Grunt 'n Groaners at Arena Here Thursday

Matchmaking for the Board of Parks Management. Bob Lane has lined up an all-star wrestling show for this Thursday in the arena. It is the first time in many years since there has been big time wrestling in town. Wrestling has hit the limelight, now that it is a common feature on television and local television fans will recognize many of the faces in tomorrow's show.

A wrestling ring is being erected in the centre of the arena and there will be a perfect view for all the spectators. The main bout features Farmer Bill Jones from Gary, Indiana, who wrestles in beard and overalls with Chief War Eagle from Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The Great Fofo from New York City meets the Masked Marvel in one of the preliminaries and the third bout features Wild-Bill Cody and Joe Maich. The latter is a Brantford boy who gained fame as an Olympic wrestler and now promotes wrestling matches as well as stock car races. Earlier this year, he promoted the successful stock car races in the park.

MASKED MARVEL

The Masked Marvel meets the Great Fofo in one of the feature wrestling bouts at the arena tomorrow night, Thursday the 25th, marking the return of big-time wrestling to Georgetown.

Institute Makes Gift Member Moved to Town

The Women's Institute meeting was held on Tuesday afternoon, October 16th at the home of Mrs. Robert Cunningham with the president, Mrs. Leslie Giffen opening with the ode and prayer. Roll Call was answered by "A good deed my neighbour has done for me". The meeting favoured donating fifty dollars to the new Home for the Aged. A committee to plan a social evening in November was appointed. Mrs. W. Stringer, Mrs. Frank Wilson and Mrs. Cecil Wilson. The motto "If all the members were like me what would our Institute be" was well given by Mrs. Charles Austin. Mrs. William Cromar delighted everyone by her humorous readings. Mrs. Milton Bird gave current events, a solo by Mrs. Hector Bird and a splendid paper on "Education provides advantages for good citizenship" by Mrs. Bob Alexander. Mrs. John Belloddy spoke a few words of appreciation to Mrs. Walter Brownridge who has moved to Georgetown and who was a willing worker in every way in the Institute while Mrs. Russell Hepburn presented her with a pretty cake-plate, cup and saucer. Mrs. Brownridge, taken by surprise thanked everyone for the gift and meeting closed with the national anthem and a dainty luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Beer of Erin visited on Sunday with Mrs. George Nurse and her brother, Mr. Beer.

Mr and Mrs Hartley Anderson and son Peter of London, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr and Mrs. Arthur Ruddell.

Mr. Will Hardy left on Monday morning to motor back to the sunny south. We will all be looking for his return from Florida in the spring.

Local Ladies Models At IODE Fashion Show

A fashion show held last Wednesday and Thursday in St. John's Church Hall by the local IODE chapter was very successful. The show was staged by Brill's, with Barber's Gift Shop supplying jewelry for the models, who paraded on a specially constructed runway down the centre of the hall. Models were all local ladies, many of them IODE members. Mrs. Wallace Thompson, regent of the chapter, introduced the show both nights.

Mrs. John L. Barber provided background piano music during the show, while Mrs. Harold Hutchinson and Fred Cotton acted as commentators, describing the dresses and furs which the ladies modelled. Miss Marion Hepburn sang both nights. Mrs. James F. Evans accompanying at the piano. Tiffany perfume samples were given to all ladies attending the show by Robb's Drugs. Norton Floral provided floral decorations and stage sets were by Ernie Alcott. Bill Boal was in charge of lighting.

Ladies who modelled were Mrs. Fred Chapman, Mrs. Florence Curtis, Mrs. James Linton, Mrs. J. Inglis, Maple Avenue, Mrs. Ron Kitchen, Mrs. Ted Darlington, Mrs. J. Gillis, Mrs. Mervyn Cook, Mary English, Eleanor Spitzer, Shirley Muckart, Leona Conn, Betty King and Gretchen Bradley.

Prizes were given each night. On Wednesday, Mrs. Hazel McMeekin received a Tiffany toilet set from Robb's, Mrs. Fred McNally a Brill's voucher, Mrs. William McNally a silver ice cube bowl and Mrs. George Dobson a tea service, both given by the IODE. Thursday, Brill's vouchers were given to Mrs. John Fisher of Montreal, Myrtle Warren and Mrs. Robert Barber. Joan Chaplin won an Elizabeth Arden cosmetic
