Cotton Brothers. New Name for Brill Store

The name Brill has disappeared from the local Main Street scene after a period of 37 years.

Established here by David Brill, who operated the large clothing store on the four corners for thirty years, the store name has been changed to Cotton Brothers. It had continued to operate under the Brill name since Mr. Brill sold the business seven years ago.

Though Mr. Brill, who is a brother of the owner of the Brill Shirt Company, has retired from the Georgetown merchandising scene, two of his family are in the same line of business. Jack and Donald both operate men's wear stores in the Toronto suburbs.

Jack Cotton bought the business here in 1946, shortly after his return from overseas service with the RCAF. He was joined three years ago by brother Fred, also a Toronto resident. Associated with the brothers is their father Harry Cotton. They have expanded the business considerably, first opening a men's store in Brampton, and later a modern ladies' store. All three will operate under the Cotton Brothers name.

Present staff of the Georgetown store includes Mrs. Leigh Bradbury, Mrs. Bruce Ross, Bill Doherty and Mrs. Oscar Mallett, with Marilyn Warnes and Verna Louth working part-time. A new male member of the staff will be joining the firm within a few weeks.

The Cotton Brothers introduced fashion shows in Georgetown and have staged several such events, under sponsorship of ladies' organizations. As part of their business they maintain a fur manufacturing establishment in the city, selling fur coats under the trade name Fredrick Furs. Mr. Fred Cotton is an experienced fur man who for 15 years was associated with Hudson Fur Manufacturing Co. in Toronto.

Jack Cotton has taken part in community life since locating in town. He was active in the Georgetown Recreation Commission and the Retail Merchants Association, and played softball with the businessmen's team. Married to an English girl, they have one son David and a daughter, Sandy. Fred Cotton is also married and father of a daughter Donna.

SEE Nylon Hose Tested

In our window we have a Frazier testing machine operating to show the strength and wearability of Harvey-Woods nylon hose. This is a standard testing machine placing the hose under great tension and stretching them repeatedly as does the knee action while moving and bending when hose are worn.

Watch the automatic counter record the number of knee actions until the hose finally breaks down into runs.

See the new Fall shades of Harvey-Woods hose and the great values these hose are.

Testing machine weighs 450 lbs. and will be in our window for one week by courtesy of Harvey-Woods Hosiery.	54 gauge, 15 denier $1.50

Week-end Fire Loss

Fire Marshal's Department. He is in Brampton jail charged with vagrancy.

Three barns, two chicken houses, a garage, farm machinery and the year's crop were lost in the fire. Joseph McMaster, an uncle of Mr. Laird, kept 40 head of cattle from stampeding back into the burning building. Mr. Laird saved a tractor, a truck and a car before flames reached the garage.

Brampton firemen fought the blaze and though Georgetown was called their services were not necessary. Just as well, because dense traffic prevented the town truck from reaching the laneway and it was forced to back down the hill. Earlier deputy chief Jack Harlow went to the scene and discussed whether Georgetown would be needed with the Brampton chief. Technically, as the Laird farm is in Peel County, it is out of Georgetown's jurisdiction, though the town is always ready to assist a neighbour.

Making it a busy week-end for Mr. Harlow, who was in charge while fire chief William Hyde was out of town, the truck went to lower Main Street early Saturday evening, and extinguished a burning tree in front of Miss N. Learmonth's residence. The tree flared up again after midnight and the truck was called back again. In neither case was the siren sounded.

What Council Did

vray were of the opinion that there was too much money involved, Councillor Goodlet saying that the debt would soon govern the tax rate. With no guarantee when the property might be built upon, Councillor McGillivray felt a 4-inch main from the foot of Normandy Blvd. would quite adequately supply this property for some years to come. He felt that there were many parts of town serviced with much smaller mains, and while this was not altogether feasible, he saw no need of jumping up to a 6-inch main for a small section of the Tyers subdivision. Reeve MacDonald said he was willing to take the engineer's report, that nothing less than 6-inch mains be laid from now on.

The motion passed with the two councillors voting against it, and the new set-up will include a six-inch main from the highway along Edward Street, across Margaret St. along Pauline to Tyers Ave. and west to Maple Ave. A section of Tyers Ave. may be serviced with a 2-inch main. Total estimated expenditure is $9,453.76.

Mayor Armstrong reported that the textile industry wishing to locate in Georgetown wanted a building erected by the town or some interested citizens, which would be paid for over a 20-year period. The mayor said he had not contacted enough citizens willing to do this, and if the building was not forthcoming, the firm would have to look elsewhere.

STEWARTTOWN

SEVEN START AT SCHOOL TUESDAY

Esquing fire truck visited Stewarttown Thursday evening for fire drill. The fire fighters made a good job of their demonstration and there was a good crowd to watch them.

But we were sorry for the necessity of their having to go out Friday night and again Sunday evening. Our sincere sympathy is with Mr. Arthur Ruddell and Mr. Murray Laird whose barns were burned.

School opened Tuesday morning with our new teacher, Mrs. Murray Woods of Fergus in charge. New children starting are: Diana Armstrong, Lynda Barclay, Susan Smith, Gary Briggs, Wayne Densmore, Jim Harris and Larry Pickett.

Service in St. John's Church will be cancelled next Sunday, September 13th for the confirmation service at Hornby. The next Sunday Harvest service will be held in St. John's at 7.30. Rev. R. Price of Acton will be the preacher.

TIE SOCCER GAME ON LABOR DAY

Georgetown and Guelph put on a fine display of soccer in the park here on Labor Day, when they played to a 4-all tie.

Guelph has a first class side, and Georgetown did well to force a draw.

Dinner, Dance Ends Softball Activities

Halton Ladies League ended their softball season Friday with a dinner and dance in Stewarttown Hall, with dinner served by Norval ladies.

Alfred Bridgen, past president, spoke of the successful season and presented the Hayward Cup to the champion Palermo team, received by manager Ray Ingelhart. Mrs. Herb Hancock, league past president, presented the shield to Hornby, Joe Vella, team manager, receiving it.

Ralph Yager, president of the Ontario Rural Softball Association, was guest speaker for the evening and told of what is being done in rural areas. He also told of how Halton could be represented by a team in the Ontario playdowns. The Silverstone Orchestra from Bolton played for dancing.

Hornby eliminated Glen Williams, and Palermo beat Haltonville in the finals this year. Palermo won the championship when a third game was necessary, this being played on neutral ground at Omagh on September 3rd.

Again the town defence showed to perfection, but the forward line was weak at times and missed opportunities right in the Guelph goalmouth. This did not detract from brilliant teamwork. The passing and combination is getting better every game.

Worthy of mention were Pete Schipper and Andy Nolan on defence. Egart Schipper shows signs of becoming a very good forward. Dave Bowman refereed the match. J.W.
