

Korea Aftermath—UNKRA at Work

Even before the guns were silenced in Korea, the United Nations Korean Reconstruction Agency was at work trying to heal the wounds caused by war. One of the key tasks facing UNKRA in its reconstruction work is the rehabilitation of Korea's shipping. Shown above (right) is the "Chin Hoo Man" dredge purchased by UNKRA in Honolulu and shipped to South Korea where it will be used to reopen that nation's western harbors to peaceful navigation. At left is the United States Navy dry dock, "USS Ft. Marston," which transported the dredge from Hawaii to Korea.

LADIES TAKING WEAVING COURSE

In conjunction with the Ontario Dept. of Education, Community Programme Branch, Georgetown Arts and Craft are sponsoring a course in Box Loom Weaving this week. Instruction is taking place in the upstairs room of the Post Office Building. Nine experienced weavers are attending the course, which is intended to cover this area and includes weavers from Guelph and Acton as well as Georgetown.

D. L. Minshall, representing Community Programmes Branch, is giving the lectures on Box Loom Weaving. They include under this heading: (1) Teaching Adults; (2) Group Work; (3) Teaching Techniques.

Miss Muff, Toronto, is the weaving instructor. She has 6 floor looms set up with different types of thread for weaving easement cloth, upholstery material, drapery material, tweeds, reed weaving and bound weaving.

The ladies at their looms with the various types of threads, make a colorful and interesting scene. The Arts and Crafts are sponsoring this course in the hope that the ladies taking it will be able to instruct classes of their own in the future.

Institute Members Give Two Minute-Speeches

Mrs. George and Mrs. Harvey Nurse were hostesses to the Women's Institute when they met on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 19th with twenty eight ladies present. President Mrs. Wellington Stringer was in charge and secretary Mrs. Vera Archer read the minutes of the December meeting and correspondence and business items were discussed. Thank you notes were read from sick and shut-ins. Programme was in charge of Mrs. John Ruddle who called on Mrs. Robert Cunningham for the motto "Home is the anchor of our national life." Mrs. Francis Thompson sang "It's Morning" and Mrs. Murray Bridgen gave the current events. Mrs. Ruddle gave slips of paper to each lady on which a subject was written such as casserole dishes, deep freezes, Vitamin A, hot air or hot water, one or two storey houses, preventing home accidents and use of baking mixes. Two minute speeches were given and the judges Mrs. T. J. Brownridge, Mrs. Cecil Wilson and Mrs. Russell Hepburn agreed that Mrs. Fred Nurse, who spoke on preventing Home Accidents had made the best speech and won the prize of a pkg. of cake mix. A social hour followed. February meeting is to be at Mrs. George Wingfield's.

The Women's Institute, held their social evening on Friday, January 22nd in the Community Hall, Stewarttown. Forty three tables of euchre were played winners being Gents. Ross Austin and Mac Alexander, Ladies: Mrs. Walter Lawson, Miss Eva Chisholm. Lunch and dancing to Doris Hulls Orchestra concluded the evening.

The Young People held their Christian Citizenship meeting on Sunday evening at the home of Jim Iamond with Jean Bird and Gordon Barnes in charge.

We are sorry to hear that Margaret Austin has the mumps. Here is hoping that she will soon be better and out again going to school. Happy birthday to little Lois McNabb who will be two years old tomorrow Friday, January 29th.

Adequate Rat Control Through Use of Poison

While there are several important measures in ridding a farm of rats, use of poison is the first step. Red squill and strychnin are recommended for this purpose.

Any poison program against rats ought to be combined with a general cleanup of the farmstead to eliminate hiding and breeding places. Ratproofing or buildings will keep the pests out and simplify the rat problem. It is best to observe a community control campaign, so the pests will not move from one farm to another, as so often happens.

In poisoning rats, mix the poison in different kinds of food. Put this bait out in small bunches—a teaspoonful at a place. Be sure to put it where the rats feed, so it will be found easily. Don't put bait in burrows. Bait the whole farm with enough bait for all the rats. Put the bait out in the afternoon, then pick up any uneaten particles the next morning. Use fresh food for the bait.

Humsted rolled oats, fresh bread, cornmeal, meat scraps, hamburger, fresh or canned fish, apples, carrots, tomatoes and cheese all make good baits.

Red squill is an excellent poison, is safe to use and will not injure farm animals. Warfarin is the newest rat poison available and is also safe to use. Rats and mice can not detect this poison in the bait and will continue eating it.

There are other poisons but more care must be taken in their use. Adu is one of these, but this poison will kill farm animals and chickens.

Kiddie Fibs Product Of Ferile Imagination

The kids children tell are not always lies.

According to Childcraft Advisory Service, they are often signs of a lively imagination which parents would do well to encourage.

"Without imagination, there is neither sympathy nor creative talent," authoritative writers for the Service point out.

Imagination can be developed to build bridges and cathedrals. It was people with imagination who invented television, bicycles, can openers and the other countless wonders and conveniences of modern civilization.

Yet imagination in the very small child is often discouraged by well-meaning parents who mistake his perfectly normal "fights of fancy" for lies.

Imaginative tales of childhood can also reflect desires which are unfulfilled. For example, when a child has no other children with whom to play, he often creates imaginary playmates whom he talks to and about.

Ingenious Solution

The filing of papers and reference material usually presents a puzzling problem to the household. One man who does a great deal of his professional work at home which involves the filing of letters, papers and drawings, recently solved the problem by buying two second hand golden oak commercial filing cases and removing the metal hardware. Instead, strong but attractive wooden knobs were used as drawer pulls. Then, placing the files parallel with the wall—on either side of the double door leading from his study to the living room—he had a carpenter build bookcases on the sides. Enameled to match the woodwork, the filing cabinets now disappear almost completely into the background of the room.

Gasoline Being Tested

The Agriculture department in North Carolina is conducting tests of gasoline to provide better protection of the public against adulterated or illegally blended gasoline which has a flash point so low that its use might be hazardous. The tests are conducted in twelve laboratories on wheels. Retail outlets, terminals and sources of distribution are being checked.

Malaria Wonder Drug

Aralen is known chemically as 7-chloro-4-(4-diethylamino-1-methylbutylamino) quinoline diphosphate. Clinical investigation has shown it to relieve acute attacks of malaria much faster than previously known drugs, and to cure falciparum malaria, a type of disease that is non-relapsing, but often fatal.

Paint-Up Programs

In Tall-i-Bakun, an excavated settlement near the Persian Gulf, some houses had as many as seven rooms. This was unusual for such early times—about 3800 B.C. In some cases, house walls were painted with red or yellow. Apparently, the color was kept fresh by frequent coats of paint.

Ears Are Valuable

A hooked sidepiece going behind the ears seems to us a natural way to hold spectacles in place, yet it was centuries after glasses were invented before this method was used, says the Better Vision Institute. Early glasses were held in the hand, or tied around the head with a ribbon, cord, or leather strap.

MACKENZIE NEWS

One day we need rubber boots and the next snowshoes. Anyway it's not a dull life.

One of the best ways of spending your money is in insulating your house, both in fuel saving and more comfortable living. You could do the ceiling of your home yourself, for a house 24x30 with 2" granulated Fiberglas at a cost of $31.20. If Fiberglas rolls are required, 2" would cost 5 1/4¢ per sq. ft. and 3" 7¢ per sq. ft. See you shovelling snow.

REGULAR MEETING

THURSDAY, JAN. 28

STEWARTTOWN

Junior W.A. meeting was held last week at Mrs. M. Bally's home. Judy Walker chose "Onward Christian Soldiers" for the hymn and conducted the worship service. The pledge was for the schools in Kangra, India. The girls read a story of the little girl Shenai who wants to be a missionary when she grows up. Busy period was fancy work on the baby outfit.

W.A. meeting was at Mrs. Bizzard's home. After a devotional period conducted by Mrs. Bizzard a quilt was quilted.

The ice has been good during the last week and so has the skating.

Ashgrove Women's Institute had an enjoyable evening last Friday in the Township Hall. Euchre was followed by dancing to Doris Hulls Orchestra and lunch.
