Christianity Answer To Communism: Ward

A teacher in West China University for 21 years, Miss Ann I. Ward was speaker at an all-day meeting in St. John's United Church last Tuesday. It was a sectional meeting of the WMS and the W.A. of the church.

Miss Ward based her talk on a verse from the 17th Chapter of John: That they all may be one, I in them, and thou in me. She spoke as a Christian woman to Christian women, and as one committed to the task of the church, a worldwide Christian fellowship, the worldwide Council of Churches.

There is an expression of things being "out of this world." Miss Ward thinks many are living "out of this world" in a small, enclosed way of life, not seeing things as they are, and not having courage to face conditions truthfully.

She told the story of a family in China she has known for a long time. The mother has had no advantages, she still has bound feet. She has six daughters, all of whom were sent to university. The first became a Christian teacher and a nutritionist, another a public health nurse, one a teacher, two doctors, and the youngest a nutritionist.

Miss Ward recommended a book which was on the literature table for sale "Resolution" by Allen Birt-whistle, a study of the Missionary situation up to date. There is a great change taking place all over the world. People in non-Christian countries are awakening to the fact that conditions for them should be different. Christian missions are telling them this.

Africa is a sample of change. In former days, the people accepted disease, illiteracy, poverty. Now they know these things should be different and they expect them to be. That is revolution. To all of this unrest, Communism is the wrong answer. We Christians have the right answer — do we hold it back from them?

"Do we know what we believe?" was the challenging question put by Miss Ward. The Communists know what they believe and they put hours of study on their belief. How strong is our commitment? A Chinese Christian pastor told his congregation, when the government rebelled against Christianity, that their church building might be taken from them, but the people remain a church. This very fact took place.

When Miss Ward came back from China, she noticed a roll of honor in every church for those who had given their lives in the wars. She thinks there should be a roll of honour as well for those who have become ministers or missionaries in foreign countries. She spoke of the power of witnessing for Christ and how that power, once released, can never be destroyed, and closed with a question: How strong is your commitment to Christianity?

BALLINAFAD

Ballinafad Party for Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hepburn

Progressive euchre was enjoyed with Mrs. R. McEnery and Christer Swindlehurst being prizewinners. After a short programme lunch was served and a social time enjoyed.

Members of the WMS and Women's Association were entertained by the ladies of the Mimosa United Church at the home of Mrs. Stanley Sinclair on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Robert Peebles of Peterboro and a fellow student of Mr. N. Russ at college was guest speaker at church on Sunday morning. Mr. Peebles based his sermon on the words of Joshua, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." It was a most challenging sermon and Mr. Peebles added further inspiration by singing a solo entitled "The Great Judgment Morning" accompanied by Mr. Russ at the piano.

The second meeting of The Girls' Sewing Club was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred J. Shortill. Officers elected for the group are: President, Beth McEnery; Secretary, Wendy McKenzie; Press reporters Joan Ridler, Mary Ann McEachern and Shirley Kirkwood. The subject studied for the meeting was: "Cleanliness of the Face." Refreshments were served by Shirley Kirkwood, Bonnie Cofton assisting Mrs. Shortill.
