Two Dedications at Harvest Home Service

Dedication of two church ornaments marked the harvest service at St. Stephen's Church on Sunday, when Archdeacon W. G. O. Thompson was special preacher. A rector of forty years ago, Rev. Mr. Perry, now retired, read the lessons.

An altar, cross was dedicated to the memory of the late Hattie Brain Noble, wife of Rev. Norman Noble, East Caledon, who spent her girlhood in the parish. A missal desk was presented by the family of Frank Weller, killed overseas in World War 2.

Drug Store Employee Weds Acton Garageman

In a quiet ceremony at Allenford on September 10th, Margaret Smith of Georgetown was married to Ray Thompson, Acton.

The bride is a member of Robb's Drug Store staff here and the groom a member of the Thompson Motors organization in Acton. Rev. O. R. Flindall, a former minister at Ballinafad, performed the ceremony.

RETURNS TO SCHOOL

Miss Jane Milne, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Milne, has returned to Hatfield Hall, Cobourg, for her second term.

Classrooms are Overcrowded Curtail Home Economics Class

Overcrowding in home economics and shopwork classrooms at Milton High School has resulted in some curtailment of classes for the present. Mrs. McArthur, home economics teacher, told North Halton High School board at its meeting in Milton Monday that she could not continue to teach as many as 31 girls from Georgetown at one session when facilities were designed to accommodate from 16 to 20. Last year, she said, she had carried heavy classes and it did not give the girls satisfactory training, nor would her health allow her to continue.

Principal J. L. Lambert said that it was impossible to organize the local time table to allow for two groups to go to Milton weekly, so it was decided for the present to split the class in two and have students take their training every other week. Later on, it may be necessary to eliminate some students in order to have a small-size weekly class.

Over the vigorous objections of a Georgetown member, Walter Biehn, permission was granted for two Acton district girls to continue to attend Guelph Collegiate for an academic course. At a previous meeting permission had been denied. Their mother, Mrs. Penfold, was prepared to address the school board Monday but a motion of permission was made before she appeared. C. V. Pickett, a Milton member, explained that Mrs. Penfold works in the city and her daughters go after school to their grandparents' home. Besides this, he said, one of the girls takes music lessons at noon hour and the other goes to Kitchener after school for dancing lessons. They have been attending in Guelph for two years, but this year could be picked up on a bus route to Eden Mills. Mr. Pickett also said that the cost of running the bus extra miles to Eden Mills was only slightly less than the tuition fees which the board will pay to Guelph.

Mr. Biehn objected to the board reversing its decision without sufficient thought and without even having the mother state her case in person.

"We make rules and we should uphold them", he said, "otherwise we will be swamped with applications to go here, there and everywhere".

Requests of Martin Armstrong, Georgetown to take an industrial art course at Central Tech., Toronto;

Arnie Thorarinson and Audrey Burrows, Acton to continue special courses at Guelph were approved. Requests for Ruth Brinklow, Nassagaweya and Charles Wood, Acton, to attend Guelph were refused.

Equipment purchases included four new typing desks and new typewriters for Georgetown, football equipment for Milton and Acton as well as art supplies. Secretary Gordon Brown warned that expenditures would have to be watched closely until the end of the year as less than $1,000 remained for expenses other than certain fixed costs.

Representatives of two firms of architects addressed council, offering their services for the proposed new schools. It was explained to these gentlemen that the schools were a long way from being built and that municipal approval had not as yet been received by the board.

FARM NEWS

Entries Roll In For Milton Dairy Show

Everything points to an outstanding entry in the Holstein, Jersey, and Guernsey Show to be held at Milton, on Saturday, Sept. 29. Entries from the leading herds of the County were rolling into the Agricultural Office at Milton this past week-end. The official judges for the three shows are as follows:

Holsteins, Durno Innes, Woodstock; Jerseys, Norman Bagg, Edgeley; Guernsey, Chas. Henshaw, King.

The achievement day for Halton's three Calf Clubs will be held in conjunction with the same show and here Clifford Morrow of the Ontario Live Stock Branch will be official adjudicator.

President Allan Dixon and his fellow officers of the Halton Agricultural Society have worked hard and long this past summer to make the 1951 show the best on record. To this end a new hall has been erected and is rapidly approaching completion; additional land has been purchased to serve as a parking area. The cattle rings have been levelled and reseeded and temporary bleachers are being provided for the spectators around the cattle rings. When we visited the new hall on Friday of last week, we found some twelve directors all busy making tables, etc. for the new hall. Incidentally, the new hall is most attractive, being well lighted and modern in every respect. Exhibits from the farms, homes and school rooms of Halton and surrounding district will indeed have an opportunity to be shown and seen to advantage.

The Special Junior Section which includes special classes for inter-club exhibits from (1) Junior Farmer Clubs; (2) Junior Institutes; (3) Junior Homemaking Clubs; (4) Girls' Garden Clubs, will be housed in the old hall. While the exterior may look somewhat dismal and uninviting when compared to the new hall, we have every confidence that this new section will have much of interest and prove most attractive.

Manchester 'U' Fellowship Awarded to Michael Beer

Michael Beer has been awarded a two-year fellowship at the University of Manchester.

One of Georgetown's most brilliant students, he attended the University of Toronto after graduation from Georgetown High School, where he graduated in Chemistry. Then took his Master of Arts degree in Applied Mathematics. He went to England last year to continue his studies for a degree of Doctor of Philosophy in physical chemistry.

Michael is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Beer, his father being a chemist with the Beardmore Company in Acton, as well as operating a farm near Georgetown. A post card sent to one of his high school teachers, Miss Florence Luke, recently tells of a pleasant summer which he spent in France and Switzerland, touring with two Swiss friends.

POLIO ON THE WANE ONE CASE REPORTED

Only one case of poliomyelitis was reported to the Halton County Health Unit during the week ending September 15. A young man of 21 from Burlington, had been ill since August 31. He shows paralysis. Actually, no new cases have had their onset during September.

If no further cases are reported during the coming week The Health Unit feels that the chance of an epidemic occurring has passed even though an occasional case may still occur. The Health Unit proposes to resume its immunization program in one week.
