Explodes a Popular Theory

A popular theory that juvenile delinquents come mostly from orphaned children who must spend their formative years in institutions, does not hold water after you talk to Onnig Verteressian.

This gentleman was quite emphatic on the subject when we talked with him in the Herald office last week.

You see Mr. Verteressian is a former Georgetown resident who will be remembered perhaps not by name, but by association, as one of the hundred or so Armenian boys brought from their war ravaged land after the first war to breathe some of the pure Canadian air and to be made into good Canadian citizens.

"I often meet classmates from the school," he says, "and I've yet to hear of one who has turned out bad. Many are successful businessmen, and all that I know about are happily employed and raising healthy and happy youngsters."

Onnig, who describes himself as the "short, dark one who sang" is certainly full of energy and knows where he is going. The purpose of his call was to place an advertisement for a rug cleaning and repairing business which he has established in Oakville. He has trained for the job with Babayans and other top people in the business, and if hard work and ability is a criterion of success he will get somewhere.

He says he always has fond memories of Georgetown where the people went out of their way to welcome a group of youngsters from another land who had had little of the good things of life. He remembers one lady who gave piano lessons to some of the boys, others who entertained them in various ways.

As for juvenile delinquency the Armenian school didn't breed it, because the boys worked for what they got and appreciated things the more for not having everything on a silver tray.

Following the Same Path

It is unusual that close to the site of the old Armenian school are two somewhat similar establishments.

Cedarvale School for Girls, a project of the United Church has been carrying on for many years, giving girls from many parts of the province a fine training which might have been denied them otherwise. Mrs. Houston and the school staff share in this work which couples a full public school education with domestic training plus such extracurricular activities as CGIT and skating.

Down the road, and right across from the former Armenian school is Notre Dame de Beauregard, a Roman Catholic farm where Miss Therese St. Jean carries on an almost unbelievable labour of love with French Canadian orphans.

Sunday we stopped in at the farm to buy some apples and had a talk with Miss St. Jean while admiring the handsome new building where, at long last, she has a proper school classroom and suitable accommodation for the twenty boys at present at the farm.

Miss St. Jean is proud of her boys. Every now and then she is away at a wedding when one of them marries and usually part of the honeymoon trip is a visit at Notre Dame by the young couple. Her graduates too have been successful, in a variety of jobs ranging from farming to carpentry, painting and work with the railway.

Here too, there are no juvenile delinquents turned out. In a quiet way, places like Cedarvale and Notre Dame carry on a notable work, and the fruits of such labor will have far-reaching effects on Canada's future.

Proud of Our Band

Georgetown is once again proud of the Lorne Scots Band for their fine showing at the Ex last week. A pride which is shared with such neighbouring centres as Acton, Milton, Brampton and Streetsville, for the Lorne Scots personnel is composed of almost equal parts from five towns, though Georgetown as headquarters has the inner edge.

There is no town of similar size in Canada which can boast such a fine musical aggregation. And the lion's share of the credit must be given to Alf Perrott, a truly fine musician whose work far transcends the monetary remuneration he gets from the hours spent training his musicians.

Five first prizes in six years certainly shows that the Lorne Scots are no flash in the pan. They are a highly skilled, top trained musical society which acquits itself with pride wherever called upon to play.

It makes one proud to say "I'm from Georgetown."

Pot Pourri

The H. H. (Hank) Ruggs who moved to Montreal several months ago when he left his engineering post with Smith and Stone to work for another company, have a change of address. They have moved from Strathmore, a Montreal suburb, to Valois, where they now live at 16 Lakebreeze Ave. . . . Later this fall, residents in the Sunbeam Heights district will all have telephones available. Cable has been laid, but until the necessary extra equipment is installed in the dial system, there can be no large scale installations. A few people on Byron Street who had applications early enough to give them priority have had phones installed in the past few weeks. . . . The phone shortage has led to confusions which didn't exist a few years ago. Then, when a phone service was discontinued, the number was shelved until a new phone book was issued. Now, as soon as one phone is disconnected, the number is immediately allocated to someone on the waiting list who must put up with the inconvenience of answering calls for the former holder of the number. . . . Always seems like the end of the summer when the Ex begins and then the youngsters return to school. It won't be many weeks now until October 1st and fall fair day. Newer residents, particularly, are advised to circle this date on their calendar and plan to attend a feature unique in small towns. . . . Never have we seen so many civic improvements going on all at one time. The community swimming pool is in course of construction; the municipal office is due for enlarging; hydro commission is asking tenders for a new building which will be located beside the post office; the post office lobby is being given a "new look" with a long overdue addition to the rental boxes; the downtown Presbyterian Church has almost completed a new church hall; Halton Co-Op building is putting on an addition, while across the highway the burned out Bowers Garage building is being rebuilt into a new location for Georgetown Electric Welding; Wrigglesworth School has a 2-room addition underway. And so it goes! Wherever you look, growth manifests itself in additions. . . .

Chappel's Two Homers Tie Fastball Series

Cotton's fought their way back from almost certain elimination, beating Brampton 10-8 in a free hitting contest to tie their best 3 out of 5 series, two all after losing their first two games. The fifth and deciding game of the series is being played in Brampton on Thursday night.

Cotton's started the game by scoring one run in the first innings but their lead was short lived as Brampton came back to score four in their half of the first. They added two more in the second giving them a commanding 6-1 lead.

Chappel was the hero for Georgetown with 3 hits, driving in 4 runs.

life making the score 6-2. Cotton's opened the fifth with two successive hits by King and Roughley. Frank was safe on an error and King scored. With two on, Harvey Chappel blasted his second home run of the night and the ball game was all tied up 6-6. Both teams went down in order in the 6th and 7th. In the eighth, Cotton's took the lead for the 1st time in the game scoring three runs on one walk, two errors and a single by Chappel and a double by Inglis.

With a 9-6 lead Cotton's seemed to have the game wrapped up but Brampton were not to be denied, scoring 2 runs in their half of the eighth, also leaving two runners stranded. Cotton's scored one in the ninth to end the scoring while the Brampton team went down in order.

Frank and Patterson had two hits a piece. For Brampton Gibson led their attack with 4 hits. Patton and Foster had 3 apiece.

Line	Score	H.	R.	E.
Brampton	15	8	1
Cotton's	11	10	5

Batteries — Brampton, Foster, Glover (5th) and Williams.
 Cotton's — Patterson and Chappel.

ORANGEMEN, TRUE BLUES PARADE TO ST. GEORGE'S

Members of LOL 245 and ladies of the True Blue Lodge will parade to St. George's Anglican Church this Sunday evening, to attend the 7 p.m. service of matins which will be conducted by Rev. Kenneth Richardson. The opening fall meeting of LOL 245 will be held Tuesday in the Odd Fellows Hall.

RETURN FROM MOTOR TRIP IN THE WEST

Miss Lydia Snow and Mrs. J. Snow returned Friday from a motor trip as far west as Calgary. They report a most enjoyable trip, the weather being very favourable. On their way out they called on Jim Kirkwood at his mission field at Stone, Sask.

Shirley Kirkwood, Marie Mitchell and Willamina Brascoaten will attend high school in Acton this year. Bonnie Cotton will go to Erin.

We extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shortill, a bride and groom of last Saturday whose wedding took place at Clifford.

Brock Robinson will leave next week for Belleville where he has been accepted at Albert College.

Miss Jill Miller of Walkerton has been engaged to teach at Peacock School.

Miss Janice Baker will begin her first term at University College, Toronto this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lawr and family spent the week-end at Victoria Harbour.

Mr. Sandy McKay enjoyed a trip to Parry Sound last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Robinson and Brock visited Sunday with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald and family of Gengarry are visiting at the home of Mrs. McDonald's sister, Mrs. Elwood Snow.

The YPS met Sunday evening at the manse. The topic was a film shown on the subject of Race Prejudice followed by an interesting discussion. The worship service was led by Elizabeth Gibson after which games and contests were enjoyed. Mrs. Townsend served a delicious lunch to close the meeting.

The annual Legion Decoration Day parade and service in Greenwood Cemetery will be held this Sunday at 2:30 p.m. The parade forms at the Legion Hall, Mill Street at 2 p.m. All are invited to take part.
