any program of control must be developed well in advance of May 1st when the caterpillars will be again crawling about," says T. E. Mackey, Chief of the Forest Protection Division. Records reveal that outbreaks have lasted three or four years with the peak often in the third year. Consequently, 1951 may be the peak year of the present outbreak in many areas.

It is not expected by entomologists that large areas of forest will be killed. Healthy trees on good sites are able to survive repeated defoliation. On the other hand, trees which are less vigorous because of advanced age, poor site or other causes may die.

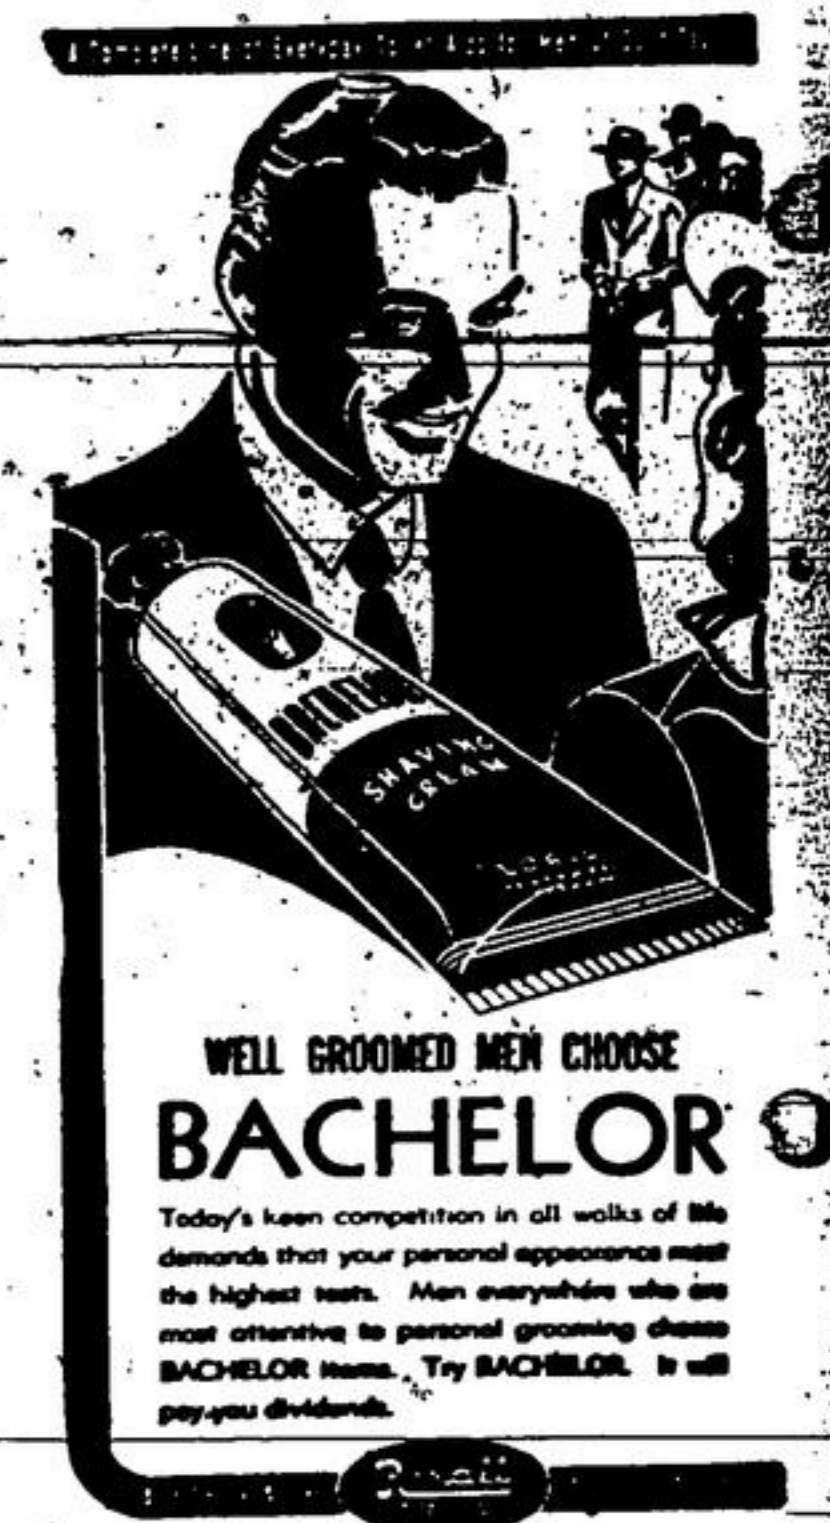

Extirmination of the caterpillar over the entire forest area would be a tremendous and costly undertaking, but cooperative control measures are feasible on summer resort areas and other private forest lands where the insect creates the greatest nuisance.

Such poisons as DDT and lead arsenate kill the insect in its caterpillar stage. Ornamental and small individual trees may be sprayed effectively with hand-operated equipment. A standard stirrup pump permits application to a greater height on tree foliage and buildings.

The best known means of large-scale control is insecticide spraying from aircraft. Several commercial flying companies have planes equipped for spraying and others would probably be interested in preparing to do this work under contract.

The caterpillar causes extensive defoliation of poplar, hard maple, and oak trees as well as other broad-leaved trees and undergrowth. When abundant, the caterpillars completely strip the trees of leaves. However, vigorous trees offset this loss of foliage by producing additional leaves after the feeding period of the caterpillar is completed.

The insect passes the winter in the egg stage on the twigs of trees, being most numerous on the upper branches. The eggs hatch in May about the time the leaves begin to appear. The caterpillars are hairy, dusty-brown in colour, with a slate-blue stripe down each side. Along the back there is a row of conspicuous diamond or keyhole-shaped white spots. Mature caterpillars measure about an inch and a half in length. When the caterpillars are fully grown, in the latter part of June, they seek out sheltered places among foliage and branches or often in the crevices of fences and buildings, and spin yellowish cocoons in which they spend the pupal stage. The inconspicuous rusty-brown moths emerge in late July or early August and lay their eggs in the twigs of trees, thus completing the life cycle.
