on a television set are among the opening attractions. Saturday another lucky person will win a cocker spaniel pup. There will be balloons for the kids, free coffee and bread to early bird shoppers as well as a wagon.

Store staff, besides the owners and department managers, includes Mrs. John MacGillivray, Mrs. Hazel Mickus, Mrs. George Bellak, Mrs. F. G. Briggs, Limahouse and Ron Apperley, Cooksville. Part-time helpers on week-end will be Ross McGilivray, Barry Jeffery, and Edgar Caldwell.

The store, designed by the IGA planning department in Chicago, is decorated in shades of green, with terra cotta red for contrasting background. Terrace floor, the latest in fluorescent lighting and oil heating enhance the interior, while paved parking area will accommodate up to 150 cars. Contractors who worked on the job include a local man, John Lanz, who did all lighting and wiring; Campbell Glass, show windows; Roy's Electric Service, Acton, furnace installation; Circle Refrigeration, Toronto and Almas Hard Drives, Oakville.

Second only to A&P Stores as mass food merchants, the IGA chain entered Canada from the States three years ago and now has 400 stores in Ontario and Quebec, with over $100 million annual volume. Six thousand American stores account for almost three billion dollars gross each year. The chain was the brainchild of J. Frank Grimes, founder of the IGA drug chain, 28 years ago.

Upholding their claim of spending more money on advertising than any other food group in the world, the opening here is accompanied by one of the most intensive advertising campaigns in the town's history. Large newspaper space, handbills, radio spots and the IGA monthly bulletin have all been used to acquaint people in a wide area with the new store.
