Easy way to tap sap
CANADIAN farmers know the struggle, at maple sugar time, of hauling the sap to the sugar house — especially if there has been an early thaw. So we were interested in hearing how one farmer, who used aluminum tubing for summer irrigation, also used it as a spring pipeline to carry the sap from his trees to the sugar house some distance away.

Light, strong, easily handled aluminum has a way of stimulating people's ingenuity in their search for short cuts that will save them time and money. Today more than a thousand different Canadian firms are manufacturing articles made from aluminum supplied by Alcan. (Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd.)

SLIDES SHOW MISSION WORK IN LABRADOR

Rev. John M. Smith continued his sermons based on the new memorial windows last Sunday morning in St. John's United Church, the emblem for this week being "The Open Book" with the scripture verse: "The Word of Our God shall stand for ever." Mr. Smith titled his meditation "Thus saith the Lord." He pointed out that for many of us, even among professing Christians, and church workers, this statement seems old-fashioned, as if it belonged solely to bygone Old Testament days, as if God did not speak to us in these days, to command us what He wishes us to do as being His will for us, that which will be for our highest good and best for the world. But those days are not past, as many a follower of His can witness. God still can and does commune and speak with us; if we think otherwise it must be that we are not listening, our ears are not open to Him, nor our minds or hearts.

How does He speak to us? In very many different ways, not to each one in the same way, but we will soon learn and understand how, if we make ourselves ready to listen intently. Our emblem for today tells of an excellent way in which God speaks to us, through the Open Book, God's Word. His commands for our welfare and that of our world, the way of peace and goodwill. It tells us of His teachings of the right way of life, of our way back to Him, of the growth of the Kingdom of God. If we read His open book, seeking sincerely, with open heart and mind, we will hear Him speak the message He has for us.

He also speaks through His many witnesses; ministers of His who preach and teach His Word; Sunday School workers who tell of Him to boys and girls at their most receptive age. And often does God speak to us through His witnesses who say little with their tongue but much with their lives; whose doings tell those with whom they come in contact that they have heard God speak and believe, so are trying to live His way.

Then through prayer, probably our greatest channel for hearing God speaking to us. The thing is, do we pray; and if we do, do we also listen for what God may want to say to us? He is always ready to listen when we pray aright, and to answer in His wisdom. Then too, God often speaks to us through inspiration, inspiration from many sources; a good book thoughtfully read; a picture carefully studied; a good play; often from nature reverently considered and conceived as God's handiwork. His wonderful creation. If we would hear God speak, we need to be attune to Him, and to His desires for good for the world of men, with open heart and mind, remembering that He is the unchanging God in our ever changing world, and that His word of old, "Thus saith the Lord," applies at all times and abideth for ever.

Choir's anthem was "The Lord is My Shepherd." Brother James air. Solo "The Lord is My Light" by Bob McCaul.

At the evening service a set of very beautiful coloured slides was shown depicting the missionary work of the church in Newfoundland and Labrador. The pictures showed the rugged grandeur of these places and the effective work done by the missionaries as they visit far isolated settlements in their two boats, the "Messenger" and "Glad Tidings." Many simple yet beautiful churches had been built in outlying districts, generally by the people themselves, and there was much evidence of enthusiasm among the Sunday School boys and girls and young people which should augur well for the future of the churches in these places. Along with the Glad Tidings of the Gospel, the Missionaries often gave medical assistance, comfort, and counsel which was all appreciated. Especially appreciated is the broadcasting of news and Christian services, by one of the missionaries, over a local transmitter, or as one lonely trapper called it: "The best thing

Dunnville Eliminates Juvenile Hockey 120's

A second period barrage of goals by the Dunnville juvenile team clinched the final play-off game between them and the 120 Club of Georgetown in the OMHA Juvenile B playdowns. The score in this game was the same as in the game a week ago Saturday night, 6-4 making the score on the round 12-8. While the Dunnville team appeared to be more experienced than the 120's the local boys put on a good display of hockey and need have no regrets at being eliminated. All the team turned in some excellent efforts, and Maltby in goal did a marvelous job of net-minding.

The hopes of the local fans were high in the first period when the 120's rushed their opponents and notched the first goal of the game at 7:25 by Porte and Cunningham. However, before the end of the period the Dunnville team had netted two goals to take the lead. The second period proved a nightmare for the local lads, as the Kinsmen put on a super display of hockey and kept the 120's bottled up in their own end for most of the period, and running in four goals to secure the play-off.

Georgetown rallied somewhat in the final frame and retaliated with three counters, holding the home team scoreless.

The game was exceptionally clean, with only two penalties to Georgetown meted out. The winners go on to meet either Walkerville or Walkerton.

Calgary Real Estate Man for Forty Years

A Calgary businessman for over forty years, John Cook Leslie, 71, died in Calgary General Hospital on February 18th.

He was the eldest son of the late George Leslie and Martha Ann Cook and was born in Esqueving Township. After attending Waterloo School and Georgetown High School, he became a bank clerk with the Merchants Bank, and went to Calgary in 1908. Four years later he established a real estate business in the city, J. C. Leslie & Co., which he operated until he retired in 1951 and turned the business over to his son, Gordon Bruce Leslie.

In 1912, Mr. Leslie married an Acton girl, Agnes Bell, who with a family of five children, survives: Mrs. Lyman Matthews, Mrs. John Hyatt, George Alexander, John Clifford and Gordon Bruce. He also leaves four sisters, Mrs. Anna Jamieson, Kingston, Mrs. Gertrude Laidlaw, Mrs. Walter Torrance, Burlington, and Mrs. William Bowman, Georgetown, and fourteen grandchildren. Two brothers predeceased him, Frank Leslie, Innisfail, Alta, and Roy Leslie, Esqueving.

A charter member of the Calgary Real Estate Board, Mr. Leslie was an elder of Knox United Church for many years, and a member of Ashler Lodge, AF&AM. Rev. G. Preston McLeod conducted the funeral service in Knox Church and interment was in Queen's Cemetery, Calgary. Pallbearers were William Hall, Thomas Miller, David Sloane, Norman Priestly, A. W. Trickey and Ernest Scott, all of Calgary.

Hockey Fans! WHAT PENALTY IS CALLED?

A goaltender has been taken out of the game and a player of the other team breaks away with nothing between him and the open net. At that moment a player of the opposing side illegally steps on the ice and prevents the shot. What penalty does the referee call?

If a player illegally steps on the ice and prevents a shot of this kind, the referee awards a goal to the attacking team.
