

Foundation for Knowledge

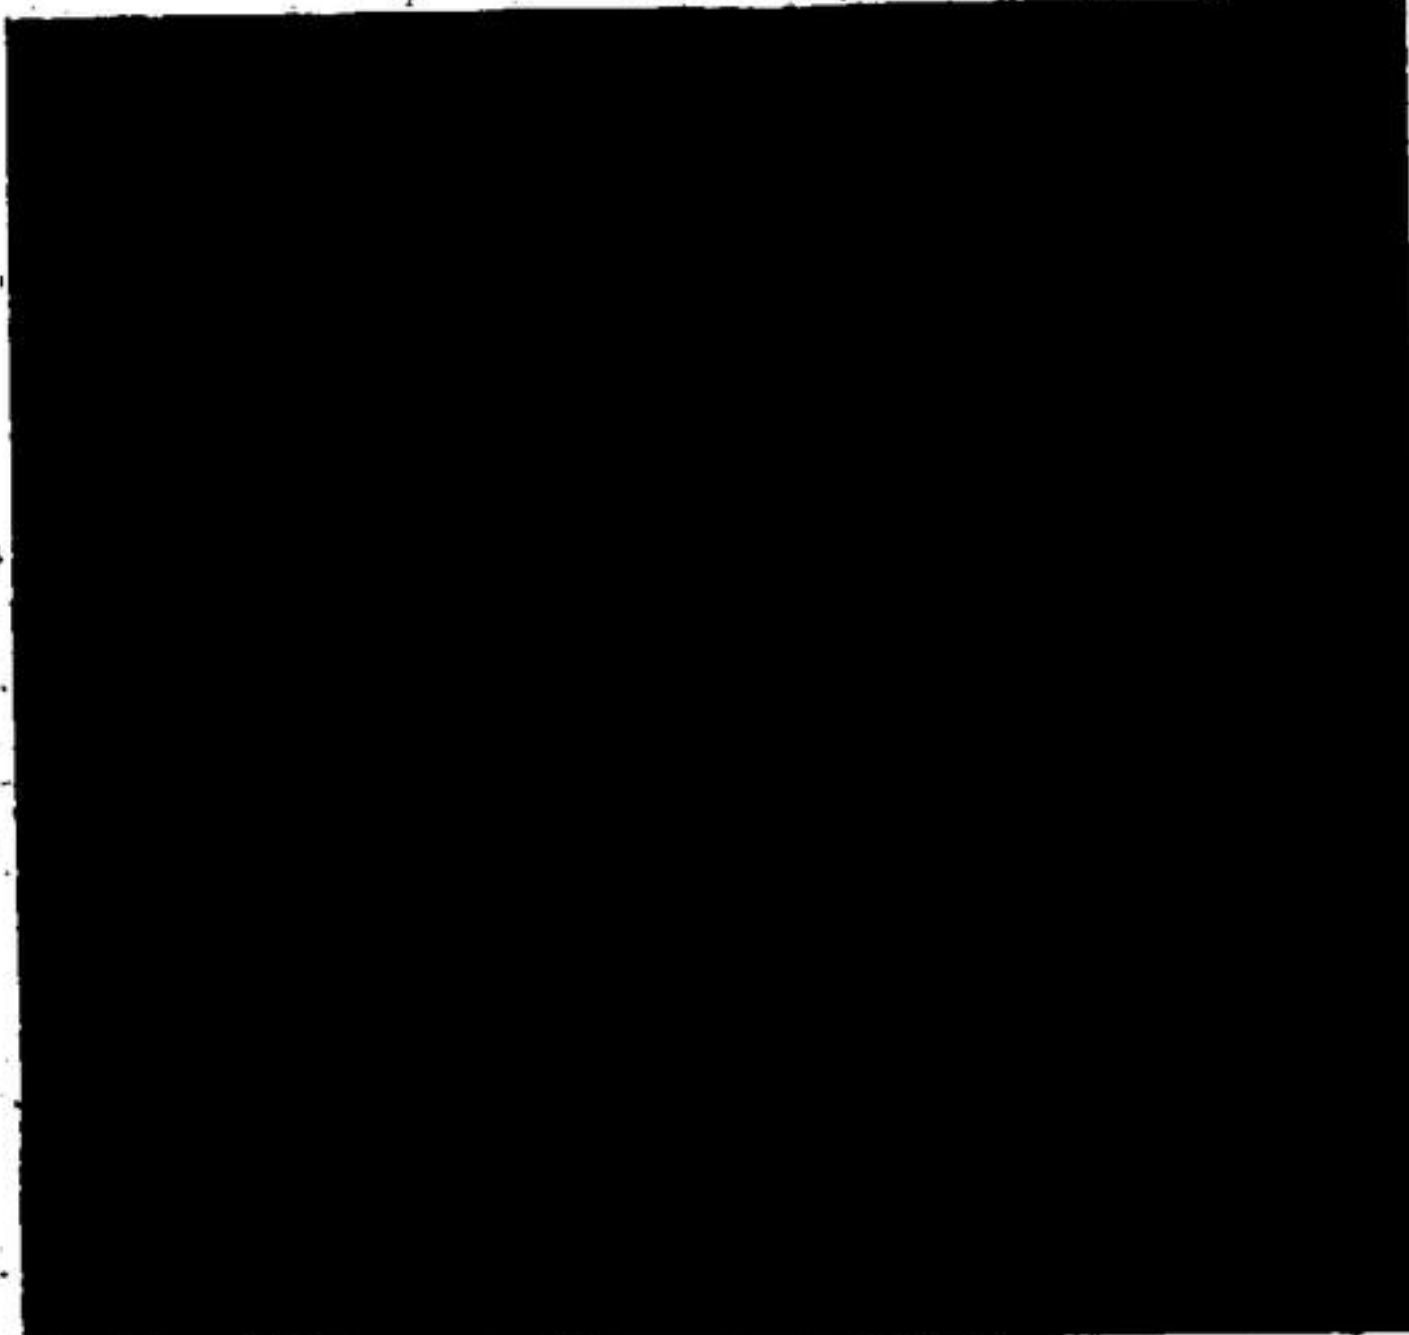

"Did Mummy ask you to sweep the floor?"

"No, Marie, she didn't. But I always sweep up whenever I've finished a job, just like you help your Mummy by keeping your room tidy and always putting away your toys when you're through with them..."

Making just that little extra effort is part of the telephone job. Bell people everywhere go out of their way to be orderly, courteous, obliging. You can see in the way they work they're "glad to be of service!"

It all adds up to better telephone service—service that keeps on giving more and more value to the user.

Korean men and women work together in the construction of a textbook printing plant at Yongdampo, near Seoul, which will provide the knowledge-hungry children of Korea with classroom books. The project is being carried out through the joint efforts of the United Nations Korean Reconstruction Agency (UNKRA) and the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (Unesco). Unesco is contributing $150,000 for the construction of the building, while UNKRA has added $120,000 which will be used to purchase printing machinery and train Koreans in its use. UNKRA also has supplied enough paper for 25 million textbooks.

Tells Council Ladies Of Life in Holland

When the Local Council of Women met at the home of Mrs. Nodwell on Friday, May 21st, they were pleasantly entertained by Miss Catherine Ankersmit of Holland, a young woman with ambition to see the world and live in pleasant places. Employed at the Bank of Commerce, she is living with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. L. DeVries.

During the war many young Canadian service men were stationed near her homeland. They were of such fine caliber she decided that the country that produced them must be a splendid place to live. So, taking advantage of Holland's policy of subsidizing young people who wish to emigrate from that densely populated country, she came to Canada by plane with others from her homeland.

She spoke of the result of wars on the people, psychologically as well as physically.

In Holland 80 percent of the population live in rented houses. The beautiful decorations used on their national costumes are identified with special localities. Social services in Holland are highly organized, almost to the point of regimentation.

The flood relief response was magnificent and created much good-will toward Canada which is proving a happy land of new associations and friendships for this welcome New Canadian.

Mrs. J. W. Kerr presided. The Provincial Council of Women is meeting in Owen Sound this week and plans will be completed for the National Council meeting in Fredericton, N.B., in June.

Five dollars was voted to the Leper Mission fund.

The hostess was assisted by Miss H. A. Staunton and Miss Isabel Preston. The June meeting will be held at the home of Miss Staunton, Maple Avenue.

HAY CROP SHORT

Hakon's meadows and pastures which came through the winter in such excellent shape, have taken a beating in recent weeks. The low temperature and frosty nights have retarded growth to the point where there is a short hay crop and many pastures for 1954. Operators are being urged to stimulate growth by using fertilizers but warden operators are being urged to do
