Halton Shares Triumph World Milk Producer

Snowball Sylvia Alcartra, bred by Morley T Watson at Tansley, is The same year Mr. Watson consig- ment was in Forest Lawn Cemetery. Couples Club, the first meeting of ned Snowball as a 7-year-old, to the All-Canadian sale where she brought $1625. She was purchased by Gordon W., Smith of Milverton, where she has made the remainder of her records all on two times milking.

Snowball now 18 years old has in 14 lactations in official R.O.P. tests ing produced 226,335 lbs of milk and 9190 lbs. fat with an average test of 4.06% butterfat. We understand that Snowball's butterfat record replaces that of Springbank Snow Countess, whose life-size monument erected in 1937 still stands on the farm of her owner, T. R. Dent at Woodstock It is also noteworthy that Snowball's records were all made on two times milking, whereas old Countess made her records on three and four times milking. Mr. Watson has a granddaughter of Snowball in his herd. In 9 lactations she has produced over 154,000. Why is it so many of the really outstanding Holstein cows bred in Halton are sold before their true worth is appreciated? As Mr. Watson stated on more than one occasion, "One of the greatest mistakes I ever made was when I allowed myself to be persuaded to sell Snowball, even if she did bring $1625."

can understand why broweries have turned to these rugged, attractive containers. Another

GOBLINS, GHOSTS WALK COUPLES CLUB PARTY

A visitor to the precincts of Norval Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening might have been rather startled at the strange and weird figures that walked the lawns of the manse garden. Cars were driven furtively into the most hidden corners of the garden and from them emerged a heterogeneous assembly of creatures large and amail, fat and thin, all mysteriously silent, their identities a well-guardles Houre in 1951 and a son George Ad secret. Ghosts and matrons, feline creatures, black and brown, cowpokes and their female escorts, a huntsman reminiscent of the days of John Peel, a pugilist without a challenger, a nurse to tend the sick. a gypsy girl with a strange stubble on her chin, witches, respectable old gentlemen, Brer Rabbit all descended in silence to the church basement. There an even stranger fate awaited them, an initiation ceremony, the peculiar rites of great-grandchildren and two great- witches carried out by the light from flickering candles and leering Rev. Ronald Ackeright conducted pumpkins Finally the lights were the new official world champion the funeral service at the Turner turned on and the motley gatherlifetime producer of both milk and Funeral Home, Orangeville. At the end of the evening an excellent lunch was served, including the traditional pumpkin pie. The success of the evening was largely due to the efforts of the central committee, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hunter and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mc-Clure, who with the help of Mr. and Mrs. Royal are entitled to the thanks of the club for a most enjoyable evening.
