

Tom, we've got our telephone!

"I just had to call you and tell you the good news."

It's a big event for us too—and it is taking place in homes and offices, in cities and villages every day—bringing more and better telephone service to more and more people.

In the past five years we've connected over one and a half million telephones to meet new requests for service. We've added well over two million miles of wire to carry the ever growing volume of local and Long Distance calls.

In fact we've packed as much growth into the past five years as we did in the first fifty years of our history.

We're going right on with the job. If you haven't service, we want you to know we're working at it. Your place on the list is being protected and your telephone will be installed just as soon as possible.

Canadian Unity

Second prize ($10.00), in the Canadian Legion essay contest, won by Eileen Kerr.

Unity is the state of one, concord or wholeness. Canada has unity. Although made up of widely varied nationalities and religions Canada is one of the most peace-loving of countries.

In Canada there can be found members of every nationality known. There can be found nationalities renowned for their enmity towards one another living happily side by side. The French, many of whom date from the original settlers, live mainly in Quebec and form approximately one-third of the population. The English, who first came with the Empire Loyalists form about three million of the population. Scottish, Irish, German, Ukrainian, Scandinavian and Polish are well represented in our vast country. Although there are already many here from the Netherlands, still more immigrants are coming to Canada at the present time. Italians and Russians live here also. However the fact that we live happily side by side, helping one another is more important.

Religion which plays an important part in every one's life is not in the least restricted. Instead each person has the right to worship how and when he pleases providing he does not interfere with anyone else. Churches are numerous and identify some of the religions as Roman and Greek Catholic, United, Baptist, Anglican, Lutheran and Jewish, along with many more. The churches themselves benefit communities and help to bring the people of towns, villages, and cities closer together. A great aid to Canadian unity is the fact that a person may choose his own profession. Each trade helps Canada both in commerce and unity. There are many trades which keep Canadians content and prosperous.

One out of every three Canadians are employed in Agriculture. Canada provides the greatest meat export in the world, making people proud of her agriculture.

Canadian natural resources are used in lumbering, mining and fishing. Factories buzz all year in producing the products of our forests. Numerous minerals are found in Canada and made into metal products. The fishing in British Columbia and along the Eastern Coast provides many positions both in the obtaining and processing of fish.

Canadian doctors are noted for their skill. In scientific matters Canada lacks nothing. The architects come from every nation and show the different styles in their work. One out of every six labourers belong to a union. Most important is the education of the young Canadians. The children are well-educated. Canadians are proud of their teachers, schools and even the pupils. The occupations for new and young Canadians are many and varied. Everyone is sure to find a job to suit his taste.

There are many things provided in Canada for the betterment of Canadians, that a few other countries do not have. First among these is the social service which includes free employment service. This helps Canadians and foreigners to obtain jobs. Another is the Workmen's Compensation Board which helps those hurt in their jobs by giving hospital treatment and if the person is left unable to work, provides a pension. These are two out of many that bring Canadians closer together.

Canadian culture is well looked after also. Libraries are numerous and with the best of books. The musicians can hear any type of music they like from symphonies to jazz as the more modern music is sometimes called. The artists are numerous and are provided with schools and museums especially for their work. Historical museums are also numerous and important both here and abroad.

The Canadian government is also very important to unity. The people are free to elect who ever they please. However, we still stay by and with England. Our relationship with England is great and many envy us. Canada has become an important country. Proof of its importance is the fact that now we send ambassadors to other countries to take care of our welfare. We are self-governing and this in itself is important to one and all, young and old. Although most of our constitution is from historical precedent and common practice, Canada is free, up-to-date, and happy.

Everything previously mentioned is important to Canadian unity. For Canadians are happy in their nationalities, which shows up in their faces, clothing and holidays freely celebrated. Their religions represent the sacred part of unity. Their jobs are the hard work of unity for if people can't work together there is no unity. Their pleasure is the finishing touch in unity for to play together in harmony is extremely important. Therefore Canada has unity in all respects, something to be envied.

The 1949-50 herring season in H.C. was worth about $8,000,000, and employed to 500 fishermen.

Of Canada's 174,000,000 acres of land, some 7,000,000 are in grasslands.

Tom Gard's Note Book

Bits of driftwood picked up along the shores of northern lakes make excellent decorative pieces, and can often be formed into useful objects. One very good friend worked several specimens into various interesting Christmas decorations that were both attractive and original. One hollow "log" held small tube candles; odd shapes painted white spelled out the family initials on the door against a background of green; several pieces had been fashioned to hold small floral arrangements. Be on the alert for useful and ornamental pieces of driftwood during your holidays this summer.

What a happy association — holders made with your own hands for flowers from your own garden. Follow the instructions given for a simple flower holder and suggestions for floral arrangements.

Restic Pergola

As well as remembering to use flowers indoors, don't forget to add beauty to your garden — especially with roses. Climbers require some means of support and a pergola is just the thing. We have a small rustic arbour worked into our garden plan that is a blaze of color right now.

Cornered

The Gards have become accustomed to holidaying during the first two weeks in July. Each year at this time I usually tackle some small improvement in the cottage to take my mind off fishing and this season will be no exception. There is one corner that is waste space at the present time and I have agreed to install a general utility cupboard. Plans are well in hand now but there will likely be a few wrinkles to iron out once the job is started. I'm using plywood but it could be made equally well from cheaper material.
