If you can push the brake pedal down within two inches of the floor—or if you have to “pump” your brakes to stop short—better drop over and let us check them for you right away.

In a few minutes we can tell whether it's just a matter of getting air-bubbles out of the hydraulic lines, or replacing the brake shoes—but in those few minutes we may be able to save you serious woe on the road!

Don't let this delay. Come see us quickly, won't you?

A "Weekly" Newsman Tells About Coronation

R. G. Simpkin

This is another in a series of Coronation Year letters from overseas written for the Georgetown Herald and other members of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

The Queen is Crowned

Like many of you I did not see the actual crowning — I saw the parade passing to and from the Abbey and from a room in Canada House watched the ceremony of the crowning in the Abbey.

If I had been given an opportunity to choose my own seat I could not have had a better one. I saw the parade on the way from the Palace as it came to Trafalgar Square and swing right.

With a pair of field glasses I had along I could look into the carriage as they passed. As the Queen's Carriage swung around the turn I caught a glimpse of the Royal Couple as they waved.

Then on return they passed directly below us twice, each time within 25 feet of our gallery.

From B gallery which was the press box, we were high enough to see into the vehicles but not too high to look down on the tops.

On the first time past it had begun raining while the military units were passing, but before the Royal part of the procession came along the sun broke through and we were able to get coloured movies.

In less than an hour the parade started back past our stand again and turned at the monument towards the palace. This time the rain again soaked everyone.

Canadian troops, including navy, army and air force, formed a guard of honour on both sides of the route where the parade passed Canada House.

Those along the route were provided with slickers but when the parade came near each time these were removed and like the police and spectators they stood in the rain. Of course thousands of military and navy personnel did not have slickers at any time.

In Seats at 5 a.m.

Everyone coming to Canada House had been warned to be in their seats by six a.m. However, most of us were there by five or soon after.

We had purchased meal tickets with our seats at $6.80 for breakfast, morning coffee and luncheon. Breakfast consisted of two slices of thin bread buttered and a dab of marmalade (if you could get it but it was all gone when I got served) and a partly filled cup of tea or coffee. This we balanced on our hands as no place was provided to sit or stand. Morning coffee included a square of cake and a sandwich, again, if you could get it.

Luncheon, which was served during the time the Abbey service was going on, consisted of a cold plate of vegetable salad, lettuce and tomato, with either a slice of cold meat or some cold chicken which included bones as well as meat, a dessert of fruit and a slice of ice cream and piece of cake, choice of tea or coffee. This we again ate from our hands and I have pictures of several sitting on the thick rugs in the High Commissioner's office.

Parade a Wonderful Sight

All at home have seen pictures of the parade by now but to actually watch it pass was most inspiring. It did something that nothing else could. It was not the color and the pomp and uniforms so much as the loyalty of those millions who stood not for hours but for days wedged in so tightly that not a jot of pavement was visible among them, with the rain coming down time after time.

Some had slickers, others not; some a newspaper which soon got soaked but they did not move. Even after they had seen the parade pass once they stayed on another two hours to see it pass again. With such loyalty as this we realize there is great truth in the words: "There'll Always Be An England."

Carried on Stretchers

The St. John Ambulance did an amazing service. From our seat we saw at least fifty persons carried away on stretchers, back beyond the monument to where they were given temporary treatment. From here ambulances took those needing further assistance to hospitals.

At first they called the ambulances to the spot but soon the service became overtaxed and an emergency place was set up. Had the weather been hot and humid perhaps many more would have collapsed.

We saw St. John's men take children and others away on foot, presumably to toilets as they brought them back later where they wormed back into the crowd.

An amazing thing about the whole crowd was how they managed for personal services. There were no facilities nearly large enough to accommodate a small portion of them.

Looking down from the railing of our covered balcony while rain was dripping on the bare heads of women below, I counted one hundred and twenty-five heads in an area not as big as the average dining room. They never moved or even tried to avoid the dripping rain as there was no place to move.

Getting ideas from a china egg

In days gone by, many a farmer's wife had faith in the china egg as a "starter" for reluctant hens. It was supposed to suggest to them that laying eggs was a good idea. A "nest egg" in the Royal Bank is a good idea, too. It is a strong inducement to you—to save more. As deposit follows deposit, you watch your savings grow. Then, almost before you know it, saving has become a habit . . . and a useful one. Build up your nest egg at the Royal Bank. There's no prettier picture than a healthy looking bank book.

FARM IMPROVEMENT

Encourage your children to have a nest egg, too.
Our booklet "Financial Training for your Son and Daughter" describes a practical plan for teaching your children how to handle their own financial affairs. Ask for your free copy at any branch.
