Now available in Georgetown! Wedgwood China

WHAT DO WE MEAN BY "WEDGWOOD?"

• Wedgwood means the ultimate in beauty and durability in dinnerware. Ever since 1759, when the original Josiah first produced dishes as we know them today, Wedgwood fine bone china and earthenware has enjoyed world-wide fame.

There are many reasons for the enviable reputation of Wedgwood dinnerware — among them are unsurpassed quality of body, graceful shape, and infinite variety of pattern design. And then there is price — always a consideration among budget conscious homemakers. If you have not discovered it already, you will be pleased to know that no matter how much or how little you wish to pay for dishes, there is a Wedgwood pattern to fill your needs and suit your budget.

If you are considering the purchase of dinnerware you owe it to yourself to learn more about Wedgwood. Ask to see the patterns we have selected from the nearly one thousand available.
