High Price Of Tin Causes Pocketbook Pain

Ancient metallurgists called tin "Diabolus metallorum" — devil among metals. Uncle Sam, suffering a sharp pain in the pocketbook because of tin, is apt to agree.

For pans and cans and bottle caps, for bells and books and tooth-paste tubes, America depends almost entirely upon far-away mines and miners. This country has next to no tin of its own. Yet its industries swallow nearly half of the world's total output each year.

Since the Korean war began, the price of tin on the world market has taken a hitch on a skyrocket. It has soared to the highest level in history, nearly two and a half times its value of eight months ago. Amid congressional charges of international price gouging, wartime controls have been reimposed on U.S. buying of tin.

Southeast Asia, ridged by tin-bearing mountains which sweep from Burma, Thailand and Malaya to the Indonesian islands, is the world's major tin source.

Who Controls Rice Supply Controls Asiatic Destiny

Rice is the most important food in the world.

To many Americans, that statement seems a gross exaggeration—but to most of the peoples of the world, it is simply a statement of fact which has been true throughout the entire history of civilization and is just as true today.

Rice is today, as it has always been, the basic food of more than half of the world's population. In the Orient, rice is virtually the only food of millions of people—their means of sustaining life.

The supply of rice is a matter of life or death for millions of people.

He, who controls the supply of rice, will control the destiny of the entire Asiatic orbit. The most important thing to the majority of the people of Asia is not Democracy, nor Communism, nor any political ideology — but food, which means life itself. And in most of Asia, food is rice.

Store Bread in Refrigerator

Is bread likely to dry out if kept in a refrigerator instead of on a pantry shelf? The primary reason for storing bread in a refrigerator is to retard or prevent mold, of which the rate of growth increases with temperature. With normal load conditions, the relative humidity in a convenient electric refrigerator is around 40 to 50 per cent. Probably the pantry shelf is seldom much higher than that, and generally it is lower, so refrigerator storage would not be likely to dry the bread more quickly.

Crocodile Worship

The crocodile was worshipped in some parts of ancient Egypt and despised as evil in others—a fact leading to serious feuds between neighboring towns. El Faiyum, 52 miles south of Cairo, is but one of several sites once known as Crocodilopolis—City of Crocodiles. In some places where they were worshipped they were fed bread, meat, and wine, and their numbers increased so that "it was not safe for anyone to wash his feet or draw water at the river without extreme caution."

Motorists Direct Cops

Motorists direct the traffic cops in Belgrade and other cities of Yugoslavia. Approaching a traffic officer on duty, they signal their intentions by horn — one twist to continue straight, two for a right turn, three for a left. Instantly the policeman wheels and points the way with a white-gloved flourish. Not recommended for New York or Chicago, the method works in Belgrade because motorists are so few.

Time Forgot Morocco

French Morocco, North African gateway to ancient lands of the Arabian Nights, in many ways is a land which time and change forgot. Tribes in the remote Moroccan mountains still regard the camera as an instrument of the devil, foolishly designed to capture and imprison men's souls. Nonbelievers may walk into a temple in Peiping or Caqutta, but still not into a mosque in Marrakech.

Korean Cats

In mountain-crumpled Korea roam some of the world's biggest cats, immigrants from Siberian forests to the north. Occasionally measuring 12 feet from nose to tail-tip, the Korean tiger is far longer than the lion, with a shaggy, more luxuriant coat than his tropical cousin, the Bengal tiger. Siberian tigers have been known to prow down from the mountains to Seoul itself, carrying off human victims from the suburbs of the South Korean capital.

Good Fruits

The sour cherry is one of the best fruit trees for planting. It is highly important that the trees be planted early in the spring. The trees don't survive satisfactorily if transplanted after growth begins. Early Richmond and Montmorency are old varieties but still the most satisfactory. The insects which cause wormy cherries can be controlled by permitting poultry to run among the cherry trees.

—St. John's S.S. picnic will be held Thursday, July 2, Stanley Park.

Distinguished Columnist Coming to Georgetown

Readers of the Toronto Telegram count Margaret Aitken's column "Between You and Me" as one of the most entertaining features of the paper. Especially interesting have been her columns written in England while she was there as a reporter assigned to cover the Coronation.

Georgetown ladies are going to have an opportunity to hear Miss Aitken in person when she comes to town next Thursday, July 9th to speak at an afternoon tea which is being arranged in the Legion auditorium by the local Progressive Conservative Association.

Informality will be the keynote at the tea which will be held from three o'clock. Women employed in any of the local industries, are especially invited to drop in after work to hear Miss Aitken, who herself is a federal election candidate in Toronto, and Sybil Bennett, who is seeking election in Halton. Miss Aitken has promised to give some first-hand recollections of the Coronation, and she is well qualified for she had a seat in the Abbey and viewed the whole ceremony.

All ladies in town and district are cordially invited to attend. Bring the children as playroom facilities are available.

Legion Makes Important Change in Building

The local Branch of the Canadian Legion has made another important stride forward in their efforts to give their members the best of accommodation. At a meeting last Thursday night it was decided to install air conditioning and cooling units in the auditorium. This was left to the president to order and it has been announced that three units have been ordered and it is hoped to have them in operation in a matter of a few days, possibly before the week-end.

The type of unit being installed is a comparatively new one to Canada, but that has been most successful in the U.S. It is a window type, that brings in fresh air, and purifies it, as well as drawing out the stale air, smoke, etc., every few seconds. Each unit also has incorporated in it, refrigeration coils, work-

This improvement in the Legion Hall, although quite expensive, will be a decided addition to the building and should improve facilities for banquets, parties, etc., 100 per cent. Bingo fans and Friday night dancers will particularly benefit.

GRADE SIXERS VISIT MUSEUM, ART GALLERY

A full day of sightseeing in Toronto was enjoyed by pupils of Miss Wilma Stull's Grade 6 class at Chapel Street School one day last week. The children went by bus to the city, toured the Rowntree Candy Company, where they received samples of this company's products, visited the Museum and the Art Gallery, and had a picnic dinner in Riverdale Park where they visited the zoo.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Descendants of the late Thomas May held a family reunion on Saturday in town at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ern Hyde. Fifty-people attended to enjoy a social time and a picnic supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hyde, who spent the winter in Florida after their marriage last fall, visited with Mr. Hyde's family in town on Sunday. They are making their home in Toronto.

50-50 CLUB HAS PICNIC AT ERIN

Members of the 50-50 Club of St. John's Church, and their families, had a picnic at Stanley Park, Erin on Thursday.

The club decided to go ahead with their picnic after the larger St. John's picnic was postponed because of a rainy day. The church picnic will be held this Thursday.
