Election Time Again

December 3 comes time again for the annual nomination meeting, when ratepayers hear an account of the year's municipal business, and nominees will offer themselves for public service on various elected bodies — council, school board and hydro commission.

At least two vacancies will occur on council, with public announcement by Deputy Reeve Petch and Councillor Goodlet that they do not intend to seek office again. Adding the fact that an election must be held because of a vote to simplify the present system of electing all but school board members by general vote, there could be an interesting public contest this year.

So often, a municipal election dissolves into a sort of game, with someone not wanting to "cause" an election, and a shuffling of candidates behind the scenes so the town can be spared the trouble of voting. This year there can be none of this, for the election goes on regardless, and it will be a pretty dull affair unless there is more to it than a vote on a question to which "yes" can be the only answer.

We hope that a number of citizens will consider running as council candidates particularly; and we can even hope that more than the required three will contest the school board seats. Elections don't have to be "hot" to be interesting. There is some satisfaction for each councillor to know that he has been endorsed by a vote of ratepayers, rather than going in by the acclamation route which is all too frequent.

And we are sure that any man or woman who is public spirited enough to want to serve his town, is not so thin-skinned that he will be bitter if others prove more popular in the voting. We might, too, put in our annual plug for a full house at the nomination meeting. As stockholders in a quarter of a million dollar business, surely we all should be interested in hearing how our money has been spent.

Humility . . . a Great Possession

Humility . . . "A modest sense of one's own significance" as the dictionary puts it . . . has been much in the news lately, with the Arthur Godfrey story a page one event in the daily newspapers.

Here at home, the word strikes us as applying so truly to a leading citizen removed by death last week.

W. F. Bradley was one of those energetic men Canada breeds, who through initiative and business ability built a shoestring start into an internationally known concern which brought him somewhat more of the world's wealth than most men possess.

And yet success never went to his head, as it might to many of us in the same circumstances. His tastes were simple and his circle of friends were not chosen for what they could do for him.

He devoted a lifetime of service to his church, supplementing his active churchwork at St. George's with generous financial gifts which were never ostentatious, most of which were given quietly in the background, and all designed to make the church a more beautiful and more fitting place of worship.

He will be sorely missed in the church and in the town at large, where everyone knew him as "Bill." Successful men of the future would do well to use him as a guide for living a full and happy life.

Pot Pourri

We neglected to mention in the news columns last week that Georgetown Girls Pipe Band was featured at a ceremony at Malton airport which inaugurated a new direct service between Malton and London, England. The ceremony was televised, which is no new experience for the girls. They were perhaps the first Georgetown people ever to appear on television, when the band was at a Lions convention in New York several years ago . . . Also in the television picture is our new M.P. Sybil Bennett, who was seen in news-reel shots of the opening of parliament . . . and someone tells us too, that when the camera shifted from the Santa Claus parade on Saturday for shots of the crowd, little Pat Sargent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sargent, stood out plainly in the picture. . . New people in town this fall are Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Perryman and family who bought Bill Ostrander's house on Victoria Street. Mr. Perryman sold his house on No. 7 to his father.

The Ostrandersons have moved to R. R. 4, Georgetown. Mr. and Mrs. Perryman have three children, Judy in public school, Sandra and Bobby. Miss Dorothy Stone tells us she has been enjoying strawberries from her garden right up to now. It is a variety of ever-bearing fruit with which she has been enjoying wonderful results. . . Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jalowica, who had been living in an apartment at the home of Val Stein, have moved to Hamilton. . . Showing us an unusual egg last week, Bob Harris wonders if the "yoke" was on his wife. Seems Mrs. Harris was slicing some hardboiled eggs for a salad, and came across one which was solid albumen and had no yoke at all. . . The lady you see in the Herald office on Thursday and Friday afternoons is Mrs. Jack Gunning who is giving the editor a hand with some of the correspondence which never seemed to get answered. . . Mrs. Alvin McDonald suffered a badly fractured wrist in a fall at her home on Saturday.

Three Courses Offered At Local Night School

The first of a twelve-week series of night school classes began last night in three North Halton towns. This popular school which had drawn large number of people to Milton for the past three years, this year has branches in Georgetown and Acton as well.

In Georgetown, Mrs. Cyril Brandford is teaching a class of 18 in leathercraft at the high school, while at the Old Town Hall, Jesse Wyatt has a class of 12 in ceramics and Miss Lois Etherington, Toronto a class of 14 in metalcraft. It is still possible to accept a few more enrolments in each of these classes.

Two local people are on the night school staff in Acton. Miss Wilma Stull of the Chapel Street school staff is teaching elementary oil painting and Frank C. Black the advanced class. There is also a class in plastics at Acton.

BAPTISTS HEAR OF MISSION WORK

On Sunday morning, Rev. Alfred Barker preached the third sermon in the series of "Distinctive Marks of a Christian." Mr. Barker centered his thoughts on Witnessing which is the fragrance of heaven being revealed in our lives through the life we live. The spirit and grace of God must flow in our hearts at all times if this fragrance is going to be reflected and lasting, and if we are to be a colony of heaven. The ladies' choir under Mrs. W. Townend's direction sang "Just As I Am."

The Ladies Mission Circle sponsored the evening service. Dr. Sidney Hillier, General-Secretary of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board was the guest preacher who related a vivid picture of the conditions and life of the people in Japan, India and West Africa, and the dire need for the evangelization of these countries. Mrs. Elmer Carter read the lesson, and Mrs. Walter Peck led the congregation to Throne of Grace in prayer. The choir sang "Father in High Heaven" with Mrs. Don Hancock taking the solo part.

A friendly hour was held immediately following the service when slides of the Southern Cross Baptist Radio Station of La Paz, Bolivia, were shown and questions answered. Light refreshments were served by the committee in charge to conclude the evening.

Several Fall Events Agriculture Federation

At a recent meeting of the directors of Esqueping Federation of Agriculture at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Alexander plans were made for several functions in November which included a dinner for the directors, a euchre, and the annual meeting.

The dinner was held on Wednesday, November 11th in Limehouse Memorial Hall with Limehouse W.I. as the catering group. Each person attending was responsible financially for his own dinner as this was not a complimentary event from society funds. After a sumptuous dinner euchre was played for the rest of the evening. All reported a pleasant time.

On Friday, November 13th the euchre was held in Stewarttown Hall when some 20 tables of cards were played. Lunch was served by the Federation directors. The prize winners at euchre were: Ladies' High, Mrs. S. Kirkpatrick; Ladies' 2nd, Mrs. Stan Matthews; Gents' High, Clifford Storey; Gents' 2nd, Frank Cartwright. A special prize to the winners at the 13th table in the 13th round was given as it was Friday 13th. The winners of this prize were Mrs. R. L. Davidson and Stan Matthews. The annual meeting is to be held later this month.

CHURCH BAZAAR IS A BIG SUCCESS

One of the most successful bazaars in the district was that in St. Stephen's parish hall, Hornby, on Saturday when the Guild and W.A. Maxwell opened the afternoon's program.

Mrs. John Bussell, Guild president, was assisted by many ladies of the parish and the afternoon included all the usual components of a bazaar with sewing and fancy-work particularly plentiful on the sale tables. Prayer by Rev. J. E. Maxwell opened the afternoon's program.
