

Bus Contracts Cause School Board Controversy

A discussion on bus tenders and a possible reallocation of students among the three North Halton high schools was the primary item on the agenda of the school board meeting in Acton Monday, June 16.

Tenders had been asked for the seven bus routes in the district. The present bus drivers, George Inglis, M. Poole, E. Tyler, and Art Scott all tendered on their routes, and Mr. Scott submitted further tenders on all routes except the Nassagaweya one, which is driven by Mr. Inglis. The three tenders were at 35c a mile, while the Scott tender was at 35c for the first 50 miles on each route and 25c thereafter.

A motion by Messrs. Coon and Corbett that tenders be awarded as in former years was followed by an amendment by Cleave and Beaumont that Mr. Scott be awarded all routes on which he had tendered. Movers of the amendment pointed out that a saving of almost $1400 would be made this way, those who moved the original motion said that the good record of drivers over five years, and the fact that each of the men had a substantial investment in equipment, favoured leaving the tenders as they stood. In view of the fact that four of the twelve board members were absent acting chairman Nelson Pickett said he did not feel such an important matter should be decided until a full board meeting was held, and a further motion was made and passed that decision be reserved for a special meeting at which all members should be present.

Walter Biehn brought up, in connection with this, a situation which he believed should be considered along with bus routes. When Georgetown joined the district, he pointed out, it was his understanding that students from the Georgetown area who had part of their high school education at the other two schools would continue there till graduation, but that new students who fell within the Georgetown orbit would start in here.

Instead of this, he said, students were still being taken from Norval, Stewarttown and Limehouse to other schools, and there are very few rural students in Georgetown. This has had an adverse effect on scholastic standing, as rural students have a better record of staying at school longer and securing better average grades. Mr. Scott's bus route, he showed, is 44 miles, while the combined total of bus routes to the other schools is 258 miles.

Contracts for coal for the Georgetown and Milton school were awarded to W. H. Kentner and Son and R. S. Adams Co. Gordon Farlow was hired to paint the Milton School exterior at a tender price of $350.

Miss Mary Snyder, a McMaster University graduate, was hired to fill a vacancy on the Acton staff. The resignation of Marion Hepburn as music teacher at Georgetown was accepted and the board will advertise for a replacement. Six thousand dollars insurance on contents of Acton school was renewed with agent Mrs. McDonald.

Next year a $3.00 grant per student will be provided by the government for purchase of text books, and it was decided to have students make a $2.00 deposit, to be returned at the end of the term upon receipt of the books in good condition. The problem of an overcrowded Grade 13 at Milton next year. (It is believed there will be 27 students) was brought up by principal Marcellus, and a temporary classroom will be outfitted in part of the auditorium.

How to Protect YOUR Savings?

As a good family man, or as a good citizen, you save some part of what you earn. You save it either through putting money in the bank, or through the purchase of insurance or securities.

There is little chance of those savings being lost. But there is grave danger that their value will be destroyed. The value of savings is progressively destroyed every time the buying power of the dollar is reduced. Buying power of the dollar inevitably goes down as prices go up.

Prices go up every time there is a wage increase without a corresponding increase in man-hour production. It is just as simple as that.

So to protect your savings, wages and production must be kept in balance.
