LEGION NOTES

Once again the time for our annual picnic draws close, and this year will be held once again in Stanley Park, Erin, on Sunday, July 10th.

The sports committee have lined up a great array of races for one and for all, and it is hoped that all the members and their families will be on hand to take part. Prizes for one and for all, and good ones, too! The sports chairman have also lined up a real good ball game for the afternoon, and this alone should be worth going for.

There will be lots of free tickets for the kiddies, and the usual group of parties will be on hand for riding. This year tickets have been obtained to hand out to the members and families as they arrive, so that the party will know "who's who". A basket lunch will be supplied by members themselves, with the branch supplying milk and ice cream.

So remember the date, everyone, Sunday, July 10th in Stanley Park, Erin. Don't fail to be on hand for this.

The new system of air conditioning seems to be working well. We saw it in action for the first time last Friday night in the auditorium, with a really terrific crowd on hand, and it kept the place quite nice, and a good many people commented on the cool pleasant atmosphere. We believe, of course, that the most noticeable feature of it is the smoke removal, which is 90 per cent of the battle. However, the engineering company guaranteed a 10 degree cooler room than outside temperature, and it certainly was all of that up there, in fact we would hazard a guess that it was considerably more.

There's a noticeable improvement in the air in the beverage room downstairs, too. With the cooler going, it keeps the room always pleasant, (in fact sometimes a little cool). And in this respect, too, the smoke removal is a godsend, especially for the non-smokers around the place. We have as yet heard no serious complaints in any respect about the system.

We understand our ball team, yes, didn't you know, we have a ball team this year, is entered in the zone playoffs. Understand Scotty, who is the playing manager, expects to win the tournament, providing of course, that his older players, don't pass away before the games are called. And after seeing him drag himself and equipment in the other night after a game in Brampton, better take care of yourself, huh! Those forty-odd years seemed to be all creaking at once, that night.

The past year seems to have been a great one for sport around the club-rooms, with Branch 120 playing host this spring to both dart and cribbage tournaments. Also we have horseshoe enthusiasts, and the last entry was in a bridge tournament in Guelph last Saturday. Darts, of course, is the big favourite with the three boards going all the time.

Last Sunday saw quite a goodly number from Georgetown attending the annual zone church parade in Milton. There was thought to be particularly good representation from Georgetown Legion, in view of the decoration day services in Glen Williams and in Georgetown.

The parade formed at the Legion Hall, Milton, and had three bands in it. Guelph Sea Cadets, the Lorne Scots Pipe Band, Brampton and also the Milton Boys and Girls Band. The parade was headed by zone commander Hugh Lamb, deputy zone commander Les Clark, reeve Carl Martin of Milton and Stan Hall, M.P.P. The service was held at the cenotaph in the park across from the court house, with Rev. Crawford Smith, M.C. of First Presbyterian Church taking the service. Mr. Smith gave a very inspiring sermon. Remarks were made by Reeve Dr. Martin, and hymns were sung accompanied by the band. A wreath was placed on the cenotaph by a lady member, Mrs. T. Grieve.

On the way back, the zone commander took the salute from a saluting base in front of the Presbyterian Church.

A short zone meeting was held afterwards, and this will be the last one until fall.

Approve Subdivision On Meadowglen Property

A new subdivision in Esqueping Township will add five houses between Georgetown and Glen Williams on part of the Meadowglen Growers acreage.

At last week's township council meeting, a by-law restricted use of the land to residential purposes, and will allow only single family dwellings to be built on the five lots.

The new subdivision will take most of the Meadowglen property which is outside Georgetown limits.

The township is floating a $25,000 debenture issue to pay for the new school at Milton Heights, and tenders have been asked for purchase of the debentures.

Owners of poultry killed by dogs will be compensated by the township from now on. A by-law providing for this was passed at the meeting.

ADULTS are a cheap, effective way to advertise something you want to sell. Every week, Herald customers tell us of good results obtained by a 50c expenditure. It's the market place. Try one today.
