Appreciates Clean-Up At Glen Cemetery

April 23rd, 1955

Dear Mr. Editor: As a stranger paying a visit to Glen-Williams Cemetery recently, I was much impressed by the neatness and beauty of the surroundings. The cemetery looked much different that it did on a previous visit. I understand a group of public spirited citizens were responsible for this "new look" and I should like them to know that I, for one, am grateful for their thoughtful care. A cemetery should always be a place of beauty and too often it is neglected, not through anyone's fault, but just from the lack of a few people getting together to do what these men did. My thanks again, and I know many others will join me in the thoughts of this letter.

—Old Timer.

NORVAL

Norm Fendley Buys Norval General Store

New proprietors of a grocery store in Norval are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fendley, who bought the business a few weeks ago from Robert Crawford. It is a return to Norval for Mr. Fendley, whose father Frank operates a greenhouse across the road from the store. He intends to continue his work at the A. V. Roe plant at Malton, working in the store after hours while his wife conducts the business in the daytime.

The store was built several years ago by Walter Fidler and has had a number of owners since that time. Mr. Crawford, who also works at Avro has owned it for two years.

Mr. Fendley, his wife who is the former Phoebe Hunter of Georgetown and their children Ronnie and Paul have moved into the apartment which is contained in the store building. Mr. Crawford has taken ownership of their former house in Georgetown and will rent it. He and his family have moved to another location in Norval and are in the old McPherson house on the highway, vacant since Miss Florence McPherson died two years ago.
