Local Softballers Playing at Brampton

Georgetown's entry in Brampton industrial softball league lost a close decision to Malton Monday, making their season's score 2 wins and 3 losses.

The team is playing all games at Rosales Park, Brampton and plays a couple of games weekly with the league finishing in late August. Hepburn's Taxi and Hollywood Hotel, Norval are co-sponsors of the Georgetown entry which is paired with Malton, Avro, Merchants and Vivian-Brown to form the league.

BEAT DUNDAS TWICE IN WEEK'S LACROSSE

With a couple more victories under their belts, Georgetown N&Gs play a home game with Burlington tonight in the local arena.

Last week Dundas were the victims when N&Gs trimmed them here 16-6 on Wednesday and went to Dundas the next night and took home another lacrosse win 8-6.

Zeke McCandless was prominent in the home win scoring no less than 7 goals. Junior Besumont, Savage, Hilsen and Walt Alexander each had two and Caruso connected to score the game's last goal.

At Dundas, Besumont and Johnny Haines accounted for most of the goals, with Townsend and McCandless contributing singles.

A member of the Herald staff for seven years, Corey Herrington was judged winner of a new competition for "best advertising layout" at last week's convention of the Ontario Weekly Newspapers Association. He received a handsome gold trophy from Don Kitley, president of the Aurora Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the competition at an association dinner at the Hotel London Saturday noon.

Entrants in the competition had to lay out and print a half page advertisement from typewritten material supplied, and were allowed to use any illustration material available in the plant where they worked. The competition was limited to men not older than 25 years.

Speaking briefly at the dinner publisher Walter Blehn expressed appreciation to the "Jaycees" for fostering competition among young printers, and said Mr. Herrington's success could be shared with all members of the Herald Shop where he had learned his trade. He wondered if it was unique in the weekly field that he and the four other men who produce the newspaper each week had all begun their newspaper careers in Georgetown, and had devoted a total of some 85 years to the job.

Besides the trophy, prizewinner and publisher received certificates of merit and a $20 cash prize. John Hoferwehl of the Midway Gazette and George Keroff, Aurora Banner placed second and third in the eight entries submitted in the contest.

Seek Recruits Here Ground Observer Corps

Hope that Georgetown will take a more active part in the work of the Ground Observers Corps was expressed by F.O. W. A. Longley when he spoke at a meeting last night in the library.

At present Keith Barber is employed at this important volunteer task, which entails "spotting" of planes flying over town whenever possible, plus participation in exercises which are held now and then to test the strength of a system which could be invaluable in wartime and also fills a peacetime need.

Briefly, the work of the GOC can be explained as a joint Canada USA plan which is an auxiliary to a network of radar stations which need the human element to supplement their information. Low flying planes are not detected on radar and it is also subject to the interference encountered by TV sets at times.

Gradually across Canada, volunteer workers are manning observation posts and phoning information to central offices where it is correlated with other data and passed on to the property air force authorities.

A post is being set up at Brampton Reformatory and J. A. McCleave, Brampton is a regional supervisor. "Filter station" for district information is in Barrie.

Mr. Longley told of the importance of the work in peacetime by recounting air accidents which have been reported. Valuable time and thousands of dollars was saved in these cases.

A few of those present volunteered last night and Mr. Barber is seeking other recruits who will use some of their spare time for the work. Courses in aircraft detection are available at Brampton and if there is sufficient local interest, a course might be started here. Mr. Longley stressed the fact that there is no monetary reward for GOCs. Each gets a lapel button and the satisfaction of knowing that he is helping his country is an important work.

Social and Personal

Printing Prize Cup for Herald

This handsome trophy, on view in the Herald window, was awarded to Corey Herrington as prize in a printing competition sponsored by the Aurora Junior Chamber of Commerce. He received the award for his prize-winning advertising entry at a dinner in London Saturday which concluded the convention of Ontario Weekly Newspapers.

Subdivision Story Still in the News

"No news is good news" goes the adage, and if it's true then Georgetown's land option story is certainly good.

Since the Herald story of two weeks ago, which told of several No. 7 farms between here and Norval being "exclusively listed" by the Weston real estate firm of W. Duffy and Sons, no new developments have been released to the press, and in fact no substantiated story is available at the present time on any of the rumours which are circulating.

It is said that any one of a dozen large corporations are working through the real estate firm that Kingston Post-Standard will be inved here - that a low-cost NHA housing subdivision will be created - that a swank residential subdivision for city commuters is the plan - and that the real estate firm is merely speculating and has tied the land up under option preparatory to putting it on the market.

The Toronto Telegram which "broke" the story the same day as the Herald had a couple of pictures with its write-up. They show Campbell Sinclair, a township councillor whose property is one of those optioned, and a Tally Map of the area optioned. These have been loaned by that newspaper and appear with this item.
