

Three Local Teams in Little NHL Dixie Finals

Three Georgetown teams of players from the Little NHL, will be competing at Dixie this Saturday in the district finals.
The teams won the right to go on to further competition in a tournament here last month. Ontario champions will be declared Saturday, and fans are hoping that at least one of the local teams will win the honour.
The hockey committee, which has worked hard all season arranging the Saturday morning games for the young lads, has a special word of thanks to coaches, managers, referees and timekeepers, as well as to the Board of Parks Management who all cooperated to make a successful season.

Next Monday, the hockey banquet for players in the league as well as all those who helped, is scheduled for the Legion auditorium.

CHURCH GUILD PLANS BAKED GOODS SALE

At the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Church of England, arrangements were made to hold a sale of baked goods in the parish hall this coming Saturday.

The ladies congratulated the men of the congregation on the excellent job they made of the Sunday School room. Growth of the congregation was reported to such an extent that if all church members attend regularly every Sunday the Church accommodation would be taxed to capacity.

Ministered in Georgetown Half a Century Ago

A minister here half a century ago at Georgetown and Norval, Rev. Canon Thomas George Wallace, 78, died last Wednesday at his home, 769 Hellmuth Avenue, London.

Canon Wallace was rector of St. George's Anglican Church from 1901 to 1904, and during his ministry the parish was extended when St. Alban's Church was built in Glen Williams.

Before coming to Georgetown, he had served in the church at Norval. He was a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, and a forceful preacher who used his Irish wit and eloquence to good advantage in the pulpit.

Canon Wallace went from here to Oakville, then to St. Paul's, Woodstock, St. Stephen's, Toronto and St. James, London, where he had served for twenty years until his retirement some years ago. A few years ago he published a book which he had written during his years of retirement.

His wife, Henrietta Hutton died several years ago. He leaves four daughters, Mrs. A. M. Reid (Kathleen) of Montreal, Mrs. A. J. Nopper (Ruth), Mrs. Frank White (Crisno) and Miss Norah Wallace, London.

Canon Wallace last was in Georgetown in the fall of 1954 when he was one of several former rectors who preached during the church's centennial year.

Crop Officers Plan Projects For 1955

At a recent meeting of the executive of the Halton Soil and Crop Improvement Association tentative plans were made to lay down comprehensive tests and demonstrations during the spring and summer.

As hay and pasture constitute the most valuable crops produced in the general farming area of Halton, the question of getting satisfactory catches of small seeds is a most important factor. With the hope of throwing more light on this controversial subject, a comprehensive test is to be laid down this spring, on the farm of A. T. Woodley, near Milton. On the same farm, replicated tests with eight varieties of oats and a similar number of varieties of barley will also be laid down.

Does Liming Pay?

Again with the hope of getting more data, on the question of liming, it is planned to lay down at least one test in each Township of the County. Sites will be selected on the basis of soil test and applications will be made at both two and four-ton rates.

As a medium of securing more definite data on varieties; the question of the amount of commercial fertilizer which can be economically applied; cultural practices, etc.; the Halton Association is planning to sponsor a 90 bushel Grain Corn Competition. On the more loamy soils, particularly in the Lowville-Kilbride and Georgetown areas, considerable of this crop is already being grown. The competition will be open to all Halton growers and will call for a minimum area of, at least, three acres. Those interested should contact directors R. A. Hurren or Brock Harris, or the agricultural office, in Milton.

Rodney Oats

In order to test out the new variety, Rodney, the Halton association, states president E. Ross Segsworth, will sponsor a 4-II Grain Club. Each of twenty club members will be supplied with one bushel of this variety which is in very short supply. The Rodney is some four or five days later than Beaver, but in 1954 was the second highest yielding variety tested at 24 different points in Ontario. The top variety was Garry, another new variety, which is not available for distribution this year.

Wild Carrot Control

Notwithstanding the fact that demonstrations laid down in 1954 on the third line of Esquevas proved to be a failure, the association is planning to continue its war against wild carrot. Applications of 2-4D have given excellent results on most other roadside weeds, but in the opinion of most Halton folk it has not been too effective in killing wild carrot on Halton roadsides.

Winter Wheat Fertilizer

It is generally agreed that commercial fertilizer has been largely responsible in eliminating the hazard of winter killing. In order to get some ideas of the point where additional quantities of commercial fertilizers fail to give economic returns, the Association is planning to lay down acre blocks on the farm of W. E. Breckon; using applications ranging from 160 lbs. to 400 lbs. per acre of 4-24-12.

The programme of the association also includes tests with commercial fertilizer on potatoes; a regional variety test with soybeans, two demonstrations with long term pasture mixtures; and a one day bus trip.
