Man-eater?

Not the mountain lion. He is a shy, retiring beast, rarely seen by humans. His principal diet is deer, but when times are hard, he may raid a herd of livestock. The mountain lion is becoming a rare sight in Canada, and therefore he deserves our protection.

Hello Homemakers! New ideas in furnishing or re-furnishing a home seem to have come to "light" in the home during this recent housecleaning period. There is the matter of drapes all along the wall on either side of a picture window, shadow-proof curtains in place of sash curtains, aluminum awnings and many, big items. Then look at the change in decorating a bedroom today where many plastic accessories make storage dust-proof and may be had to harmonize with a variety of colour schemes. The garment bags, shoe pockets, hat boxes and orange crate covers make the place a source of pride.

Homemakers who possess sturdy-built, solid pieces of bedroom furniture may always feel their money well spent. However, a mattress may need to be replaced by one of the popular type of today — the inner spring construction. Some of these mattresses can be purchased of a new comfortable material known as the foamed latex as a lining over the springs. (Pillows made of this sponge are durable, too.) Springs are equally important. If possible they should be bought to match the mattress. If bought separately, the mattress and springs should be paired to equalize each other, both for comfort and for long service. The three types of bed springs are box, metal coil and flat springs, and within these classifications there are variations of construction.

Pillow sheets and blankets may be selected to suit the purse and needs of the household. However, bedspreads are chosen to suit the design of the furniture and for the purpose of the occupants of the room. For instance if the bed is used for seating, then dark colored or duroy or one of mixed yarn, which are strong give better service than satin or faille. Sometimes window curtains of the same material as the spread make an attractive ensemble.

TAKE A TIP

1. When buying sheets, pillow cases, blankets and pillows, read the attached labels, note the size and judge the quality wisely.
2. There are two classifications for sheets and pillow cases percale and muslin. And there are degrees of fineness in both of these grades. The finest of percales of about 204 thread count are luxuriously soft. Regular percale have about 180 thread count. Muslin sheets which are woven to take rugged wear, are of heavier threads and consequently a lower thread count.
3. Consider how often blankets have to be washed and how washed before you buy them. Also whether two light blankets may assure more comfortable sleeping than one heavy one.

4. Judge a blanket by the depth and evenness of the nap and by its resiliency. A good blanket has a springy quality when crushed in the hand. Beware of blankets that shed when brushed with the hand.

5. Electric blankets eliminate the need for extra bedding as by means of an automatic control, warmth is provided to make up for changes in room temperatures throughout the night.

6. A quick test for a firm Terry or Turkish towel, is to hold the towel to the light. Only tiny pinpoints will show through a good towel.

7. Many colored towels will stand bleaching and strong sunlight. Dark solid colors sometimes "bleed" in the first 2 or 3 washings due to excess dyes and they may be less absorbent than white or pastel towels.

8. All towels shrink somewhat in laundering. Check the tension in the border, selvage and main section of the towel to see that it is even.

THE SUGGESTION BOX

1. Do not let towels become excessively soiled before washing them. (New towels should be laundered before use.)

2. Unless very soiled there is no reason to soak Terry towels. In fact it is wise to soak linens in warm water with detergent in it for not more than 1 hour. Twenty minutes is a good precaution against causing colors to bleed and soil to set in.

3. Occasionally a bleach may seem necessary, in such cases follow directions as to quantity of bleach and number of rinsings as this may reduce strength of threads. Bleaching restores whiteness to linens.

4. Do not iron Terry towels and cloths for the flattened loops will not absorb moisture readily. Shake the towels before coming home to dry and again when folding to put away.

5. Mend selvages, ravel or tears immediately. Try to avoid sharp corners on bed springs and towel racks and use good clothespins.

FATHER DIES IN TORONTO

In ill health since suffering a coronary thrombosis over a year ago, George Apperly died at his home in Toronto recently. He had been a city of Toronto employee for many years.

Surviving are his wife, Hilda, one son, Gordon at home and one daughter, Rita, Mrs. Malcolm Brandford of Georgetown.

Be sure to be on hand Saturday to see the famous Planter's Peanut float in town for the Lions Peanut Day... and incidentally, buy some peanuts from the Lions!

He wants to get married —

— she does too!

YOU HAVE PLANS that are important, too. The things you want most, the worthwhile things, have to be planned for, saved for.

That's not easy, these days. But here are two suggestions that may help you to realize your own particular dream:

First, decide what you want most, how much it will cost, and open a special savings account at The Royal Bank of Canada for that one particular purpose... then save for it.

Second, use the Royal Bank Budget Book to keep yourself on your course, and to avoid careless spending. The budget book does not suggest how you should spend your money. It does provide you with a simple pattern to help you

PLAN YOUR BUDGET TO SUIT YOURSELF.
You can get a copy at any branch. Ask for one.

THE OPENING

On Saturday morning the 28th
I oiled up my reel, dub me some
bait,
Better get going or I'd be too late.
I jumped in the car,
Took the odd kid or two,
And headed for paper mill
Dam with the dew.
On with my waders, bag on my back, Headed downstream towards the
railroad track, Saying "Sp long, boys, I'll bring some browns back."
I waded downstream, a-casting my
bait,
A sneer on my face 'cause I'd got
there late,
When my $100 hook caught on an old iron gate.

I yanked and I yanked, let out a wail,
It flew back behind me and caught
on a rail,
"To H— with this stuff, I'll try a bucktail."
I tied on my lead, it was tapered,
just so,
Fastened my bucktail, as white as
the snow,
"I'll get a brown now, do you want to bet dough?"
I cast and I cast, and worked it
with glee,
But never a $100 brown did I see,
When all of a sudden I spied on the wall,
A giggling young girl with no pole
at all,

Just a bit of a line, a hook and a worm,
Looked like to me she was just out
to learn.
Then all of a sudden she started to yell,
She pulled out a brown, bigger than H—
Hauled it right up over the wall,
Seemed to be no trouble at all,
Yes, that was the end, as I reeled
in my line,
Headed for bridge, left the fishing
behind,
The thought of the brown still in my mind.
I yelled "Come on, boys" as I
blasted my horn,
"To H— with fishing in the early morn."

Georgetown Soldiers Serve in Korea

Two more Georgetown soldiers are en route to Korea with Canada's latest contribution to the United Nations force serving there.
— Lewis Brandford, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brandford and husband of Millie Lorrman, is a member of the draft. A Meadow Glen Growers employee before his enlistment last August, he trained at Petawawa and Fort Lewis, Washington.
Wesley Hiltz, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Dolph Hiltz is also Korea-bound, Enlisting with the Royal Canadian Regiment, he also trained at Petawawa and Fort Lewis. He is married and has one son, Stephen.
