

Town Seeks 1256 Esqueasing Acres Annexation Hearing is on Today

The annexation hearing ended this afternoon, and the Municipal Board has delayed the entire town request.

In addition to properties requested in the application, three further parcels of land will also be annexed. These are the balance of the D. G. H. Wright farm and farms owned by George Cleave and Russell Hepburn, all of which have been appraised by Rex Heslop's company Dalrex Developments.

Esqueasing Township made no objections at the hearing. Rex Heslop and Al Zoravlev complained of business complications should they have to adhere to Georgetown closing hours, and Ted Darlington also pleaded to keep his property in Esqueasing.

The Ontario Municipal Board is meeting in Georgetown today, to hear the town's application to annex a portion of Esqueasing Township for the proposed Rex Heslop subdivision.

A total acreage of 1256 is included in land lying between the two branches of the Credit River. The land includes the complete farms of Mrs. W. A. McClure, H. Craig Reid, W. T. Craig Reid, Bruce Reid, Campbell Sinclair, William Emslie and Wilbert Cleave, all of which are under option to Mr. Heslop, as well as the Shan farm, the D. G. H. Wright farm and portions of land owned by George Cleave and West End YMCA. The annexation would also include several smaller properties such as Hunters' Inn and private homes which lie within these boundaries.

Brampton Hospital Seeks Funds for New Equipment

At the November meeting of the Board of Governors of Peel Memorial Hospital, Brampton, it was decided to mark the 30th Anniversary of the institution by conducting a dual campaign over the next few months. The two main purposes of this combination effort are first to increase the membership in your Community Hospital Association; and second to secure, by voluntary contributions, additional funds for the purpose of much needed modern equipment.

To organize the campaign, President R. I. Blain, asked the Board to serve as a committee of the whole and C. V. Charters was appointed to act as chairman of the special campaign committee.

In bringing in the report of the Executive Committee dealing with this matter, both Mr. Blain and Mr. Charters explained to the Board the need for and value of adding to the Association individual memberships at the very nominal fee of $2.00. They also pointed out the adopted policy of the hospital in financing the cost of new equipment and other capital expenditures from donations and bequests rather than out of general operating account. By adhering to this policy, the Board is enabled to keep operating costs and hospital fees to a minimum.

But for the generous financial support and the faithful service of a number of individual men and women and our local organizations, Peel Memorial could not have grown and served the community as satisfactorily as it has during the past thirty years.

It is the plan of the Committee to remind and inform the residents of the district what the hospital means to this community and point out to them their duty and responsibility to the institution which administers to the sick and injured.

This will be done by means of press and radio publicity and advertising, by informative direct mail which will go out to an extensive list of new adult citizens as well as those of longer residence in the town and district.

The committee is aiming high and has set 500 as the membership objective. In view of the greatly increased population of the area now served by Peel Memorial Hospital, the Board feels that this goal should be achieved if they can only impress upon the

So live; that when thy summons comes to join the innumerable caravan that moves to those mysterious realms; where each must take his chambers in the silent halls of death, thou go, not like the quarry slave at night scoured to the dungeon, but sustained and soothed, by an unflinching trust, approach the grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

WHAT COUNCIL DID

Town, Esqueasing Agree Annexation Compensation

With the proposed annexation of farm lands along No. 7 Highway in Esqueasing Township coming before the Municipal Board at an annexation hearing here today, Georgetown and Esqueasing councils came to an agreement on compensation costs to the township at Monday's meeting. As a result of the meeting and pending approval of the Municipal Board, the town agrees to pay the township a sum equal to three years taxes based on the 1954 assessment and the 1954 mill rate. Payments to be made in equal payments over the three-year period, and also to make a payment of $3000 cash based on an assessment of $156,000 or equivalent should the assessment taken over be less or more than the proposed $156,000. The town in turn will receive the cash payment from the subdivider.

While these figures were arrived at by agreement of both municipalities, they may be changed when they are put before the Municipal Board hearing today. Council gave the third reading to a by-law for water and sewers on Cloverdale Heights in the amount of $18,608.40, and first and second readings to by-laws for water and sewers on Shelley St. $8040.16; Lorne St. and Churchill Crescent, water mains $1,035.94, and sewers and water on Edward St. and Prince Charles Dr. of $12,009.42.

Appointment was made of G. R. Muckart to the Cemetery Board to fill the unexpired term of the late D. P. Crichton. Clarence Bain addressed council in regard to his claim against the town for $900 damage to stock in his basement last spring from a water break in front of his property. The matter had been reviewed by the town's liability insurance agents, and a letter read from them denied the town had any liability due to the fact that they had no way of knowing that the water pipes had become corroded. Some members of council felt Mr. Bain was entitled to consideration when the break was on town property, and it was agreed to write the insurance company bringing to their attention that the break was on town property.

Elmer the Safety Elephant makes his official debut in Georgetown tomorrow when 6 foot pennants will be hoisted on the flagpoles of the two public schools.

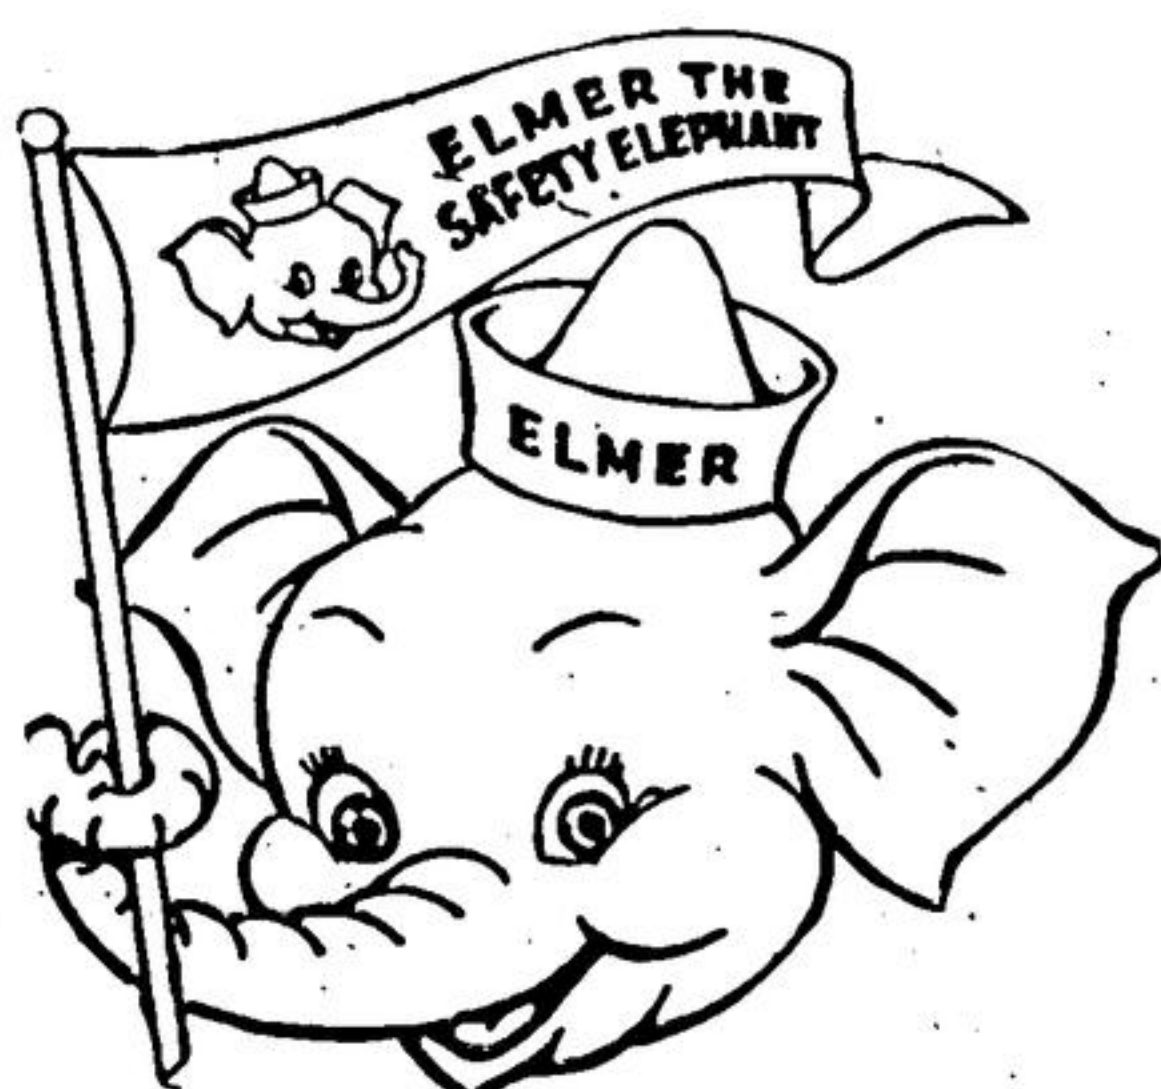

The safety campaign which is credited with a 44% drop in accidents among Toronto schoolchildren in its first year in the city, is being sponsored here by the Home & School Association.

Present for the ceremonies Thursday will be Constable Hooks of Oakville, who has contributed his help to establishing Elmer in Georgetown, Mayor Jack Armstrong, Home & School president Mrs. Joe Emmerson, Edwin Wilson and Stan Finlay representing the school board, the principals Harold Henry and William Kinrade, Col. Beckett of the OPP detachment and Graham Farnell, who has been instrumental in promoting the Elmer campaign.

The pennants will fly at the schools as long as there are no accidents for which a child can be deemed responsible. If such occurs, the pennant must come down for a 30-day period. Small pennants are also being placed in each room at the schools, and if Georgetown children take to the idea as children have in other centres, Elmer will become a real personality in town.

Paramount in the campaign are five safety rules which children will be required to learn: Look both ways before crossing the road; don't go from between parked cars; play games in a safe place, away from traffic; use bicycles safely; and walk, don't run, when you leave the curb.
