Junior Farmers Hear World Traveller Boynton

The fifth annual banquet of the Halton Junior Farmers held in the Trafalgar Memorial Hall on Friday was well up to the standard of former years. Approximately 130 Juniors were in attendance for the delicious banquet catered by the Bethel W.A. and the programme presided over by toastmaster Don Matthews.

This was Don's concluding function as president of Halton Juniors. Under his leadership, Halton Juniors have enjoyed a year filled with activity and achievement. The annual banquet, therefore, was a fitting climax to an outstanding year. It is unfortunate that circumstances are such that the parents could not be present to see their young people in action — they would have been proud of them, and well they might be.

Harold Brain, accompanied by Ruth Wilson, started the evening off with his vocal selection "The Lord's Prayer". Then just to prove that Halton has many young people who are excellent leaders in community singing, Barbara Cunningham assisted by Ruth Wilson at the piano, led in an enjoyable sing-song. The introduction of the head table was handled by Joan Wrigglesworth, with Earl Wilson doing an equally good job in extending thanks to the ladies of Bethel W.A. Then came the toast to the "Junior Institute," and the "Junior Farmers," ably handled by Roy Ford, Wilkie Sinclair, Jean Peterson, and Mac Sprawl.

Boynton Guest Speaker
In introducing the guest speaker, Halton's new Junior Farmer president, John W. Pickett, referred to Carl Boynton as the most travelled of any president of the Junior Farmers to date.

Mr. Boynton, who attended the World Youth Conference held in Singapore in 1954, represented the Junior Farmers of Ontario. He was the only Canadian among the 350 delegates who were present from 47 countries, for the three weeks' conference. As we listened to Mr. Boynton's splendid illustrated address, we had two reactions — first, that Canada was fortunate in having as their representative, a young man of Carl Boynton's calibre; secondly, as Carl showed his slides of points visited in Holland, Italy, Egypt, the Sudan, Iran, India, Singapore, Malaya, Palestine, Switzerland, France, Belgium and Denmark — we thought "how small the world has grown." That the audience was in agreement with the sentiments of Helen Vivian, who conveyed the thanks of the gathering to Mr. Boynton, was manifest by the applause which followed the conclusion of her remarks.

The final item of the program at the banquet table, was the presentation of the past-president pin to Don Matthews; and the public speaking and debating awards to Mary Pope, Jean Peterson, Barbara Cunningham, Joan Patterson, Joan Wrigglesworth, and John W. Pickett. These presentations were handled by Mr. George E. Elliott in his usual inimitable style, which makes him a real favourite among Halton Juniors. When we left the hall, the young people were whooping it up to music by the Rhythm Hamblers.

And so concludes another outstanding function in the long list of achievements in the Halton Juniors' crown for 1954-55.
