Well, We Tried

We were not overly optimistic when we joined a delegation which went to Toronto last week to interview the Dept. of Education. The meeting came about when it was found that tenders for the 4-room high school addition were much above the budget price, and that, judging from the successful tender received on a new 7-room school in Acton, a complete 9-room building could be erected here for possibly $50,000 extra.

Taxes Must Be Paid

It is unfortunate that the town council should have to get tough and threaten delinquent water taxpayers with loss of service. Water, probably the most necessary thing in life is so ridiculously cheap in Georgetown that in these prosperous times there would not be one person in several thousand who could not afford to pay twice the yearly twelve dollar cost. If through unfortunate circumstances, there are one or two householders who cannot afford it, we feel certain that the council would not make a major issue of collection.

Pot Pourri

Darn these guys who hide their light under a bushel. After reporting that Georgetown had an entry in the Canadian Open for the first time in history, Jim Linton tells us this was the second time he has entered. He'll have to keep us better posted on his golfing tournaments. A 39 inch musky brought home some good meals for Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Feller. Mr. Feller was fishing at Clear Lake in the Kawarthas with his brother-in-law Charlie Lake when he hooked this whopper and successfully landed him. Halton County has certainly seen most of the "top brass" in this election campaign. Among those who have spoken in the county are Prime Minister St. Laurent, Opposition leader George Drew, CCF leader M. J. Coldwell, Hon. Walter Harris, Hon. L. B. Pearson and Hon. C. D. Howe. So proud was Jesse Brandford of a huge gladiolus in his garden that he had us exhibit it in the Herald window last week. It was truly a magnificent bloom and many glad fanciers stopped to have a look. A vegetable oddity was brought to the office by Jack Kay. This was a red radish with two smaller white radishes growing in succession down the root. Also evoking much interest was a potato which had sprouted in Sid Morris' basement, from the inside instead of in the orthodox way. motoring to Lake Huron the past few week-ends makes us wonder why so many people head Muskoka way when there is such a pleasant drive west with a minimum of week-end traffic. New stretches of highway between

There were no "maybes" from the Dept. The answer was an unqualified no. The Minister is not approving any plans for school accommodation where there is any existing facilities, we were told. The reason, of course, is that heavy population increases in city suburbs has created an accommodation problem of some magnitude and every cent of government money is needed to give children there classroom space.

It therefore means that there are a hundred odd people who just haven't got around to paying their bill. It should not be necessary to remind them by special letter, for already they have received one or several statements in the routine course of billing. But when results are not attained in the ordinary way, stronger action must be taken. So it is that this week 97 people will receive a special communication from the tax collector. We hope they will cooperate and not make his or council's job, more difficult.

Arthur and Harriston and between Walketron and Kincardine also speed up the twrip. En route from Toronto we stopped in Orangeville for a bite to eat at a restaurant run by a former Georgetown man, George Blyth. He told us about the new hospital sitting idle there because the funds ran out and there is no money to buy equipment or to pay off the balance of the contractor's account. A sad state of affairs and we hope Orangeville will find some solution to the problem. Skirting Walkerton we found that town in the midst of a minor "boom" with the new Eveready factory almost completed. No doubt house building will follow to take care of the increased manpower which the factory will employ. Thought we were progressing nicely in the Tely movie star contest until we bumped up against No. 41 last week-end. Wonder if there are many more fools like ourselves spending all their spare hours digging through reference books and trying to spot the elusive answers. And all of us, in imagination, driving that new Studebaker or enjoying a Jamaica vacation. News is always scarce in the midsummer weeks, but next week's paper will at least be full of wedding news for no less than six weddings of local interest will take place. Thanks to the many who have phoned in personal about their visits and visitors. Everyone's help is needed to keep the society column interesting, and it is an impossible job for one man to track down every personal

FARM NEWS
IF PRICES LOW FEED YOUR WHEAT
Every year the question arises—should I sell the wheat now or store it?
Reports received from south western Ontario where harvesting has been in progress for three weeks, indicate that the supply of winter wheat is heavy and that prices are considerably lower than those of one year ago. It seems reasonable to assume that with a better than average crop here in Halton the same situation may prevail. We were interested in a statement made by Prof. George Rathby at a meeting in the county this week. "A lot of wheat could be fed advantageously to livestock if wheat prices are low." In other words, perhaps after comparing the cost price of feed grain with the selling price of winter wheat and also comparing the feeding values of the two grains it may pay to feed the wheat.

According to Morrison's Feeds and Feeding, the TDN—Total Digestible Nutrients, of 100 lbs. of Oats is 70.4 lbs. and the TDN of winter wheat is 79.7 giving wheat over 9 pounds extra TDN per 100 lbs. But how satisfactory is winter wheat for the livestock? "Fed in properly balanced rations, it is about equal to corn for dairy cows, beef cattle, sheep and pigs," states Morrison. If finely ground, it may become pasty consequently Prof. Rathby suggests it should be rolled rather than ground for feeding to cattle.
