WHAT COUNCIL DID

Contract Let For Elm Street Culvert

Work on the extension of Elm St. to provide a through road from the highway to the College View district is expected to start within the next two weeks.

At Monday's council meeting, the tender of Louis J. Looby, Dublin, lowest of four received for the job of installing a culvert over the creek was accepted. Contract price is $4,310, exclusive of concrete and steel. County engineer Roy Smith, who was present at the meeting had estimated the job at $5500, including materials and the total will be somewhat above that figure. Other tenders from Ontario Bridge Co., Toronto, Hurley Construction, Toronto and John Susan Co., Niagara Falls, were for $4350, $4600 and $6350 respectively.

Total cost of the project including future paving is estimated at $27,000 and council passed third reading of a borrowing by-law for this amount at the meeting.

Permission was granted to Bob and Keith Barber, appearing for the Barber Floral Co. to build two houses on the King and Sarah St. corner on lots which slightly vary from the building by-law restrictions.

Mr. Keith Barber explained that the land had been subdivided before the by-law came into effect and many houses are already built on small lots. The remaining lot has frontage of 66 ft. on one street and 132 feet on the other, and because of industrial conditions the lot is not saleable for a large house. Splitting the lot into two, the frontage and total area would be more than the minimum in the by-law, but depth of each lot would lack 14 feet.

Council was sympathetic and allowed Barber Floral to proceed with building two houses.

An account of $1495 as the town's 50 per cent share of hospital accounts during the past year drew comment from council.

"It shows the need for health insurance" commented Cr. Allen. "I think we've already got it," said Cr. Goodlet as he exclaimed on the high cost of hospitalization for indigent patients.

A letter from county council explained that in future accounts would be rendered quarterly to allow better budgeting for municipalities.

Decision on a request from McNally Construction to extend sewers to four houses being built at the end of Parkview Blvd. was left for recommendation by the public works committee.

Councillors looked pleased when a letter from William Kinrade commended the town men on the neat, efficient job they had done in putting a storm sewer line through his property.

"We should frame this," said Deputy Reeve Peck. "It isn't often we get any congratulatory letters."

Property owners on Temple Road, James Mulholland, Ed Francis, Roderick King and Harvey Chappel asked council if the town could help straighten out a property situation where homes had been built 8 ft. farther towards the road allowance than they should have been.

Council replied that at the present time they could take no action on the matter.

Third reading of a by-law authorized proceeding with 6 inch water mains in the Tyers subdivision and on Young and Charles Street.

A 4 inch water meter, which will cost $500 will be installed at the Alliance paper mill, replacing the present 2 inch meter.

With the possibility of installing oil heating in the Municipal Building, tenders will be asked for doing this work.

Full Day's Programme As Teachers Convene

Two hundred and forty elementary school teachers of the county attended the annual convention of Halton County Teachers' Institute held in Oakwood School, Oakville, on Friday, October 23rd. The programme commenced at 9 a.m. with Rev. C. K. Nicoll conducting the devotional exercises and introductory remarks of the president, R. M. M. Acheson of Glenwood School. A. Weatherstone, chairman of the teachers to Oakwood School Oakville School Board, welcomed and extended greetings from the Board and staff.

During the morning the convention divided into groups for a workshop period. Many valuable ideas were brought forth in the various discussions. These were compiled into booklet form for distribution.

Inspector R. F. Bornhold introduced the morning speaker, Franklin V. Darroch, B.A., science consultant of Toronto, schools, who gave an interesting illustrated address "Science in the Elementary School."

A noonday banquet was held in the Pine Room at the Oakville Arena. Hon. Pres. J. M. Denys said the Grace. Following the dinner the presentation of a brooch and earring set was made to Miss Nellie Jardine of Hornby by Mrs. P. Cartwright and to Miss Beatrice Hume of Georgetown by Miss M. Shortt. Both ladies retired in June after having taught for many years in Halton County.

Inspector L. L. Skuce introduced the after-dinner speaker, Mr. H. E. Elborn, M.A., B.Paed, inspector of Professional Training in Ontario, who gave a very inspiring address on "The Teaching of Literature."

Miss Marion Peart of Central School, Burlington, was introduced by Miss K. Donkin. Miss Peart gave an interesting and humorous address, describing some of her experiences during her year on exchange in London, England. During the inspectors' period many inspirational remarks were given by Inspectors L. L. Skuce and R. F. Bornhold.

The officers for the coming year are: Honorary President: J. M. Denys, B.A., Toronto; Inspectors, L. L. Skuce, B.A., B.Paed, Milton, and R. F. Bornhold, B.A., Milton; Past President, R. M. M. Acheson, Burlington; President, Miss L. Snow, Campbellville; Vice Pres., N. H. Stevenson, Burlington; Secretary, Miss M. S. Gemmill, Milton; Treasurer, F. V. Brown, Oakville; Rural Representatives: Esquising, A. C. Collins; Nassagaweya, Mrs. F. Parsons, Nelson, Miss F. Frizell; Trafalgar, Miss A. Yorkson, Graded School representatives: Oakville, A. A. Balfour; Nelson Twp., D. R. Kemp; Trafalgar Twp., F. G. Connolly; Burlington-Bronte, J. A. Lockhart; North Halton, William Kinrade; Separate, Miss R. Gilmarlin.

Musical numbers proved a pleasant interlude at both sessions. The Oakwood singers, a choir of 20 voices from Oakwood School, under the direction of Mr. E. Evans and Miss T. Skoog, gave several numbers. Mr. J. Asher, of Trafalgar favoured the Assembly with vocal selections.

HAVE YOU HEARD

The catchy little safety rhyme? "Boys and girls should look both ways."

Before they cross the street. Use your eyes... use your ears. Before you use your feet.

It is meant for "boys and girls" of all ages.
