First Liberian Textbook Deals With U.N.

Looking over the first school textbook ever published in the West African Republic of Liberia are Mrs. Beatrix P. Ronquillo, chief of United Nations educational liaison, and Richard S. S. Bright, Permanent Representative of Liberia to U.N. The book, written by Miss Dora Lee Allen, an American teacher who is now working in the Liberian school system, bears the title, "Our United Nations."

Family Problems Not Increasing
As Population, Meeting Told

"While the population of our county is rapidly increasing, especially at the southern end, it would appear that to date our family problems are not increasing accordingly," Superintendent G. F. Thompson told the annual meeting of the Halton County Children's Aid Society in St. Paul's United Church, Milton.

"Many problems centre around young couples," the superintendent pointed out, emphasizing that the society aimed at giving the children a greater opportunity.

Mrs. W. A. Weaver, president, in her report pointed out that the Halton Children's Aid Society is the only channel by which the community can indicate its interest in the well-being of its children. In conclusion, Mrs. Weaver asked for the support of all organizations of the county "to aid in our work to help the neglected child of today become a better citizen of tomorrow."

Featured on the program were the boys' choir of St. Jude's Church, Oakville, directed by Mr. Evans Douglas, and the speaker of the evening, D. Coughlan, director of probation services for the province.

Mr. Coughlan in his address stressed the importance of an efficiently operated probation service. He pointed out that Canada lacked a course in penology, criminal research and any Canadian literature on the subjects.

"Why have prison figures doubled in the last decade?" the speaker questioned. "In Ontario in 1942 there were 19,652 sent to prison and in 1951, 40,742 were imprisoned." Mr. Coughlan pointed out that despite an increase in population, the per capita imprisonment had increased.

"In 30 years in England commitments were reduced by two-thirds following the inauguration of legislation placing one probation officer in each court," he emphasized.

Mr. Coughlan pointed out that in Canada 70 per cent of those sentenced become repeaters, while in England where probation is more extensive, 75 per cent of the first offenders are reclaimed or did not repeat prison terms.

"The punishment should fit the character of the offender no less than the character of the crime," the director concluded.

E. Mahon presented the report of the nominating committee which was accepted, appointing the following directors:

Acton: Mrs. Orland E. Robbins, W. D. Elmer Smith.

Bronte: Mrs. Richard Ellison, Mrs. A. E. Pickard.

Burlington: Mrs. W. A. Weaver, Mrs. Louis J. Lee.

Georgetown: William Deans, Jack Armstrong.

Milton: Mrs. M. E. Nixon, J. W. Higgins.

Oakville: Dr. H. V. Cranfield, Floyd Henry.

Esqueping Township: Mrs. M. J. Brown.

Nassagaweya: J. Murray Mahon, Nelson: Mrs. Velma Norris.

Trafalgar: W. G. MacKenzie Robinson.

County Council representatives: Robert Marshall, Charles R. Anderson, Milton.

Mrs. W. A. Weaver, Burlington, was re-appointed president, with W. G. MacKenzie Robinson, Oakville, vice president; Mrs. Louis J. Lee, Burlington, secretary and Wm. Deans, Georgetown, treasurer.

Mrs. Weaver introduced the society Social Worker, Mrs. Mary E. Gilmour. Mrs. M. J. Brown expressed the appreciation of the society to the church officials, the boys' choir, retiring officers and the Mr. and Mrs. Club of St. Paul's United Church who served lunch to the group at the conclusion of

SUNDAY SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

J.D.G.

On Sunday morning at St. John's United Church, Rev. John M. Smith continued his meditation on the subject suggested by the emblem and scripture verse of the Memorial Windows. For this week the emblem was 'The Sheaf of Wheat,' and the verse 'I am the Bread of Life.' Mr. Smith said there is a very large percentage of men, women and children in the world, who barely get sufficient food to keep life together, who are constantly undernourished, and so even the humble life-giving bread is something very real and important to them. With very many of them it is so difficult to get that almost all the effort of their lives is used in obtaining it. Even in our land of plenty there are many who through unfortunate circumstances are underfed, but many kindly efforts are being made to provide for these.

But even in our goodly land where food is plentiful, there are many people who seek for nothing more than the satisfying of their bodily needs and cravings. This is living on a low plane. Many others add to this the cultivation of their intellect, the feeding of their minds and so grow physically and mentally, often using much of their life and effort for the benefit of others. That is a much higher plane of living. Then there are many others who recognize that there is another sphere of life, higher still, in which we can partake, the spiritual realm, which needs to be fed and cultivated, just as does the physical and mental, and in which we may easily starve, even with its food all around us. It was this realm which Jesus was meaning when He said: "I am the Bread of Life," the abundant Life which He came to bring to us.

Foods for all three types of life, are the gift of God, placed here for our use, if we will accept them, like any other gift, and be willing to go out of our way if need be, to receive them. Our spiritual food, like our bodily and mental food, must not only be accepted and sought after, but be assimilated into our very being, and be taken every day; become a habit of our daily living as is that of taking food, if it is to make our souls grow. We can get our daily supply from the reading of God's word, and meditating on the teachings of Jesus.

Then too, like our muscles and minds, our spiritual being must be used as exercised if it is to develop as it should. And the best development of our spiritual life, like any other part of us, has been found to be when we use our talents for others, for the uplifting of life through the nurturing of all
