Harold Cleave Sells Farm 283 Houses Planned There

400 HOUSES PLANNED IN FIVE SUBDIVISIONS

A 283 unit housing project is planned on the Harold Cleave property on the western edge of Georgetown.

Gordon A. Hutchinson, Brampton, told council at a meeting on Monday that he is acting for a group which is purchasing all Mr. Cleave's farm within the town limits. It is hoped to make a start on the project within six weeks. Mr. Cleave will retain his own house on the property.

Mr. Hutchinson was given council's assurance that water and sewer service would be supplied in the new subdivision.

The houses, which will be built under the National Housing Act will be mainly 5-room bungalows, he said, designed to sell under $10,000. They will be sold with a $2,000 down payment and balance on mortgage. All will be brick veneer and design will be varied.

"There is a great demand for this type of housing," Mr. Hutchinson said, indicating that Malton and Oakville workers will be chief customers for the new houses. The same houses in Brampton would cost over $11,000, he said, because of the excessive cost of lots.

In addition to the land on which the houses will be built, Mr. Hutchinson said that an eleven acre piece of land west of the railway tracks is planned as an industrial area. He has certain contacts which he is hopeful will lead to this acreage being sold for industrial purposes.

The new housing project makes a total of over 400 houses in process of planning in five separate subdivisions in town.

Mr. Bayer of Toronto is starting on ten dwellings and plans a total of 61 in a tract of land purchased from E. B. Tyers, which lies behind Harrison's Garage on the highway.

Caruso Picked on All-Star Team

Len Caruso, scoring star forward of Georgetown N&G's was the only lacrosse player to make either the first or second All-Star team for the southern OLA group.

Len, who amassed an 81 point scoring total with 70 goals and 11 assists, was chosen as first string forward, along with Matthe of Wallaceburg, who had 100 points and Barr of Sarnia, 94 points.

Others on the first team are Young (Acton) goal; Hillier and N. Shortridge (Dundas) defence; Cooper (Sarnia) rover.

Chosen on the second team were: Rutledge (Streetsville) goal; O'Neill (Wallaceburg) Krapek (Acton) defence; Haddon and Gibson (Sarnia) Anderson (Dundas) forwards; Mann (Acton) rover.

Robertson of Streetsville won the Rookie of the Year award; Barr of Sarnia, most valuable player; Gordon of Wallaceburg, coach of the year.

Lieut. Robin Bourne Weds RMC Commandant's Daughter

Recently returned from service with the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery in Korea, Lieutenant Robin Porter Bourne married Patricia Agnew, daughter of the commandant of Royal Military College, Brigadier D. R. Agnew and Mrs. Agnew, in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston on Saturday.

Lieutenant Bourne, an RMC graduate is the son of Lieut. Colonel and Mrs. K. M. Bourne, 'Stonecroft' Linehouse, formerly of Shanghai, China.

The Very Reverend Briarly Browne, Dean of Ontario, officiated. Mr. Donald Jardine was organist and St. George's Cathedral choir boys sang the musical parts of the service.

The bride wore a model gown of imported white silk organza with pleated bodice and bouffant skirt, cascading in panels over heavy cream satin and flowing into a train. The tiny jacket was fashioned with decollete neckline and long sleeves. She wore her mother's wedding veil of tulle and bandeau of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations, stephanotis and lily of the valley. Heirloom pearls and pearl and diamond earrings, gifts of the groom's parents, completed her ensemble.

The bride's sister, Mrs. James Butterfield, Halifax, N.S., was matron of honour. Miss Margaret Giles, of Port Hope, and Miss Flavia Grant Duff, Cobourg, were bridesmaids.

Mr. Tyers himself is building 16 houses on another part of this property which was originally owned by Cedarvale School.

An 84 house subdivision is also in process on Tom Hewson's property on Ewing Street, while Jack Armstrong is also contemplating a dozen or more houses on property owned by him on the other side of the creek.

Principals in a midsummer wedding in St. George's Church here were William Keith Hunter and Jean Dorothy Bruce. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter, Castlemore, is employed at Morrison Motors, Brampton, and the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Bruce, Moffat, is a Smith & Stone employee. They are living in Georgetown.

Vet Guards Meet Here Plan Annual Reunion

On Sunday, August 9th, a unique event took place in the Legion Hall auditorium, when veterans of two wars, who had served in the Vets. Guard of Canada, in World War II, held their first reunion, in what is hoped to be an annual event.

Chairman for the dinner and get-together held later, was Harry Ceeley, Brampton, who asked the gathering to rise and sing God Save the Queen. After a delicious meal, served by the members of the Legion W.A., Mayor Jack Armstrong, of Georgetown was called on to say a few words. He welcomed the vets to the town on behalf of the citizens of Georgetown as well as his colleagues in council, and trusted that they would enjoy themselves, and return in the future. He complimented them on their service to Canada in two wars and wished them well.

The chairman then said he would like to introduce one who was certainly no stranger to the group, having been actively associated with most of them through Legion and veterans activities in Halton and Peel, the president of the local Legion Branch, Les Clark. In replying, Mr. Clark said it was a great source of personal pride to be once more among so many friends, that he was proud of the fact that practically every man there was known to him and most were indeed old friends. He paid tribute to the devotion to duty that had prompted the group to serve in two wars, and remarked that seemingly 'age did not weary them' as they all seemed to be enjoying the best of health and it was his earnest hope they would continue to do so. In closing the president expressed the hope that they would see fit to make this a yearly affair, and said he felt that all of his members would join with him, in offering the use of the Legion Hall for future reunions.

Campbell Gordon then proposed a toast to the Vet Guards which was ably responded to by Lt. Col. G. O. Brown, who had raised the platoon at the beginning of the war. He brought back many memories to all present with his reminiscences of the various camps and comrades no longer with them. Col. Brown said that he was indeed happy to see them all so active and well and that it was his earnest hope that there would be many more reunions such as this for all of them.

After the dinner the rest of the afternoon was spent in a social and sing-song.

Among those present were Cliff Stacey, Jim Murphy, J. R. Smith, Bill Smith, Alex Taylor, Alvin McDonald, Basil Hadley and G. O. Brown, of Georgetown; Harry Ceeley, Bert Keegan, C. Gordon, B. Aldham, P. Graham and D. Leehy, of Brampton; George Martin, Lorne Shore and T. Reynolds of Alton; George Roszel, Hillsburgh; George

THE WEATHER

Mr. Editor:

One suitable comment with this week's summary could be "may we have many more weeks like this one."

WHAT COUNCIL DID

Consultants Recommend Reservoir, Second Water Well for Georgetown

The engineering firm of Dineen, Phillips and Roberts recommended an extension of Georgetown's water system in a report presented to the council by Mr. Roberts on Monday night.

Main point in the report is a recommendation that a second source of supply be found to augment the present million gallon a day well which was located by the firm in 1948 near Cedarvale School. The report also suggests a storage reservoir.

Mr. Roberts is confident that more water will be found in the same district, in sufficient quantity to justify a second well. He warned council that at present "all eggs are in one basket." Not only is the town dependent on one source of supply, but the whole town's economy depends on one turbine, and should serious damage occur to this, Georgetown would be without water within 48 hours. He said the turbine should be taken out at least every four years and completely checked for wear.

Estimated cost of the complete project would be about $170,000, and as water lines would have to be laid over town property between the two Maple Avenues, there would be a possibility of opening this up as a through road at the same time. The matter is now under consideration by council and will be discussed further at their September meeting on the 8th.

NEIGHBOURS AVERT KING STREET FIRE

Serious fire damage was averted on Saturday when smoke from a smouldering chesterfield chair was noticed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Louth, Edith Street.

Brigden-Clayson Wedding In St. Stephen's Church

Pink and white gladioli formed the setting in St. Stephen's Anglican Church, Hornby, for the marriage on August 1st of Jean Noeline Clayson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Clayson, Hornby, and William Floyd Brigden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Brigden, R. R. 2, Georgetown. Rev. J. E. Maxwell officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess gown of white embroidered lace and satin, with Peter Pan collar, long sleeves and a lace train. Her embroidered fingertip veil fell from a headdress of seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried a white Bible, with a pink orchid and white stephanotis cascading on white streamers.

The maid of honour Miss Verna Price was gowned in yellow lace and net over taffeta with a matching halo of net and flowers. She carried a bouquet of bronze roses. Miss Heather Clayson, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, gowned in delphinium blue net and lace over taffeta with a matching halo of net and flowers, and she also carried a bouquet of bronze roses.

Groomsman was Howson Ruddell, Georgetown and ushers were Mr. J. Bell, Toronto and Mr. H. Chaplin, Georgetown. Mrs. T. Alderson, sister of the groom, sang The Lord's Prayer and The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden during the ceremony. The organist was Mrs. E. Price.

At the reception which followed in St. Stephen's parish hall, the bride's mother received in a dress of navy blue lace over shot taffeta, with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow tea roses. Mrs. Brigden, the groom's mother, assisted in pale blue with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Following the reception, the couple left on a trip to Gananoque, the Thousand Islands, and the States. For travelling the bride chose a pale blue dress with a pink picture hat, white accessories and a pink orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Brigden will live at Spring Valley Farm, R. R. 2, Georgetown. Guests attended the wedding and reception from Pennsylvania, Toronto, Georgetown and Hornby.
