

Nancy Brown AND HER SIX ENVELOPES

Nancy no longer uses this old-fashioned system. In fact . . . nowadays her husband calls her a financial whiz. That's because she followed the advice of friends by opening a Current Account at The Commerce. To-day Nancy writes cheques, and keeps track of every penny paid out from the statement given to her by the Bank each month. She started her banking off on the right foot too, by reading, "It's Simple When You Know How". It's the handy purse size booklet giving helpful tips on day to day banking, and prepared especially for women by The Commerce.

Fire Plan Explained At Farm Forum Rally

A spring rally, to mark the closing of the farm forum broadcast was held by Esquimaux forums in Esquimaux Community Hall, Stewarttown, last Tuesday. Joe Ross was chairman for the evening and remarked on the good attendance which indicates the interest taken in the farm forum movement in this part of Ontario. He introduced county president R. McLaughlin, who outlined the season's activities.

Mr. Simmins was introduced at the meeting and spoke briefly. He is spending some time in Halton in connection with a survey being made by UNESCO. Mr. Alexander, from the fire marshal's office, was introduced by Reeve George Leslie, who spoke briefly about a proposed township fire area. Mr. Alexander enlarged on the subject and had some excellent films to drive home the need for fire equipment for rural areas. He told how these areas are established and the assistance the government gives in grants, providing the equipment meets government standards. Everyone was most interested in the subject and Mr. C. Chisholm expressed the appreciation of the gathering to Mr. Alexander. The presence at the meeting of fire chief William Hyde and other members of Georgetown Fire Brigade showed the interest and cooperation which can be expected from Georgetown.

H. S. Hetherington outlined the establishment of a poultry marketing board and announced the date for voting on this subject.

Some enjoyable musical numbers were given by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Scott and Stan McClean, with violins and guitars. After delicious refreshments, up to the usual farm forum standards, Bert Davidson was master of ceremonies and the musicians played for a number of dances to close out an enjoyable evening for the farm folk of the township.

Agrees With Editorial On Garbage Collection

Georgetown, April 5th, 1952

Dear Mr Editor
As a taxpayer (they are paid) I would like to voice my approval of your editorial on the garbage collection problem. I agree that the most economical and at the same time, most reliable method of collection is to employ a separate contractor for the work. To my mind, the present contractor has one or two men (one in particular) who give many hours of "their own time" to seeing that each area is cleaned up, even though it means working till after dark when the loads are heavy. If the town men were to be employed at this work, all other work would likely suffer, and at the same time, the problem of overtime pay would immediately rear its ugly head.

My advice to Mayor Armstrong and the Council is to stick with the present system, and save money and worry for all of us.

Yours very truly,

—BYSTANDER.

ing. Since the Folk School is non-denominational and the church is considered an important factor, the students attended two of the local churches on Sunday morning and the school broke up in the afternoon to the tunes of "Sing Your Way Home" and "We're On The Upward Trail."

Varied Program at Second Folk School

For the second year a Folk School has been held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Coulter, Campbellville, from March 19th to 23rd.

This year four boys from Grey County joined with four girls from Halton County to participate in an interesting program. The theme of the Folk School was "Enriching Rural Life in Halton and Grey Counties" and was under the leadership of Mr. Clifford Waite who was assisted by local speakers.

The students who attended and took part in household duties and other necessary tasks in connection with the school were Mary Lou Alexander, Norval; Bernard Connor, Corbetton; Bill Hargrave, Proton Station; Mary Ferrier, Campbellville; Ronald Johnston and Reg Grummett, Proton; Ruth Peddie, and Ellen Chapman, Milton.

In order to give those students who had not attended a Folk School before an idea of what Folk Schools really are, Mr. Waite reviewed Grace Gray's "A Way of Life" and Leonard Herman's "Folk Schools For Ontario." Each morning the school opened with morning devotions. During the course of the school different aspects of public speaking were studied, such as "Elements of Parliamentary Procedure"; "Introduction and Thanking a Speaker"; "Reading and Public Speaking" and "The Duties of the President and Secretary." Mr. Waite also led in discussion on "Etiquette"; "Physiology"; "Ecology"; "Personality"; "Why Read?"; "Newspaper Reporting"; "Art"; and "The Good Citizen."

The other subjects covered in the course of the school were "The Federations of Agriculture" led by Mr. M. A. Campbell, president of Nipson Twp. Federation; "Drama," led by David Pelletier, vice president of Ont. Junior Farmers; "History of the Farm and Co-op Movement," led by Mrs. Gordon Gray, a well known writer and speaker; "Central Marketing Agencies" led by Mr. R. S. Hetherington, secretary treasurer of Halton Fed. of Agric.; "Co-Ops and Credit Unions," led by Mr. J. MacGillivray, fieldman of the Milton Co-Op.

Mr. Waite also told of "Frontier College" which is an adult education project where university students go to work with a construction gang, in a lumber camp or to other labour camps and teach their fellow labourers in the evenings.

He also set up a mock parliament in which a number of bills were presented and one to provide Marketing Legislation for Agricultural Production in Canada was carried unanimously, even the opposition voting for the bill. This was presented as well as the skits showing a poorly conducted and a well conducted Farm Forum Meeting and a soap opera "Tom's Other Wife" enacted by members of the audience at the community night in Limestone School. This community night was considered the highlight of the school.

For recreation the students enjoyed a number of songs, singing games and also a couple of hikes between sessions and in the even-
