FARM NEWS

HALTON HOMEMAKERS
PROMINENT AT CNE

The Junior Homemakers had a busy time at the CNE, judging by a report issued by Miss Florence P. Eadie, supervisor of Junior Extension, for the Women's Institute Branch. Eleven counties made entries in the section for team demonstrations and the Halton team made an excellent showing. The Halton team is bracketed with Haldimand and Peel County teams in the first award group. Halton was represented by Frances Cox and Ruth Featherstone, of the Nelson Junior Homemaking Club, and the subject of their demonstrations was "Let's can tomatoes". The two young ladies and their local leaders, Mesdames Hugh Young and Max Featherstone, are indeed to be congratulated on their achievement.

In the individual awards in the first prize group, that is, those who had completed four projects attained 80 per cent or better and attended 75 per cent of the club meetings, the names appear of Ruth Wilson and Mary Lou Alexander, of Norval; Jean Wrigglesworth, Bernice Wilson, and Marlon Bird, of Georgetown and Irene Peacock, of Milton.

In the second prize group, those who had completed three projects, scored 70 per cent and attended 70 per cent of the club meetings, are the following Halton girls; Barbara Cunningham, Georgetown; Eileen Hunter, Norval; Ruth Brown, Limehouse; Ruth Featherstone and Frances Cox, of Nelson.

In the third prize group were Jean Bird and Marilyn Barnes, both of Esqueping Township.

FARM NEWS

RAINS HELP SOIL CONDITIONS HERE

Last week's showers, have, in general, been very beneficial. True, progress was retarded with the silt fillings and sowing of fall wheat, but we did need the moisture. Quite a percentage in the lower half of the county, previous to those showers, felt it was useless to sow wheat and plowing was just about impossible on many farms. If we get a good open fall the late sown wheat should still get plenty of top and certainly the tractor plows should not take too long to turn over the fall plowing. Let's hope some of the spotty seedlings improve to the point where they are worth leaving — they are needed on many farms, aside from the fact that spending $150 to $300 for small seeds with no results is not our idea of a joke. The corn crop is the best in years and we question if there will be many silos that aren't filled to capacity and then some. All that is needed now to make Halton farmers really happy is an outlet for some of our surplus products. However, it looks as if we'll have to pull in our belts until the American election is over in any event. This is one occasion, at least, when we wish our American friends would eliminate the bullyboy and speed up their election. We do need their market and any others which can be found.

When a girl's eyes get dreamy they are worth looking into.

The best of motorists, unfortunately, often take turns for the worst.

AROUND THE HOME

PROTECT THE GARDEN HOSE — by hanging it up on shady side of house after use so that it is thoroughly drained. All you need is a small pulley under the eaves and a rope used the same as on a flag pole.

GOOD SUPPORTS for such flowers as peonies and delphiniums may easily be fashioned from stakes, 1-1/2 or 2-inch square, painted green. Screw in hooks at one-foot intervals to support wire loops or wooden hoops.
