Chatting . . .

AN INTERESTING bit of information came to hand last week, through a friend, Mrs. William Potts (the former Doris Bessey of town), who lives in Kitchener. Doris likes to keep in touch with former Georgetownians who also make their home in that city, and this news concerns Henry J. Heldmann, who was a popular teacher on the staff of our High School for a number of years.

WHILE MR. Heldmann was in the armed forces, he conceived the idea of a plastic surgical dressing, which would be water-resistant and allow work to continue normally, despite the presence of a hand dressing. After his discharge, Mr. Heldmann returned to Kitchener to operate his business—Cress Laboratories, which mainly manufactured the well-known Cress foot remedies. However, he did not let his idea of a water-resistant surgical dressing lie dormant, and for six years he experimented with it, as a hobby. His first main problem was to find an adhesive that would remain on a plastic film. After two years research he found the answer to that problem, and in 1947 he developed his first plastic bandage. Last year, long after the idea had ceased to be only a hobby, he brought out the finished product, the only one of its kind in the world.

IRREFUTABLE PROOF that Mr. Heldmann and his Cress Laboratories have climaxed their six years of work with an unique product which surpasses all others in its field, was in the recent awarding of a 1951 certificate of merit to Cress Laboratories. This was in competition against 110 plastic manufacturers from all parts of Canada. The honour is a Canadian Plastics Achievement Award in the science and medicine division.

Mr. Heldmann holds a world patent on his plastic surgical dressing, and already the Cress Laboratories are busy filling orders for them from the United States, Chile and Hawaii, and future plans include export to most parts of the world.

WE KNOW ALL his Georgetown friends will join us in congratulating Mr. Heldmann upon his success, and in sending him best wishes for the future. During their years in town, Mr. and Mrs. H. Heldmann and their two young sons lived on Edith St. in the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Petch.

WE CAN'T remember a time when so many people from town have taken a winter-time vacation in the South. We thought at first that it was just a coincidental situation occurring in Georgetown alone, but in glancing through some of our weekly "exchange papers" from other towns, several columnists and editors have remarked on the same thing happening in their towns. Florida seems to be the most popular spot to head for, and should be doing a booming Canadian tourist business this winter. Right now, the people basking in Florida sunshine include Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hewson, LeRoy Dale, K.C., Miss Sybil Bennett, K.C., Mrs. Jim Taylor, Mr. Elmer Thompson and Miss Isobel; Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. John R. Barber; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Watson, Grimsby, former Georgetown residents; Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Watson; Mr. and Mrs. David Saxe; Mr. K. M. Longdon, making the trip with his brother and sister-in-law; and Mrs. W. C. Bessey of Kitchener, formerly of town.

INCIDENTALLY, Mrs. Bessey sent us a copy of the Tampa Times from Florida. It's a big paper, full of mouth-watering big ads. They're a jump ahead of most Canadian dailies in that they make extensive use of a second colour to accent headlines and ads. The copy we received had used a lot of red, and it certainly peps up a black and white page. At the time Mrs. Bessey sent us the paper, they were holding a big "Gasparilla celebration" in Tampa. King Gasparilla and his pirates sail in and "take" the city. From then on, everything is for the "pirates," with pirate dances, parties and celebrations of all kinds blossoming forth for the festival. We had never heard of the King Gasparilla celebration before. Sounded just as colourful and exciting as the now-famous Mardi-Gras merry-making in New Orleans, tho.

To go back to our list of people vacationing in Florida. Miss Joy Laird has returned from a southern holiday, and planning to go soon are Mr. and Mrs. Sid Orr, and also Mr. and Mrs. William Reynolds. And Brigadiers and Mrs. F. C. Wallace are vacationing at the winter home of Col. W. E. Phillips in Nassau, the Bahamas.

MANY COUPLES with young children are having a very quiet time these days, devoting their leisure hours to entertaining youngsters in various stages of measles or chickenpox, and, heaven help them, sometimes measles and chickenpox. It's all very trying for everyone concerned, but the annual scourge always seems to come around, and if the kiddies don't get them one time, they'll get them another. That's the only comforting thing about it. As a rule, once they've had a bad dose, they're immune. Kindergarten and First Graders are the classrooms hardest hit when the measles and chickenpox strike.

PREFERRING THE Canadian climate to that of Yuma, Arizona, where they have been living for the past year, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tighe have returned to Canada and are living near Hornby, on R. R. 3. Mr. Tighe, who was a member of the Smith & Stone office staff here, is now on the staff of the Toronto office of the firm, and commutes daily from his home at Hornby.

Formerly the accountant at Smith & Stone Ltd., Mr. Douglas Greer has returned to Toronto, where he has a position with the Henry Martin Company, a firm of business consultants. After leaving Georgetown, Mr. and Mrs. Greer lived in Toronto for a time, and later moved to California where they made their home, until their return to Toronto a month ago.

THIS WEEKEND, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tomlinson and two small daughters are moving to Windsor. Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson have been living Glen Williams and Mr. Tomlinson was employed at Smith & Stone Ltd. As soon as they can find accommodation, the Tomlinsons will move to Detroit, where Mr. Tomlinson has obtained a position. Last Thursday evening, after choir practice, St. George's choir held a presentation for Mrs. Tomlinson, who has been a very faithful member and gifted soprano soloist ever since moving here four years ago.

ANOTHER GLEN Williams couple who moved last weekend, were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fry Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Fry are now living in Hamilton, where Mr. Fry has been employed for the past year with Smith's Transport. They were fortunate in obtaining a new house, located in a new housing development on the mountain called "Mountain Breeze." Mrs. Fry tells us there are already 200 houses built and plans are being made to build more. Prior to leaving, Brill's Department Store made a presentation to Mrs. Fry, who has been on the staff of their Ladies Wear department for some time.

MR. AND MRS. Cecil Walker and family have moved from Normandy Boulevard to their new home on the Stewarttown road, just opposite Lt.-Col. G. O. Brown's farm. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Scarlett and family of Glen Williams have moved into the house occupied by the Walkers on Normandy Boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. Scarlett, who were living in Orillia for a couple of years, came back to town and made their home in Glen Williams last year.

REALIZE WE are a bit late welcoming a new family to town. It is some months ago now since Mr. and Mrs. C. Reid and family of Toronto moved into the house on Emery Street opposite the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Feller. Also making their home with the Reids are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Whyte (Mrs. Whyte is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reid) and their two small children. Mr. Whyte is employed at the Henry Davis Wood Products Ltd. plant on Main Street. Mr. Reid travels for a tool and machine company. Mr. and Mrs. Reid have a daughter attending Georgetown High School, and a son, who is employed at the Wm. B. Ackerman Co. Another married daughter lives in Toronto.

LAST THURSDAY, Mr. and Mrs. John Schertz, Mr. Douglas Marshall and Mrs. George Smith left on a motor trip to Hershey, Penn., where they spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schertz (formerly Mary Smith) and their small son Larry. Joe Schertz, who gained his early experience and fame as a hockey player in Norval and Georgetown is playing pro hockey for the Hershey Bears this year, and from all reports, is turning in the best season of his career.
