Local Women's Council Discusses Resolutions

A number of resolutions from the National Council of Women which will be discussed at the world convention in June in Helsinki. Finlund, were discussed at the last meeting of the Local Council of Woman recently. Resolutions from different Midles' groups in the world include; AUSTRALIA: "That the National Councils of Women in the counttries of emigration should endeavor to take some responsibility for the presuration for migration of women intending to settle in other countries in order that women migrants may have the best possible knowledge of the countries to which they intend going and that the NCWs in the countries of immigration should be prepared to supply such information as is not available in the countries of emigration." GREAT BRITAIN - This resolution dealt largely with moral standards, reaffirmed its belief in the unity of moral low and called upon the NCWs to be vigilant in safeguarding this principle at all

It urged the need for internattonal consultation and action to introduce some form of affiliation order for the maintenance of an illegitimate child which will be internationally valid. It stressed the insufficiency of bringing material and cultural benefits only to the receiving countries without fully taking into account the spiritual needs of their people and catted upon National Councils of Women to supplement governmental action in this vital aspect of the work. Regarding cinema Great Britain asks its NC's to impress upon the production distribution and exhibition sections of their national film industry the importance of providing good tamily entert imment films, gortraying reund moral standards and no undue violence. BELGIUM - This resolution reaffirms that the right of women, married, to work must be reco, nized and respected in times of unemployment as well as in times of full employment, declares that measures taken in favor of the unemployed must be the same for both sexes.

SWEDEN - As the family is the important foundation of all social life and development, we consider it necessary that every possible elfort be made to strengthen the family bonds through information of and instruction in what may be called family knowledge.

UNITED STATES: This resolution is lengthy but in the main speaks of peaceful and friendly relationsbetween countries, higher standards of living, full employment - and further technical assistance. From the W.A. United Church of Canada: In support of the protest made by the parliamentary committee of NCW at their meeting with the Prime Minister: "The Dominton Council of The Women's Association of the United Church of Canada, with a membership of 200,000 women protests the proposed increase in postage rates which will seriously affect volun-
