White mums decorated the altar and chancel of St. Luke's Anglican church, Palermo, for the marriage of Pauline Jane Broughton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Broughton, to Stanley Ernest Jay, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Jay and the late Mr. Ernest Jay.

Rev. Canon Russell D. Smith officiated at the candidating ceremony. At four o'clock, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the Lohengrin Wedding March, played by Mrs. G. Millard. Miss Mildred Spring, Toronto, as soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride's gown was of white lace and tulle over taffeta with high collared taffeta jacket. Her waist length veil was of tulle. She carried a cascade bouquet of calla lilies and white baby mums.

Miss Lorna Lawrence, bridesmaid, was gowned in pale blue nylon net over nylon taffeta and matching net tiara. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of pink roses.

Robert Mills of London was the groomsmen, Erlend Jay and Blythe Broughton were ushers.

The wedding reception was held in the banquet hall of the church where eighty guests sat down to the wedding supper. The bride's mother received wearing navy blue tissue tulle with an orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose burgundy crepe with orchid corsage.

After a short honeymoon at Niagara Falls, the young couple are residing in London, where the groom is attending Huron College.

The Ox and the Frog
A LITTLE FROG was playing about at the edge of a pool when an Ox came down to the water to drink. In fear, the little frog swam home. "Why are you so frightened?" asked his mother. "An enormous creature with four legs came to our pool this morning," replied the little frog. "Enormous, was he?" "Was he as big as this?" asked the mother Frog, puffing herself out to look as big as possible. "Oh, yes, much bigger," was the answer. The mother Frog puffed herself out still more. "Was he as big as this?" said she. "Oh! yes, yes, mother, MUCH bigger," said the little frog. And yet again she puffed herself out. "As big as...?" she began—but then she burst.
