New Muskoka Dam Will Benefit Georgetowners

Mrs. Jessie Bentley, who is postmaster at Yearleys, Muskoka, and who has been district correspondent for the Hunstville Forester for thirty years, has sent us an article which she feels will be of interest to Georgetowners residents who own property in the Muskoka and Parry Sound districts.

Five years ago, a brief was prepared and application sent to the government for a dam which is now being constructed.

The cement dam is being built on the Waterfalls at Axe Creek at the village of Yearley by the Dept. of Public Works and the Dept. of Lands & Forests. This dam will retain a good source of water supply in case of bush fires. It replaces an old wooden dam which has long since disintegrated.

The new dam is on the same site, Lot 11, concession 3, in Stisted Township, Muskoka, with a well-travelled road leading right to the dam. There a Georgetowner resident owns a summer home and further west, another Georgetowner resident owns a picturesque cottage near the same stream. On the town line, other Georgetowner residents own pine plantations planted and growing since 1935. The dam is just half a mile from Yearling's post office.

FARM NEWS

Miss Ruth Brown Awarded All-Expense Chicago Trip

The main street of the county town was a busy spot around 9.00 a.m. on Saturday, June 2nd, when one hundred and thirty Juniors from all sections of Halton gathered for their annual livestock judging competition or achievement day. In the morning sixty-six Halton Junior Farmers with Agric. Rep. J. E. Whitelock in charge visited six Trafalgar township farms. At Clayton May's they judged two classes of Yorkshires; a class of Jerseys at Maurice Beaty's; two classes of Shorthorns at Ted Manning's, and thence to Joe Trimble's for a class of Holsteins; then to Valley Crest Farm for two classes of Clydesdales and wound up their morning tour by judging two classes of Hampshires sheep at J. H. Willmott's. In the afternoon at the Milton High School the young men gave oral reasons for their placings on five of the ten classes judged in the morning. In short, it was a busy day for all, but they were agreed that it was a privilege to work on some of Halton's best livestock. An added feature was the presence of Arthur Young and David Hamilton, two "Young Farmers from Scotland," now touring Ontario as guests of the Junior Farmers of Ontario and the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture.

Another interested visitor was A. M. Barr, Director of Extension for the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture.

The Milton Town Hall was a veritable beehive of industry throughout the day. Here sixty-five Junior Homemakers with Miss Ruth Hunt, Home Economist in charge, had their Achievement Day in connection with home-making projects taken during the year. "Working With Wool," and "The Club Girl Entertains" were the projects in question. On display were their record books, files containing reference material on entertaining, cooking, house furnishings, and other subjects of value to homemakers. In addition, the girls who had been taking the project "Working With Wool" had on display a skirt or jumper made by them during the winter months. These were modelled during the afternoon for the benefit of visiting parents, friends and Institute members. Each Club had set up a club exhibit, illustrating the versatility of a wool skirt in a wardrobe, or the correct setting of a table. Skits were also presented by each club on "Packing a week-end bag" — "May I Present" and "New Life for an Old Skirt." The young people are indeed to be congratulated on their local Club Leaders, namely Miss Anne Pelletterio of the Ash Club; the Misses Jessie Wingfield and Eleanor Stark, of Ashgrove; Miss Wilma Johnson and Mrs. Lloyd May of the Hornby Club; Mesdames Frank Brown and S. Kirkpatrick of Limehouse; Mesdames Max Featherstone and Coling of Nelson; and Mrs. E. R. Burk of Norval.

Among the many interested spectators were the Misses Rosemary Stewart and Ann Christie of Scotland; Miss Echo Lidster, president of the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls work for the Province of British Columbia; and Miss Florence P. Eadie, supervisor of Junior Extension, Women's Institute branch, Toronto.

Towards the conclusion of the afternoon programme Miss Lorna Lawrence, secretary of the Halton Junior Farmers, presented each club member with two teaspoons for each unit completed during the year. Mrs. M. J. Brown, president of the Halton District W.I. presented each of the following girls who had completed six homemaking club units, with county honour certificates — Hazel Reed, Ash; Jean Bird, Marion Bird, Bernice Wilson, and Barbara Cunningham, all of the Ashgrove Club.

The Halton District W.I. Championship Trip was won by Ruth

Drift bottles, released in Hudson Bay 20 years ago to check on water currents, are still turning up. All returns are from Hudson Bay shore points.
