COMMUTERS TROUCE
CANUCKS SUNDAY

Bruce Gummer
Playing the first game of Sunday's triple header in the Avro house league in Brampton, Commuters soundly trounced Canucks 7-1.

Blake Baxter opened the scoring on a screened shot from the Canucks' blue line. Jim Coffell made it 2-0 on a passing play from Bill Barry and Bob McCandless. Cliff Norton ended the first period scoring on a pass from Jack Hamilton.

In the second period McCandless scored on a nice set-up by Coffell and a minute later Norton broke away and scored unassisted. Coffell got his second goal near the end of the period on a pass from J. Hamilton.

Early in the third period Norton scored unassisted to complete the "hat trick" and doing so after a six week lay off due to illness in his family. The Commuters are glad to see Cliff back on the lineup again.

The Canucks goal by Johnson late in the third was a fluke type. Johnson's shot bounced off Hamilton's arm at near Commuters' blue line then off up into the air again and ended up in the right hand corner of the net, behind Steamer, spoiling his chance for another shutout.

Norton with three goals and Coffell with two goals and an assist were best up front. Hugh "Hoot" Wylie played his best game of the season on defense and broke up many Canuck attacks in the last minutes of play. Next Sunday the Commuters play the Rockets in the last game of the triple header.
