Adequate Rat Control Through Use of Poison

While there are several important measures in ridding a farm of rats, use of poison is the first step. Red squill and warfarin are recommended for this purpose.

Any poison program against rats ought to be combined with a general cleanup of the farmstead to eliminate hiding and breeding places. Ratproofing or building will keep the pests out and simplify the rat problem. It is best to observe a community control campaign, so the pests will not move from one farm to another, as so often happens.

In poisoning rats, mix the poison in different kinds of food. Put this bait out in small bunches—a teaspoonful at a place. Be sure to put it where the rats feed, so it will be found easily. Don't put it in the burrows. Bait the whole farm with enough bait for all the rats. Put the bait out in the afternoon, then pick up any uneaten particles the next morning. Use fresh food for the bait.

Moistened rolled oats, fresh bread, cornmeal, meat scraps, hamburger, fresh or canned fish, apples, carrots, tomatoes and cheese all make good baits.

Red squill is an excellent poison, is safe to use and will not injure farm animals. Warfarin is the new rat poison available and is also safe to use. Rats and mice can not detect this poison in the bait and will continue eating it.

There are other poisons but more care must be taken in their use. Antu is one of these, but this poison will kill farm animals and chickens.

Kiddie Fibs Product Of Fertile Imagination

The lies children tell are not all ways lies.

According to Childcraft Advisory Service, they are often signs of a lively imagination which parents would do well to encourage.

Without imagination, there is neither sympathy nor creative talent," authoritative writers for the Service point out.

Imagination can be developed to build bridges and cathedrals. It was people with imagination who invented television, bicycles, can openers and the other countless wonders and conveniences of modern civilization.

Yet imagination in the very small child is often discouraged by well-meaning parents who mistake his perfectly normal "flights of fancy" for lies.

Imaginative tales of childhood can also reflect desires which are unfulfilled. For example, when a child has no other children with whom to play, he often creates imaginary playmates whom he talks to and about.

Ingenious Solution

The filing of papers and reference material usually presents a puzzling problem to the household. One man who does a great deal of his professional work at home which involves the filing of letters, papers and drawings, recently solved the problem by buying two second-hand golden oak commercial filing cases and removing the metal hardware. Instead, strong but attractive wooden knobs were used as drawer pulls. Then, placing the files parallel with the wall—on either side of the double door leading from his study to the living room—he had a carpenter build bookcases on the sides. Enamelled to match the woodwork, the filing cabinets now disappear almost completely into the background of the room.

Gasoline Being Tested

The Agriculture department in North Carolina is conducting tests of gasoline to provide better protection of the public against adulterated or illegally blended gasoline which has a flash point so low that its use might be hazardous. The tests are conducted in twelve laboratories on wheels, retail outlets, terminals and sources of distribution are being checked.

Malaria Wonder Drug

Aralen is known chemically as 7-chloro-4 (4-diethylamino-1-methylbutylamino) quinoline diphosphate. Clinical investigation has shown it to relieve acute attacks of malaria much faster than previously known drugs, and to cure falciparum malaria, a type of disease that is non-relapsing but often fatal.

Paint-Up Programs

In Tall-i-Bakun, an excavated settlement near the Persian Gulf, some houses had as many as seven rooms. This was unusual for such early times—about 3800 B.C. In some cases, house walls were painted with red or yellow. Apparently, the color was kept fresh by frequent coats of paint.

Ears Are Valuable

A hooked sidepiece going behind the ears seems to us a natural way to hold spectacles in place, yet it was centuries after glasses were invented before this method was used, says the Better Vision Institute. Early glasses were held in the hand, or tied around the head with a ribbon, cord, or leather strap.

Ontario, Ottawa Sign Five-Year Tax Agreement

By an agreement reached by Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario and Finance Minister Abbott, Ontario will grant for five years exclusive tax rights to Canada in the income and corporation tax fields, receiving an annual payment based upon Canada's productivity and Ontario's population changes.

Reduction of corporation taxes from 54 to 52 percent will be one of the major benefits gained. Corporations will also be relieved of the special provincial corporation taxes on capital and place of business. The province will also be assured of revenues exceeding those which it could have acquired from the income and corporation tax fields. For instance, though entitled to 5 per cent of personal income taxes raised in Ontario the province was prevented from collecting them because of costs. Without raising total taxes on Ontario taxpayers, this portion now becomes available in the Federal payments to the provinces.

This year Ontario will receive approximately $137,000,000 and it is estimated that the province will gain about $25,000,000 in revenues on the arrangement.

A FINE CATCH

Fishing recently at Ott Lake, John Koloski hooked a fine bass. His catch weighed 4 lb. 14 oz. and measured 20 inches in length.

EDWARD WICKS DIES

Edward Wicks, brother of Robert Wicks of Oakville who is associated with his father-in-law Charles Wray in operating the Georgetown 5c to $100 Store, died at Toronto General Hospital on August 18th.

He is survived by his wife, Edna Pope and another brother John Wicks, Willowdale. Interment was made in Park Lawn Cemetery after the funeral service on Wednesday at the Ross Craig Funeral Home.

FAR EAST BOUND: To the Canadian Pacific Steamship's 10,000 ton cargo vessel Maplecove goes the honour of being the first company ship to return to Pacific service since World War II. The ship, which sailed from Montreal recently, is headed for Vancouver, where she will take on the balance of her cargo. The route for the new service will be between Tacoma, Seattle, Vancouver, Yokohama, Kobe, Manila, Cebu, Hong Kong and Nagoya and late in September the Maplecove will be joined by her sister ship Mapledell, to offer a monthly service between these ports.
