SAVE KITTEN FROM FIERY DEATH IN DUMP

A case for the humane society was uncovered, while workmen disposed of a load of garbage Monday at the Esquering disposal grounds. Workmen were checking for a suitable place to dump a load when they heard a "meowing" noise. On checking they found a box with a wire binding which spoke for it.

self. Searching further, another box was found with lid interlocked, and a half-starved kitten was found inside. A neighbour took the kitten in and at last reports it's doing fine. Garbage collector Earl Scott suggests that if people would like their animals done away with, the proper authorities should be contacted. Certainly burning a poor little creature alive is hardly the solution.
