SILVER-WOOD

INSTITUTE HEARS OF AGRICULTURE ABROAD

Mrs. J. McCulloch, speaking to Silver-Wood Institute at their meeting last Thursday, took "Everybody's Business" as her subject and used it to illustrate how farming is the basis of many industries and of trade and commerce.

Mrs. McCulloch told of farming as she saw it two years ago when she attended the ACWW conference abroad. Her experiences and little stories of farm life in England, Scotland, Scandinavia, Holland and France were interesting and enlightening. Mrs. R. R. Corbett thanked the guest speaker.

Mrs. George Henderson was hostess for the meeting and president Mrs. E. L. Miller was in the chair. There were 19 members, 4 guests and 5 children present. Each member named her favourite flower for roll call. The members met Mrs. Russell Miller and welcomed her as a new member. Correspondence included an invitation from Banockburn W.I. inviting members to their branch extension program.

Arrangements are being made with Century Metalcraft to put on a supper at the home of Mrs. Appleyard on November 13th. Fall fair entries will be looked after by the committee.

Mrs. Henderson, Sr. convener of agriculture and Canadian industries was in charge of the meeting. Current events included news of the marriage of the president's son, Russell Miller to Geraldine Dömm, the marriage of Mrs. Snow's son Sam to Della Sargent, Mrs. Peter Miller and Mrs. McCulloch moving to Georgetown and the new homes being built on the crossroad. Travellers mentioned were Misses Rowena and Wilma Stull, Jean Ruddell and the Bell family. Mention was made of the death of Mrs. William Presswood. Mrs. H. Marchington gave a clever paper on the motto: "Perfection is not expected, but improvement is."

A pleasant hour followed, hostesses with Mrs. Henderson being Mrs. A. Gates and Mrs. Elwood Snow.

Many new specials have been added to the ladies' prize list for Georgetown Fair this year.
