

TOWN GROWTH REFLECTED IN HIGH SCHOOL 209 STUDENTS

With total enrolment of 209, Georgetown High School has hit an all-time high in numbers of students this year. The Grade 9 classes total 81, and classes are proportionally higher all through the school.

The new building addition has added four classrooms, as well as some auxiliary services to the school to give a modern touch to local higher education. Those who have seen the new part of the building have been impressed with its beauty as well as utility. Pastel wall colouring schemes and bright tile flooring are certainly a far cry from the sombre hues of school decorating a few years back. During the summer caretaker Fred Armstrong also gave the older part of the building a face-lift, particularly noticeable in the sanded floors.

The new part of the building adds a home economics room which will be jointly used by Acton students, a new science room to replace the third floor laboratory in the old building, and two new classrooms. In one of which the school library will be housed.

Also in the new building are washrooms, a locker room for the girls, general office and principal's office, and teachers' rooms. For the first time students have lockers available for storing their books and clothing. The washrooms in the old building have been converted into a boiler room for the new oil heating system. Mr. Armstrong has done some floral landscaping to add to the building's beauty, and as part of the new playing field created at the rear, there is a paved area for basketball and similar sports.

All teachers from last year have returned and Mrs. H. Hiras, who taught at Acton last year is in charge of home economics. The staff which serves under Principal J. L. Lambert includes Miss Marjorie Inman, Miss Florence Luke, Alan Prouse, A. M. Baxter, Blair Armstrong, Miss Dorothy Parkinson and Miss Rose Piercy.

Brucellosis Program Satisfactory Progress

Dr. Harold Worton, Provincial Veterinarian who attended meetings at Trafalgar, Nelson, Esquimaux, and Nassagaweya Township Halls on Tuesday and Wednesday, where he met the respective township inspectors appointed under the Brucellosis programme, expressed himself as well pleased with the way the programme in Halton is going along. Some problems have been encountered by the township inspectors and also by the practicing veterinarians who do the actual vaccinating or inoculating of the calves, but any difficulties encountered are largely due to misunderstanding on the part of a few cattle owners. In order to clarify the situation the following observations will be helpful.

1. As a result of the petitions signed by 90 per cent of Halton's cattle owners all four township councils passed by-laws making calfhood vaccinations obligatory.
2. By calfhood vaccination is meant the vaccination or inoculation of all heifer calves between 6 and 9 months of age. The only exception under the Act is in the case of "Herds listed under the Federal Government's policy of Brucellosis Free Herds." In the latter case calfhood vaccination is optional.
3. The fee of $1.00 for each calf vaccinated was set by Halton veterinarians. This is a very nominal fee when it is realized that frequently it is necessary for the veterinarians to make special trips to perform this work.
4. A township inspector is paid on the basis of 20 cents for each calf vaccinated in his territory. This money is paid out of the provincial treasury and in the majority of cases the inspector does not receive more than enough to reimburse him for gasoline used on his inspection trips.
5. While it is estimated that 80 to 85 per cent of Halton's calves were being vaccinated prior to the pas-
