CHICORY, WILD CARROT PREVALENT IN HALTON

In recent weeks many farms in Halton have been literally covered with chicory and wild carrot. It is, however, encouraging to note that all four townships in addition to the county have or are spraying their roadsides. It is quite noticeable that some municipalities have got a better kill on their roadsides than others.

As time goes on and as the men doing the work become more accustomed to using the various chemicals, a better job will be done. It definitely takes experience with the 2-4 D's to get good results. That the 2-4 D's will kill chicory and wild carrot is, however, very evident. One has only to visit some of the farms where they are spraying their fence bottoms or where they are spraying the roadsides in front of their respective farms to know that 2-4 D is mixed at the proper strength and at the proper time, will definitely do a complete job and be a reasonable cost. It is definitely an encouraging note that our municipal authorities and farm leaders are making some effort to correct the situation. Next year, if there is much to be accomplished in Halton is to retain our place as one of the leading counties in Ontario agriculture. If maximum results are to be secured from the expenditures being made for weed eradication then it would seem to us that our county crop improvement association must give some leadership toward organizing and sponsoring a Spray Day next May. The literature on Chemical Weed Killers while very praiseworthy is nevertheless very complicated and difficult to interpret by the great majority of us who have had little or no experience in using the many commercial preparations on the market.

JOHNNY PALMER, from Baden, North Carolina, captured the Canadian Open Golf Championship and the Seagram Gold Cup at Winnipeg when he put together a fantastic four round total of 264, 21 shots under par and a new record score for the Open. Palmer's brilliant rounds of 66, 65, 66, 66 over the par 72 St. Charles course put him 11 strokes ahead of Fred Haas Jr. of New Orleans and Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Florida who wound up tied for second. The fabulous shooting of the new Canadian champion made it the most wide-open walk away in the history of the Open.

Tied for fourth spot a stroke behind Haas and Mayer were Al Zimmerman, Skeer Riegel and Doug Ford who had from Portland, Oregon, Tulsa, Okla. and Harrison, N.Y. respectively. Another two strokes back were Dutch Harrison, who took the Seagram Gold Cup to Little Rock, Arkansas, 4 years ago, and Roberto Di Vincenzo, the Argentine champion.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver was high Canadian, 112th in the standings, closely followed by Henry MacNeil of Edmonton. Jim Ferrier of Australia, winner for the last two years, wound up well down the list.
