Meet your friends at Georgetown Fair. A popular slogan for a popular yearly event — October 1st.

Standards of pink and white gladioli decorated the chancel with white asters on the altar of St. Stephen's Anglican Church, Hornby, on Saturday, September 11th for the marriage of Verna Merle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Price, Milton, and Herbert Cecil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wilson, Georgetown. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. E. Maxwell, Norval, rector of the church. Mrs. Kenneth Foster, Milton was organist. Mrs. F. J. Shortill of Limehouse was soloist, singing The Voice that breathed o'er Eden, before the service and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white slipper satin under net and chantly lace. Her tiara headress with pearls held a fingertip veil. The bride carried a heart-shaped nosegay of red roses and white mums.

Mrs. George Bryan, Laurel was her sister's matron of honour, wearing a gown of yellow lace and net over taffeta with matching halo of net and flowers.

Mrs. Leonard Raynsford, Hamilton, friend of the bride and Miss Audrey Collier of Waterloo, cousin of the groom were bridesmaids gowned alike in mauve tiered net over taffeta with matching headresses. Matron of honour carried nosegay of mauve mums while the bridesmaids nosegays were of yellow mums.

The groomsmen were Clayton Dick, Jr. of Georgetown. The ushers were Earl Price, Milton, brother of the bride and William Wilson, brother of the groom.

The reception following was held in St. Stephen's Parish Hall. The bride's mother received wearing Alice blue taffeta with twilight pink accessories and corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother assisted, wearing royal blue patterned taffeta with coral accessories and corsage of coral carnations.

For a motor trip, the bride travelled in a mauve suit with black and winter white accessories and corsage of white carnations. They will reside on the groom's farm, Georgetown.

Guests were present from Hamilton, Toronto, Weston, Georgetown, Waterloo, Preston, Painswick and other local points.

Why I am Proud To Be a Canadian

by Mrs. R. R. Corbett
as told to Silverwood W.I.

We all like beauty, and while I haven't been too far afield I doubt very much if there is a place on earth that can beat Canada for beauty. In these days of cars, we can see plenty of it. In fact I can see a lot of it right from my windows. But in one day we can see Niagara Falls, which is one of the wonders of the world, and two or three of the Great Lakes, which are part of the St. Lawrence Valley, and are rightly named the "Great" Lakes. Then of course that great river, the St. Lawrence is fairly close. If we care to go farther and still stay in our own province, we can see some of the biggest mines in the world, and the largest paper mills. And of course the Canadian Rocky Mountains do not even have to take second place to the Alps. And our prairies have been our bread basket for many years, although some of us remember quite well when that part of the country was being settled.

I am proud of my Scandinavian ancestry, but my father came to Canada as a young man and was one of the pioneers. I like to think that I even shared in some of the pioneer work of this country, as we lived in the interior of British Columbia, cleared the land, lived in a log house, and our two oldest children were born there. My brother was a homesteader in Alberta.

We can be proud of the way our country is governed. We have usually been quite fortunate in our leaders, and our government has given us sane government. While we like to grouse about them, if they are the wrong party, that is one of the privileges we have in this country. One of the newest things we can be proud of is the way the Salk treatment has been handled, and its apparent success.

One thing that so many of our young Canadians do not seem to appreciate, is the education available. It seems too bad that there are not more taking advantage of even our high school education. Many of our New Canadians, do appreciate, and are availing themselves of that advantage.

Canada has made a name for herself in the last two wars that is much to our credit, and we are continuing to help lead in world affairs. We have enviable trade relations with other countries, and our industries are increasing every year.

Some of our scientists are among the top scientists of the world; perhaps the one most familiar to us is Dr. Hanting and his co-worker, Dr. Hest who lives so near us. There are many others who have done important work also. Our culture has been slower in developing, as we are quite willing to listen to American and English artists, but our theatre is growing by leaps and bounds, and we have been considered by our American neighbours, music lovers.

It is nice to think that our Women's Institute organization has been a part in the development of Canada, we are proud that it had its beginning in our province, and that it has spread throughout the whole world. We should, as individuals as well as part of an organization, continue to improve our country, for we are ALL proud to be Canadians.
