Norval Juniors Elect New Officers for 1955

The Norval Junior Farmers met at the home of Mary-Lou, Jean and Jessie Alexander on February 9th, when the election of officers took place.

Mrs. Max Featherston, president of the District Women's Institute conducted the election for girls, and the new officers are: president, Jean Wrigglesworth; vice president, Jean McLaughlin; secretary-treasurer, Mildred Johnson. The boys' election was conducted by Art Bennett, assistant manager for Halton and Peel. Those elected were: president, Herb Wilson; vice president, Frank Wilson; secretary, James Cunningham and treasurer, Don Smith.

George Elliott, O.C. of Milton, addressed the joint meeting. The subject of his talk was "Security," with each of the letters making up this word standing for something required to give the feeling of security so necessary to every person today.

LEGION NOTES

ROUND THE ROOMS

We notice that the Provincial Command has started earlier this year on publicizing their Public Speaking Contests, and are trying to have it over by March at the latest so that finals may be carried on for a grand prize. This year of a trip to the city where the biennial convention is being held, Windsor. The Branch has another reminder about their special car insurance. For $3 a year you can insure yourself or any member of your family for $1500 death or $500 injured. Seems like a pretty fair offer. We think last Saturday afternoon hit a peak in the number of people we have accommodated at the branch. At least to us, there seemed to be the biggest crowd yet.

The Auxiliary held their regular monthly meeting last Thursday night, in order that they might cater for a banquet on their regular meeting night, which falls on the third Thursday. We hope to have the winners of the part tournament in another part of the paper. This has certainly created a lot of interest around the Branch and the competition is really good. They have been working hard each Saturday morning, and hope to put on a real show for the Branch and those in charge deserve a great deal of credit. The piano upstairs had a thorough overhauling and not before time, and is now "as good as new." Yes, that's what the man says. With the advent of the last month of darkest winter, thoughts turn to the warm months ahead and the sports that go with them. Maybe the powers that be could revive during the term lower by their football team this year and get the local league going again. We realize, of course, that Stapleton, Patterson, McMenemy, Nash, etc., are getting a little old for the game but surely those poor old legs and sagging paunches would stand one more season. Not to mention, of course, the others, such as Rene Martin, Nick Brown, Gold King, et al. Joke of the week—Scotty's main ambition in life is to get the chance to write this column some week when the writers' away.

That will be the day, my boy. Let's see a lot of our 400 plus men here present at the 102 bowlers in 10 in the 25th so we'll meet Friday. It means more not only the fact who are playing, but every one of our 400 plus men. The men of the Legion bowlers committee for the time they spend on this very serious but fun game. Soon come the bowling and dart tournament.

This year with Branch 120 playing host for both. These should be real hot affairs so how about everyone getting behind them. The sports chairman met with the executive to talk over the coming sports season this year, and we find the Legion already committed for cribbage, darts, golf, football, basketball, etc. in the coming year. Let's hope all the teams do as well as they did last year and maybe the golfers will pull up their socks and win this year too. There's a big project I star night in Hampton for the whole zone at a later date. We think in April. When we know the exact date we'll put it in the column. Glad to hear Earl Wilcox in Hampton San is participating, nice. All the boys send their regards. Jim Saturday was the day and the Legion the setting for one of the Legion bowling teams banquet. It took the form of a turkey dinner with the boys doing the work all themselves. We tried to find out who was the chief cook and the general opinion of the boys was that it was none other than Earl Wilcox. They said he looked real cute in a pink apron waiting on the tables. Just goes to show, he'll make some lucky girl a good cook (among other things). We tried to shame them into letting the press attend, but no luck, however they did finally break down and invite the president. Anyway, as Gob said, "no turkey, no sweaters, as far as we are concerned." What we can't figure out is, while we are inclined to be broad minded, just how could a dinner (starting at 1:30) last as long as that one did. We knew that the affair was still going at 6:30, but when one of the bowler's wives phoned at 9:00 to see if it was still going, we almost didn't have the nerve to tell a white lie for the culprit. Understand the lost turned up at shortly before midnight, though.

And don't forget, please the big monthly meeting next Thursday pm with a really good film afterwards, as well as a new gastronomic delicacy, called the hamburger, made up of lots of good roast beef, all for free! See you there!

Thorold, Town Masons Papermakers' Night

Last Wednesday evening was the regular meeting of Credit Lodge No. 218, AF&AM and featured a special evening looked after entirely by members who are employed in the paper industry. Taking part in this Paper Makers' Night, as well as local men, were over twenty brethren who had travelled from Thorold to take part in the evening. The occasion was the conferring of a degree on one of their associates in the industry. A large number were on hand for the occasion.

At the conclusion of the evening a hot roast beef supper was served, also by courtesy of the papermakers.
