KING SOLOMON'S MINES

Stewart Granger, Deborah Kerr, Richard Carlson, take refuge behind an embankment to escape the murderous hoofs of a stampede of six thousand wild animals fleeing from a single fire. The scene is one of the many thrill packed moments in "King Solomon's Mines," MGM's spectacular filmization of the H. Rider Haggard's adventure classic, filmed in Africa on a five month's safari. Coming to the screen of the Roxy for three days next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

LAST FRIDAY night saw a good attendance at the Friday night social. Alex Taylor and Jimmie Murphy were in charge of things and as usual made a good job of it. The orchestra is Orval Shea's.

OUR GENIAL caretaker, Jim Blair, has been laid up for a few days. He has been working as usual around the Branch, but he certainly has had a rough siege of it. However, he seems to be much better, now.

THE THREE in charge of the Buffalo trip, Bill Roney, Will Hillis, and Frank Parmeter report that everything is well in hand, and that the trip promises to be the best yet, and a good crowd is expected to go, about 30, we believe. The week-end trip is scheduled for the week-end of June 9th, and the group will go by bus. The writer hopes to have one of those going turn in an account of the trip for the column.

BRANCH 120 have arranged a game with Acton Legion for the week-end after next, and hope to see a good turnout of members on hand. See Scotty Patterson or Eric Tomlinson for all the details.

THE CRIB and euchre parties are still under way and the boys are doing a mighty fine job on promoting an extra recreational outlet for the Branch.

A DART tournament has been mooted, and we believe the boys are working out the details now. Possibly we'll have some news for you about it next week.

THIS WEEK, with the introduction of a monthly bulletin to the members of the Branch, one of the most progressive steps in the Legion has been taken, in our opinion. It was unanimously decided at the last meeting to start a policy of notifying all members of each meeting, parade, etc. and also to include a list of coming events, etc. It will be printed on card, so that it will be able to be kept for monthly reference. It is hoped (particularly by the writer) that this will boost attendance at monthly meetings, as well as creating more interest generally in the Branch. The first issue, naturally, is always a little difficult to lay out, and by no means will be a perfect example of what is intended to develop. So, for any suggestions about it, or criticisms, contact the president, Will Hillis or Fred McCartney. You can be assured that your ideas will get careful consideration. We can't always promise to take your advice, but we will sure be glad to have it. Personally, we were very pleased to see the Branch decide so wholeheartedly on this suggestion of a bulletin. It must pay off, because almost 90 per cent of other organizations, lodges, service clubs, etc., send them out. . . and furthermore, it is our strong conviction that any and every member, whether he is in regular attendance around the Branch or not, is entitled to be notified of what's going on down there. You should receive the bulletin on the week-end or Monday

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS PLAN TWILIGHT MEET

The third annual twilight meeting of the Halton Holstein Breeders is scheduled for Hayes Sales Arena near Trafalgar, later this month, states A. G. Hunter, president of the Halton association. This popular annual event will be understood, be a combined get-together for members of the Halton dairy calf clubs and all Halton black and white enthusiasts. An invitation is extended to all interested in dairy cattle. Prof. George Rathby, Associate Head of the Department of Animal Husbandry at the OAC, is to be the main speaker. His subject will be a most timely one centering around recent developments in hay making. In recent years there has been a strong trend towards "grass silage" in many sections. There are also many advocates for barn hay driers. Both methods involve expenditures for additional equipment and as we see the picture the method most suitable to one farmer is not necessarily the method which would be satisfactory to another farmer under a different set of conditions. For this reason Prof. Rathby's resume should be of interest and value to all dairymen. The programme will also include demonstrations and competitions in "Selective Registration and Judging."

JUST IN TIME to remind you about next Thursday's meeting . . . so let's see a good crowd on hand for the general meeting. The last one only lasted 55 minutes, from start to finish, we covered a lot of business and had plenty of time for some chews and biscuits afterwards, with whatever goes with it and still be home by nine thirty. So how about it fellows?
