

One of the world's fastest games, the modern version of the hockey was born in Canada some seventy-odd years ago. To Canadians it is more than just a game—it is a part of Canadian life... eagerly learned by every boy with his first pair of skates and brought to perfection by highly skilled professionals.

Created and signed by The House of Seagram, this advertisement, with appropriate copy for foreign lands, is appearing in magazines and newspapers printed in various languages and circulated throughout the world.

Seagram TELLS THE WORLD ABOUT Canada

This advertisement was designed by The House of Seagram to tell the people of other lands about Canada and things distinctively Canadian.

Many people in Latin America, Asia, Europe and other parts of the world are not fully aware of the richness of Canada's natural resources, wild life, scenic beauty and cultural traditions. The more the peoples of other lands know about our country, the greater will be their interest in Canada and Canadian products.

The House of Seagram feels that the horizon of industry does not terminate at the boundary of its plants; it has a broader horizon, a farther view—a view dedicated to the development of Canada's stature in every land of the globe.

Legion Notes

THE SPORTS chairmen Scotty and Eric ran the first of a series of card parties on Monday night. They had a good turnout for their first venture and managed to put up a number of excellent prizes. The boys have got off to a good start, comrades, so don't let them down by not supporting them. And they say that any and all suggestions are welcome.

We believe that in time they believe they will have enough interest to have cribbage, euchre and bridge games. Monday night is an excellent night to run them, because that seems to be the quietest evening of the week. Now all we need is for someone to come up with a suggestion for something to live up to our Thursday nights, and the week would be a pretty full one.

A GOOD suggestion came up the other night from one of the boys. He suggested (and this is practiced in a large number of Legion branches, according to the Legionary), a "Suggestion Box", where members could leave suggestions for the good of the Branch. Sounds feasible, at that.

IMPERIAL MEETING will be at Alex Taylor's home on Sunday, April 22nd. All members please note.

THAT LITTLE note saying all vets should join Branch 120, seems to have had some results, as a number have asked for application forms.

THE DOMINION president, Alf Watts, will speak at Port Colborne on Sunday, April 29th. A number from town expect to go down. He will speak on the Legion's "Operation Preparedness."

THERE SEEMS to be quite a number enthused about the trip to Buffalo. The boys always seem to have a good time at this affair.

COMRADE Tom Allen gave the sports committee a very nice pair of cuff links for a prize for Darts. Thanks a lot Tom, that was a very nice thing to do.

FOR THE FIRST time we heard the Canadian Army Show originating from Fort Lewis last Sunday night. In case anyone hasn't heard it, it's at 10.30 each Sunday night.

DARTS & BOWLING seem to be taking quite a bit of time up these days. Let's have a report on where the teams stand, fellows.

AMONG THE Imperials, from the Branch who attended the District Meeting on Sunday, April 8th were delegates Alex Taylor, Jim Murphy and Charlie Parton, and members William Broughton and Tom Herbert. As visitors from the Branch were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Grieve and Alva, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Day.

Provincial President Len Owens of Guelph was in the chair. Also present was District Commander of the Province, Ray Mann, who gave quite an interesting talk on the housing problem.

Zone Commander Phelps spoke on Emigration and promised to donate a trophy to the Imperials for Crib or other sports.

The next meeting will be held in Guelph in August and will be the annual picnic. (And from what we have heard from some of the boys who have attended in other years as guests of the Section here, this is really good "do.")

The re-elected president, Len Owens, spoke on what had been accomplished in the past year, among which was the Imperials securing benefit of the War Benefits Allowance Act. However, he said that a great deal more was still to be done, and urged all support to further the cause of the widows of Imperials. He also said a drive was to be made to find out the actual number of Imperials in the Canadian Legion. He felt this could only be accomplished through a census.

JUST AS A last thought, try to keep in mind the monthly meeting next Thursday, April 26. The meeting will be short, and you are urged to be present... and in case you're interested, refreshments will be served after the meeting. So let's have a turnout of say... 300!!!

Junior "At Home" Outstanding Success

The Brant Inn, Burlington, on Thursday evening of last week was the scene of the annual "At Home" of Halton Junior Farmers. Guests were present from Haldimand, Wentworth, Brant, Peel, York, Oxford, Lincoln and Wellington counties. The event was an outstanding success from every angle and Halton Juniors may well be proud of their annual party.

The Brant Inn does provide a delightful setting; Ron Wickson and his orchestra left nothing to be desired; the young ladies in their dress-up clothes were a delight to the eye and the clean cut group of young men were a credit to any County.

Assisting President Dave Pelletier in the receiving line were Warden and Mrs. K. Y. Dick; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Brown, of Norval, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Mitchell, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. George S. Atkins, Bronte; and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Whitelock. Numbered among the guests were also Mr. and Mrs. Jack McPherson of Toronto. Many farm readers will recall that Jack was formerly in charge of the farm broadcast over CBL and is now director of publicity for the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture in Toronto.

Progress Report on Liquid Fertilizers

During recent months there has been a good deal of controversial comment concerning the value of certain commercial liquid fertilizers now on the market.

Several liquid fertilizers are now offered for sale in Ontario and are being recommended for use as seed treatments for field crops to improve growth and yield of the crops.

During the past year a special committee of agronomists and soil specialists have conducted some carefully controlled greenhouse and field investigations on a number of crops using four liquid fertilizers, a fungicide, and a combination of a liquid fertilizer and fungicide. The investigation work was carried on both at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and the Kemptville Agricultural School.

From the standpoint of speed of germination and percentage germination the various materials were tried out with ten different species of field crops, namely winter wheat, oats, barley, soybeans, timothy, broom grass, orchard grass, alfalfa, red clover, and alsike clover. The soybeans were the only seeds to show a positive reaction in each case, emerging before the untreated seeds in each different treatment. While the grasses on the whole appeared to be unaffected by the treatment with all four of the liquid fertilizers, the general trend on the other seeds was for an earlier emergence than the check.

From the standpoint of percentage germination wheat and barley were the only species to benefit from all four liquid fertilizers. Red and alsike clovers remained about normal, while the remainder, namely, oats, soybeans, timothy, broom grass, orchard grass, and alfalfa, showed generally a decreased germination.

The fungicide treatment increased germination in all species but broom grass and it gave better results generally than the liquid fertilizers. In addition to the experimental work outlined above, another experiment was carried on to determine the effect of some liquid fertilizers upon the yield of Beaver Oats, Galore Barley, and Pagoda Soybeans. Data released reveals that none of the treatments of a liquid fertilizer, a fungicide, and a combination treatment of a liquid fertilizer and a fungicide, significantly increased or decreased the yields of grain with the varieties used. We understand that this work will be conducted a second year at both institutions and subsequent reports will be released when results are available.

MULTIFLORA ROSE TRIED IN HALTON

The publicity given to the Multiflora Rose by Louis Bromfield and others has created considerable interest on the part of quite a number of Halton farmers. We personally know of three or four in the County who have already planted some out. In our opinion, this is all to the good, but it should be borne in mind that as yet the Multiflora Rose has not been proven in this country. In short, it is our opinion that one should not at the moment launch into too heavy a planting, but rather proceed more or less on an experimental basis. Incidentally, the Halton Conservation Committee is planning to plant some out this coming fall alongside one of our County forests. According to Mr. Bromfield and other enthusiasts, the Multiflora Rose due to its huge thorns will two or three years after planting defy man or beast to go through it.

This shrub can now be secured through the Ontario Forestry Branch but we have been advised that it will not be sent out until fall. Anyone therefore desirous of planting a few should secure an application form from the agricultural office in Milton, and send it forward in the near future.
